

NEW WAYS OF GIVING.

The act of a rich New York man a few days ago is worthy of notice and imitation. He gave a very large sum of money to found an institution where boys could be trained to work. They are to be taught many sorts of actual manual labor, common and skilled, and fitted to do better work in the several occupations in which they may engage than they otherwise could do.

Another thoughtful person has made the suggestion that a rich but good man can do no better when he shuffles off this mortal coil than leave his money to build good roads. What better monument could a man raise or have raised for himself than ten miles of perfect highway; with somewhere along its course a stone bearing the inscription: "This road was built and is to be kept in order forever by a bequest left by Hon John Smith."

This is also an excellent way for men with more money than they ought to leave to their children—for the children's own good—to spend some of it. Not only would a lasting and beneficial "monument" be thus created, but while it is in building many men would be given employment.

Heretofore the benefactions of rich men have chiefly run in the direction of colleges and public libraries. Of the former there are already enough, or if not they will spring up as fast as the needs of the increasing population demand them. Free libraries are very well, but since books of all sorts have become so cheap that food for the body is dearer than food for the mind, there is no great need for them.

NOT SUPPORTING BURNETT.

The Salem Statesman says: "It may be stated with perfect confidence that not only the friends of Judge Boise, but also, Judge Boise himself, are supporting Mr Burnett cheerfully and heartily."

Judge Boise knows that six years ago Mr Burnett's friends voted against him at the polls, by the hundred in Salem. That at Independence Mr Burnett's friends, headed by J S Cooper, a particular friend of Burnett, voted against Boise and ran him far behind his ticket, and would have beaten him, had he not received a very large vote among the farmers and country people, who have always been his friends.

Judge Boise ought to know that Mr Burnett is a protégé of the State Insurance Co. and under the influence of Cottle, and that the monopolies wanted Burnett nominated, and opposed him, and that Joe Simon was actively opposing him at the convention in Portland.

He also, ought to know, that Burnett signed Simon's recommendation for Judge of the U S Circuit Court. The friends of Mr Burnett at the convention in Portland were constantly asserting that Boise would not be elected if nominated, and that they would work against him and spend money to beat him at the polls as they did six years ago.

If knowing these facts Judge Boise cheerfully and heartily supports Mr Burnett, his friends will be much surprised and have a great deal less confidence in him than they now have.

THE PLATFORM.

Following is the substance of the platform adopted at the state convention:

The indorsement of the democratic platform of the national conventions of 1884 and 1888; condemnation of the McKinley bill; indorsement of the democratic position in regard to the tariff for revenue only, and condemning the system of a protection tariff; "that we believe in the free coinage of silver, making it of an equal monetary value as gold, and that paper currency be redeemed in gold or silver at the option of the holder; condemnation of the extravagant expenditure of money for unworthy pensions, as demonstrated by the republican policy of equal reward to the veterans of the field and the camp-follower of the war; that United States senators should be elected by the direct vote of the people; favoring of legislation preventing use of money for corrupt political usages; approval of legislation making eight hours a day's labor on public buildings; legislation for equitable and just system of taxation; demanding survey of the public domain in this state and forfeiture by railroads of unearned lands; recommend the passage of laws continuing the work of government improvement of the Columbia and Willamette rivers and condemning a republican filibustering scheme of the Inland Empire by a temporary portage railway at The Dalles; and that proper legislation be taken to prevent the Chinese emigration to this country, indorsing the Geary bill and condemning the proposed amended bill of Senator Dolph.

THE TICKET.

The meeting of the democratic state convention was an harmonious one. The ticket nominated is a strong one. The readers of the DEMOCRAT will hereafter be made familiar with the men who compose it. L B Cox, of Portland, was made chairman of the convention and Charles Nickel, who has so many times filled the position, secretary. Following is the ticket:

Supreme judge, A S Bennett, of The Dalles.

Attorney-general, Geo E Chamberlain, of Albany.

Congressmen, R M Veatch first district, and J H Slater second district.

Pimples.

The old idea of 40 years ago was that facial eruptions were due to a "blood humor," for which they gave potash. Thus all the old Sarsaparilla contains potash, a most objectionable and drastic mineral, that instead of decreasing, actually creates more eruptions. You have noticed this when taking other Sarsaparilla than Joy's. It is however now known that the stomach, the blood creating power, is the seat of all vitiating or cleansing operations. A stomach clogged by indigestion or constipation, vitiates the blood, results in pimples. A clean stomach and healthy digestion purifies it and they disappear. Thus Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla is compounded after the modern idea to regulate the bowels and stimulate the digestion. The effects immediate and most satisfactory. A short testimonial to contrast the action of the potash Sarsaparilla and Joy's modern vegetable preparation. Mrs. C. D. Stuart, of 609 Hayes St., S. F., writes: "I have for years had indigestion. I tried a popular Sarsaparilla but it actually caused more pimples to break out on my face. Hearing that Joy's was a later preparation and acted differently, I tried it and the pimples immediately disappeared."
