

German Syrup

We have selected two or three lines from letters freshly received from patients who have given German Syrup to their children in the emergencies of Croup. You will credit these, because they come from good, substantial people, happy in finding what so many families lack—a medicine containing no evil drug, which mother can administer with confidence to the little ones in their most critical hours, safe and sure that it will carry them through.

FACTS ABOUT THE TEA WE DRINK.

But few people know that there is such a thing as unadulterated tea in existence, and fewer know how to get it. It is not offered for sale and you know nothing of it. That is surprised and that is necessary to prevent you from being deceived. The public only knows one general class, viz, the green and the black tea.

Green Tea.

Few people know that the bright bluish-green color of the ordinary tea expressed in the windows is not the natural color. Unpleasant as the fact may be, it is nevertheless a fact: Russian blue, silica, gypsum, plumbago, and other unwholesome mineral salts being used for this purpose. The effect is twofold. It not only makes the tea bright, shiny, attractive green, but also permits the use of "off color" and worthless teas, which, once under the green cloak, are readily worked off as a good quality of tea. Theobalbin coloring practice even admits of the use of foreign substances, and the English government, which looks close into the genuineness of its staples the case, has in some of the alleged "best" of tea found red lead, straw, fragments of muslin, rice-husk, and willow leaves. In fact, it is openly stated by an English authority that hundreds of thousands of pounds of rice, ash, and willow leaves are annually imported as tea, which without the coloring process would be impossible. They report these as one of the most notoriously adulterated articles of commerce. The temptation to make sweepings and bad tea into a merchantable product with a few cents' worth of green coloring matter is too strong to withstand, and the worthlessness of the trash that often finds its way to this market labeled "New Crop," "Best Quality," "Green Tea," etc., would simply astound the public if revealed, to say nothing of the unhealthfulness of the Russian blue, plumbago, gypsum, and the other mineral colors that are employed.

Black Tea.

The basket and panned Japan teas, as well as the China teas that may be included under the general heading of "black tea," get their color from the firing or roasting process, but mineral coloring matter is also frequently used to give a certain desired commercial appearance. The firing and the coloring, as in the green tea, largely conceal the identity of the tea, and permits the use of the very cheapest tea, to argue nothing for the deteriorating effect of excessive firing, which must be resorted to when a very cheap product is used and an extreme color desired.

Beech's Tea (Sun-dried).

Concerning sun-dried tea the people of the Pacific Coast have heard but little and know less, although it is extensively used where it is known and understood. We are told that when tea is so poor it cannot be sold at home or safely shipped to the English markets, it is shipped to America; that we will drink anything that may possibly be one of the reasons why we have not been offered sun-dried tea. They were good enough to send elsewhere. The sun-dried tea being sun-dried, no coloring matter is used, hence nothing but pure tea leaves can be employed; for unadulterated tea is not adulterated or the introduction of foreign matter or material would be held and starting. That it is, therefore, sweeter and less more fragrant than the artificially colored green tea, and the manipulated basket or panned tea, you hardly need be told. That it is more healthful than the mineral-colored tea, is also apparent. That it is more expensive, is also true; and that is another reason you have never seen it. There is not so much profit in it as there is in the cheap adulterated and colored tea.

About the Cost of Teas.

According to the custom-house reports, the amount of tea received at San Francisco last year (1890) was $2,400,000 pounds, and the value $54,250, or a fraction over 10c per pound. The consumer, of which the reader was one, paid for that tea all the way from 50c to 75c per pound. In other words, for that $54,250 worth of tea the consumer paid between four and five millions of dollars. There are your enormous profits, and there you will probably find the chief reason why most of you never heard of sun-dried tea. As the sun-dried tea has no mark, they are compelled to be absolutely pure and of lower quality than the artificially colored and manipulated tea. Hence the margins on them are smaller, and many dealers do not care about handling them, and you know nothing about them. But it is the object of this article to tell you where you can get them, and what to ask for, and all about them.

"Beech's Tea," guaranteed to be the pure sun-dried tea, is now offered to the people of the Pacific Coast. It will be a revelation to you. You doubtless never saw any natural leaf. Have your grocer break open a package. It will be found in color to be just between the artificially colored green and the black tea, and the drawn tea presents a clear, brilliant canary color, of delightful fragrance. It is offered to the people at 60c per pound, the same price that many artificially colored teas are sold for. But its guaranteed purity makes it more economical to use; for a less quantity, say about twenty grains, is required per cup. As there are 7,500 grains to a pound, there will be seen to be between three and four hundred cups to the pound, or at the rate of about one fifth of a cent per cup. Its economy is therefore manifest. It is put up in one-pound packages only, in patent airtight and moisture-proof parchment, with the trade-mark that is found at the bottom of this article plainly printed on the package. It is sold in this form for two reasons; one, that the original strength and aroma is preserved; and second, there can be no deception, which would be quite possible if it were sold in bulk, without the name and trade-mark attached.

Caution.

Recollect that the margin of profit is so much smaller on Beech's pure sun-dried tea than on the artificially colored tea that you won't get it if tea by any other name can be put off on you. Ask for

"Pure As Childhood"

If your grocer does not have it, he will get it for you. Price 60c per pound. The above trade-mark and price is plainly printed on each package.

Perhaps the best way to get it is to go where you know they have it and are willing to sell it. For instance, it can be had without difficulty at

THE VOICE. Is easily injured—the slightest irritation of the throat or larynx at once affecting its tone, flexibility, or power. All efforts to sing or speak in public, under such conditions, become not only painful but dangerous, and should be strictly avoided until every symptom is removed. To effect a speedy cure no other medicine is equal to

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral

The best of all remedies, this preparation rapidly soothes irritation, strengthens the delicate organs of speech, and restores the voice to its tone and power. No singer or public speaker should be without it. Lydia Thompson, the famous actress, certifies: "Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been of very great service to me. It improves and strengthens the voice, and is always effective for the cure of colds and coughs."

"Upon several occasions I have suffered from colds, causing hoarseness and entire loss of voice. In my profession of an actor, however, any affection of the voice or throat is a serious matter, but at each attack, I have been relieved by a few doses of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. This remedy, with ordinary care, has worked such a that I have suffered very little inconvenience. I have also used it in my family, with excellent results, in coughs, colds, &c. Wm. B. Quarry, Minlaton, Australia.

"In the spring of 1885, at Portsmouth, Va., I was prostrated by a severe attack of typhoid pneumonia. My physicians exhausted their remedies, and for one year I was not able to even articulate a word. By the advice of Dr. Shaw I tried Ayer's Cherry Pectoral, and to my surprise and great joy, in less than one month I could converse easily, in a natural tone of voice. I continued to improve and have become since a well man. I have often recommended the Pectoral, and have never known it to fail."—George H. Lawrence, Valparaiso, Ind.
