

Springer is rapidly recovering. Frank Farrell for coroner will bring up his end of the ticket in good shape.

Justice Lamar of the U S supreme court is quite ill with hemorrhage of the lungs.

The Rhode Island election will come off tomorrow. The republican leaders have determined to buy their way to success.

T F Miller is a careful painstaking man in the management of his own affairs and will make a faithful commissioner.

C C Jackson is a clear headed man, of excellent judgment marked by strong personal integrity. He may be depended upon to do all his duties as sheriff conscientiously, faithfully, and well.

W P Elmore is a man of strong practical commonsense, and the interests of the people of Linn county will be in safe hands in the legislature.

E J O'Conner as surveyor may not be monarch of all he surveys, but all the surveying in Linn county will be done accurately and well.

William L Brown senator in the New York legislature offers to bet $25,000 that Cleveland will be elected in case he shall be nominated.

A Blevins has had experience as a legislator which added to his natural fitness makes him a peculiarly fit person to represent Linn county at Salem.

N P Paroe's fitness for the office of county clerk is too well known to require notice here. The people will make no mistake in selecting him for his own successor.

Brice Wallace is in all respects an ideal candidate for treasurer. Honest, careful, sober, every tax-payer may rest assured that the funds of the county will be in safe hands.

M A Miller is a young man whose parents were pioneers in this county having settled here at a very early day. He is a self made man of good ability, a fluent talker, of sound judgment. He will take an active part in legislation.

J E Michael belongs to one of the pioneer families of Linn county having settled near Halsey in 1847. He is a man of good education, discriminating judgment, strict personal integrity and will make a careful efficient assessor.

George Humphrey is eminently qualified and fitted for the office of county judge. Having been admitted to the bar to practice in all the courts of the state, his qualifications for the office are not questioned by even his opponents.

G F Russell is an earnest worker in the cause of education. In the term he has served he has acquired that experience so necessary to an efficient administration of the duties of the office of school superintendent. The voters understand this and we predict they will give him a big vote.

The Saturday Evening Spectator, of Minneapolis, of March 19, contains notices of forty-nine mortgage sales of lots in that city and two of farms in the county. A single Kansas paper had notices of over 50 farms to be sold under mortgage in one county. These are the evidences of prosperity which our republican friends can find all over the country, but to which they fail "to point with pride."

The St Louis Republic has been hunting for presidential preferences in Tennessee. Among 38 members of the legislature first choices are as follows: Cleveland, 24; Hill and Palmer, 4 each; Boies, 3; and Gray, Flower and Campbell, 1 each. Second choice, Boies, 19; Carlisle, 6; Cleveland, 5; Palmer, 4; Hill, 3 and Gray, Flower, Gorman, Vilas, Whitney and Morrison, 1 each.

The Oregonian is exasperated beyond measure because the legislature of Michigan saw fit in its sovereign capacity to provide for electing presidential electors by districts instead of by the state at large. There is no question as to the power to do this. Still the Oregonian in the most coarse and and vulgar way engages in mud-slinging of the most disgusting kind by using such choice language as "lying," "lying in the most brazen manner," "lie" etc. It even denounces the action of the legislature as "partisan villainy," "audacious and high handed." Poor old groveling Oregonian. The day of its honesty in politics is numbered forever. It is now a narrow minded partisan organ.

The experience which E E Davis has acquired in the Recorder's office in the last two terms makes him the most fit man in the county for the office. We predict a very large vote for him.

A It is a big privilege to be able to get what you want when you go to a grocery store. Allen Brothers keep such a variety of goods that they can always accommodate their customers. This B saves running around. If it is C fruit season they have the goods. D In produce their stands are full of the latest and best. Their E stock of standard groceries is R always large, of the best to be S secured in the market.

HOW PRICES ARE FIXED.

Congressman Patterson in a speech the other day said: "There is nothing truer than that the market which fixes the price of the surplus fixes the price of the entire crop. So it follows that the American cotton in the free open markets of the world comes in contact with the cottons of India and Egypt and all other countries producing the staple, and is sold in open, free competition with them. It is absolutely demonstrable and absolutely true that the cotton of this country is sold at free-trade prices. But is it true that the men who by the sweat of their brows produce the cotton have an opportunity to purchase with its proceeds the necessities of life where they can buy them the cheapest?"

Suppose a farmer had ten bales of cotton and should ship it to the market at Liverpool, is it not certain that he would meet there the cotton farmers in all other countries producing cotton and that he would be forced to sell in the open free market in competition with them? Now, suppose he should receive $400 for his cotton and should invest the price in the necessities of life, such as clothing, iron, or steel, or earthenware goods, what would be the result? Is it not absolutely certain that he could not land these goods on the shores of his own country without paying a duty of about 60 per cent or $240?

Now, suppose that he sold the cotton in the American market. Is it not equally certain that he would by the operation of our tariff laws be forced to buy the same goods imported into this country at a price made up of the foreign price, the cost of transportation, and the amount of duty paid by the importer?

The same reasoning applies with equal force to wheat, corn, pork, beef, butter and all other farm products produced in this country in excess of the requirements of the home market. It is the price of the excess which fixes the price of the whole. The duty, thrown as a makeshift into the tariff law, on imported farm products is a snare and a delusion. It is a bold and mendacious attempt to deceive and ensnare the farmers into the belief that they are protected.

There can be no protection, under the laws of this country, where a surplus is produced which is forced to seek a foreign market. Whenever any product leaves our ports it leaves behind the guardianship of our laws, and must necessarily be sold in open competition with like products of other countries. The price in the foreign market reacts on the home market and absolutely fixes the value of the product sold at home. So there is no escape from the conclusion that the wheat-grower of Minnesota works in the harvest-field in competition with the Cossack on the plains of Russia; with the Turk on the shores of the Mediterranean, and the inhabitants of India on the banks of the Ganges. But when the farmer of Minnesota comes to purchasing the necessities of life with the proceeds of his toil, he is forced to buy in a restricted market at tariff prices.

This brings me to the motive underlying our tariff laws. They were concocted for the express purpose of laying duties on commodities produced or manufactured alike in these foreign countries. Such articles as are not produced in this country, like coffee, tea, quinine, and many others, are not taxed. The tariff laws are intended to prevent foreign manufactured goods from coming into free competition with American goods of the same kind and quality in the home market.

Women.

The common afflictions of women are sick-headaches, indigestion and nervous troubles. They arise largely from stomach disorders. As Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is the only bowel regulating preparation, you can see why it is more effective than any other Sarsaparilla in those troubles. It is daily relieving hundreds. The action is mild, direct and effective. We have scores of letters from grateful women.
