

THE INDEPENDENT VOTERS.

Democrats should not forget that while the party has been kept together through adhesion to the just and liberal principles that appeal directly to the hearts of the people...

The support of these independent voters is necessary to future democratic success. It will not do to reckon without them.

There are independent voters enough in Ohio to sweep the state into the democratic ranks at the next presidential election...

Col A K McClure, editor of the Philadelphia Times, and one of the ablest politicians in the country...

"Will there be a clean cut issue on the tariff question the next campaign?" "Yes."

"How about the silver question?" "Well, that grew out of the tariff question, but it has been subordinated already..."

"Whom do you think the democrats will most probably nominate for president?" "Cleveland."

"Can he be elected?" "He can, and without New York. All the New England states will be for him..."

"Forest vegetation is much richer in North America than in Europe, and comprises 412 species, of which 176 are native to the Atlantic region..."

A speaker at the recent international congress showed by experiments upon school children when three or four sums in arithmetic were given in succession...

Both houses of the Iowa Legislature have adopted a resolution asking congress to submit a constitutional amendment providing for the election of United States Senators by the people.

The republican ticket in Seattle seems to have been snowed under. As we understand the situation, it deserved defeat.

FOR UNITED ACTION.

In instructing their delegates to the democratic national convention, democrats should keep in view the strong probability that in order to insure success...

What is now to be avoided above everything else is antagonism between western democrats who are available as possible nominees...

It is by no means undesirable that the different state conventions should express their preferences. They can clearly always do so with propriety...

If this is done, and if each state delegation is strongly and explicitly instructed in the principles it is required to represent...

If Indiana instructs for Gray, or Illinois for Palmer or Morrison, or Iowa for Boies, it should be with the understanding that the instructions do not so bind the state delegates...

Unless the valley states are divided by intrigue or by blundering, so that they cannot act together when united action is required...

"There are," says La Nature "about 1,500,000 people in the world, with very nearly an equal division of sex. One-fourth dies before the 15th year..."
