MISFITS.

The O P road it is reported, has been examined this week in order to learn whether it is worth the $1,250,000 investment.

The snipe head, grip-sack, crawling fish, barney of the Green Basin Smut mill is the way the Mill City Gazette returns the compliments of the day.

If the C B & Q railroad company build to the Willamette valley within the next two years as predicted, and connect with the O P, they will probably diverge at Lyons crossing over to Mehama, thence down to Stayton, and from there strike for Portland their intended destination.

Not all bad roads are in Oregon, a fact appreciated by the following: Many persons who regard themselves as well informed on most public questions will be surprised to be told, for example that in the state of Illinois alone, it has been estimated that the loss sustained by farmers and owners of horses and wagons generally from bad roads, is placed at $16,000,000 a year.

The following is the membership of the principal orders in the United States, as per reports of the supreme bodies for the year ending December 31, 1892: Odd Fellows, 698,533; Free Masons, 673,643; A O U W, 263,611; Knights of Pythias, 268,847; Knights of Honor, 238,256; Royal Arcanum, 218,454; I O of Red Men, 111,644; Knights and Ladies of Honor, 70,419; American Legion of Honor, 63,751; Maccabees, 62,680; Modern Woodmen of America, 43,817; United American Mechanics, 35,817; Equitable Aid Union, 43,250; Chosen Friends, 38,821; National Union, 26,300; Sons of B'nai B'rith, 25,478; Catholic Benevolent Legion, 22,553; United Friends, 22,394; Golden Cross, 17,383; Royal Templars, 15,133; Druids, 15,000.

A CHECKUP cracked by a Salem paper: It is told on the candidates for railroad commissioners that forty seven of the sixty-nine of them now in the city held a caucus for the declared purpose of selecting from among their number a representative to go before the legislature as the candidates for places on the commission. The agreement was that the thirty-five candidates receiving the smallest vote in the caucus were all to withdraw in favor of the remaining twelve and ask the legislature to select from among that diminutive number three persons to serve as commissioners. Well, the caucus was a glittering, glowing success. The voting was by ballot and everything ran smoothly until the vote came to be counted, when it was found that there were forty six men who had one vote each standing to his credit. One man had evidently failed to vote for himself.
