THE YOUNG DISABLED.—The river steamer, R. C. Young, finds a "hard road to travel" in the upper Willamette. The river is quite low at present and in many places between here and Eugene the water is shallow and very swift. But she has made a few successful trips between here and Harrisburg and the proprietors are by no means discouraged by their little mishap on Sunday. She was near Peoria, on her way down with a 55-ton cargo when the swift current swung the little craft around with such force as to strike the stump of a tree on the river bank and break every paddle on her wheel. She was tied up for repairs, which can be made without much difficulty, when she will continue to do good service on the upper river.—Times.

ENTERED THE COLUMBIA.—The following extract taken from the report of a select committee to congress, dated May 15, 1823, Mr. Boyless, chairman, is very interesting now, on the eve of the centennial celebration of the discovery of the Columbia. "To this period (1790) the long range of coast, stretching from 14 deg. 23 min. to 47 deg. 5 min. was wholly unknown; it had not even been described. On the 11th day of May, 1792, the Oregon, or Great River of the West, was discovered by Captain Robert Gray, then on his second voyage, and commanding the ship Columbia; he entered the river and gave it the name of his ship."

A BREAK OF NATURE.—My John Gilliland, who has been in the city attending court, tells the Democrat about a pig which is certainly a curiosity. In a litter of pigs this one formed a striking feature. It has one head, neck and breast, and then divides into two pigs; there are eight legs to it, and four ears, but only two eyes and one snout. It is hairless. Mr. Gilliland has preserved it in alcohol, and any one collecting curiosities can secure it of him.

REV. DRIVER last evening delivered his lecture on "Women," in which he gives her an exalted position in the world, showing his appreciation of her talents. When she takes a position she means business, and in her way rules the world. She is a force that is being more and more appreciated. Women can be depended on; it is the men who have traveled their masters.

"The Existence of God and Natural Necessity of a Revelation from Him," will be the topic tonight.

SEAYTON'S ELECTION.—The city election occurred at that city on last Monday, and was a very exciting contest, nearly every vote in the city being polled. The license ticket won by a vote ranging from 14 majority for the mayor down to 5. The total vote was 109. Following was the successful ticket: Uriah Whitcomb, mayor; W. H. Hobson, J. Richardson, J. P. Davis and O. C. Wimer, councilmen; Jerome Grayer, recorder; Taylor Smith, marshal; J. P. Thomas, treasurer.

THE BOOK SOCIAL.—The Y. M. C. A. book social takes place Friday evening, March 18th, at the opera house. A delightful program is being prepared by the best talent in the city for the occasion. A small admission of ten cents will be charged to defray expenses. Our library donated by generous people will be on exhibition. Every body come and see it.

ARTISTIC WORK.—One of the best decorated rooms in Albany may be seen over W. F. Read's. It consists of elegant papering and hand work and was done by Mr. Gene Larimore. It shows him to be an artist in his line of merit. Mr. Fred Blumberg and family will occupy the suite of rooms in a few days.

CONSISTENCY, thou art a Jewel. Matthews & Washburn keep the Jewel and other first-class stoves, and there is no better way to be consistent than by investing in one of them. Matthews & Washburn's motto is to keep the best, and their prices are always reasonable. Large sales speak for the manner in which these facts are appreciated through Linn county.

A METROPOLITAN stock of suitings for the spring and summer, the best in the valley, just received by W. R. Graham, as can easily be learned by an inspection of them. They include late and handsome designs, and will be made up in the latest style by Mr. Graham. Get the best and latest, and this you can do at Graham's.

THE KINDERGARTEN.—Mrs. Tatham's kindergarten will reopen on April 1st at the same place on Seventh street, between Perry and Broadbald. The old rooms have been renovated and made cheerful, but only a few more "kindergartners" can be received inside the old walls. Mrs. Tatham should be notified early. School hours 9 a. m. to 12 m.

THE INGRAHAM MURDER CASE.

This case was called this morning before his Honor Judge Boise. The billiffs went to the jail, when the prisoner at first declined to come into court on account of being sick. But he was prevailed upon to do so, when his counsel, Mr. Weatherford asked to have the case put off until one o'clock on account of such illness. The court ruled that the case should proceed until 12 o'clock, when the accused should be examined by a physician to ascertain if his health would permit proceeding with the trial. The accused was attended by his brother John, and his sister Mrs. Guess. The gravity of the case, so far as the defendant was concerned, was fully depicted in the countenance of the defendant.

The following jurors were accepted up to three o'clock in the afternoon when the regular panel and special venire were exhausted and the clerk was directed to issue another special venire for six jurors: George Mellargue, Frank Crabtree, J. D. Wood, Henry Shank, William Baker, Daniel Hart, G. F. Harold, C. T. Leever, Samuel McElhenny, and Frank Deakins.

The Apollo club will sing at the teachers' institute at Corvallis Friday evening. They are becoming in demand all through the valley. The club is one Albany may well be proud of.

The Woodburn Independent speaks of a man recently sent to the asylum from Albany as follows: R. A. Ross, well known at Silverton, where he used to keep a drug store, has been committed to the asylum. Two weeks ago he had haggrippe and it caused symptoms of brain fever. Thinking he was well, he went to Albany and there became a little erratic. He is now much improved and will be out in a short time, probably next week.

The members of the Ladies Aid society and all other ladies who are interested in the Ophelia Home are willing to help, requested to meet at the W. C. T. U. hall, Friday afternoon, March 18th at 1 p. m. to prepare some mattresses for the children's beds. Come prepared to work.

Mrs. C. C. Kelly, Pres.

A PARODY.—Once upon a Monday dreary she was working weak and weary, down upon her marrow moping, moping up the kitchen floor. While the mop went flapping, flapping, suddenly she heard a tapping, tapping at the kitchen door. "Tis some visitor," she muttered, "tapping at the kitchen door; gracious Peter, what a bore." Up she jumped and nearly swearing hastily began preparing to appear as a woman with when their callers look then over—ranked her apron off and a huge it, grabbed a dolman and flung it over the greasy gown she wore. Then she opened wide the door—and found a man, who remarked that Matthews & Washburn's was the place to buy the best stoves and tinware.

The annual farmers' election was held last Saturday afternoon. There was only one ticket in the field and but very little interest was taken in the voting in fact, we doubt if over half the farmers knew an election was being held. B. R. Job was elected chief engineer and J. M. Porter assistant.—Corvallis Times.
