

Daily Democrat.

Mr Cleveland is not the man to imperil the success of the administration to gratify personal feelings. That is the Harrison way of doing business.

The populists are a practical lot anyway. Down in Kansas they preferred to give the United States senatorship with a small salary to a democrat rather than a state office, which allows big profits on the side.—Tele-gram.

A male gorilla has lately been acquired by the Berlin Aquarium. He is larger than any gorilla that has yet been brought to Europe. He is supposed to be eight or nine years old, and was for six years in the possession of a chieftain on the Gaboon.

The famous pearl button factory at Eau Claire, Wis., used by the republicans from June to November of last year as a campaign argument, closed its doors today. The proprietors make no other explanation than that pearl button making in the Northwest is not a paying investment.

Gov Russell, of Massachusetts, says that his trust has never been betrayed by a reporter. Not very long ago Mr Blaine made a like remark. Probably an investigation would not have to be very thorough to show that the percentage of public men who have betrayed their trusts is much larger than that of reporters.

A Moscow physician, Prof Von Stein, has, according to his own representations, succeeded in treating various forms of rheumatism with electric light in a highly satisfactory manner. The light used is a small, incandescent lamp, whose rays and heat are applied to the affected part through a funnel. The length of the treatment depends on the ability of the patient to endure the heat.

A writer in Science says there is no element of speech so variously pronounced in dialect and by individuals as the letter R. All varieties, he explains, are derived from a frictional emission of breath or of voice between two surfaces in the breath channel. It may be made in the throat, in the guttural passage between the back of the tongue and the soft palate, between the arched top of the tongue and the roof of the mouth—common in the United States, the normal R, produced between the point of the tongue and the upper gum, and by transferring the sound from the tongue to the lips, so that R has the sound of W. Another series results from a rattling organic vibration instead of a mere friction of the breath of voice.

The death of James G Baine removes a notable figure from the field of political life. He was for years the most noted as well as the most popular leader in his party. That there were defects in his mental make up needs no more proof than a reference to the mistakes which precluded him from ever becoming president. He was a popular orator, a most pleasing writer, but he was not a statesman in the best sense of the word. Nowhere on the statute books of the national commonwealth are to be found the impressions of his ability as a statesman as are those of Webster, Thurman or Sherman. Nevertheless he had a strong following who believe he was a great statesman, and the great mass of the people without regard to political affiliations sincerely mourn his loss.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

(From our regular correspondent.)

WASHINGTON, Jan 23, 1893.

"The Carlisle tariff bill." How does that strike you as a popular title for the democratic tariff bill which is to be passed by the Fifty-third congress? Unless a number of gentlemen who are in positions to know are wrong in their calculation Senator Carlisle, whose resignation as Senator will take effect the fourth of next month, is the man who will frame that bill. The great success of the Walker tariff bill, framed by President Polk's secretary of the treasury, was, it is said, what induced Mr Cleveland to follow the same plan and entrust the framing of a tariff bill which is to be strictly in accord with democratic ideas, to his secretary of the treasury. It is not to be understood or inferred that this move is intended to deprive the ways and means committee of the next house of any of its rights. The idea is merely to put into the hands of that committee a complete tariff bill, leaving its members to decide whether it shall be accepted as prepared or be amended before being reported to the house. Whatever one's opinion of this method of preparing the tariff bill may be, it cannot be denied that John G Carlisle is by experience and ability specially well qualified to frame the democratic bill. He has for many years been a leading tariff reformer, and his name attached to the bill would of itself make it popular with the rank and file of the democratic party.

Much curiosity is felt concerning the answer that Secretary Foster will make to Representative Scott's resolution, which has been adopted by the house, calling for information as to the delay in the erection of public buildings for which the money has been appropriated by congress. Mr Scott says he is satisfied that the delay has been caused by the lack of money in the treasury, and the facts are all apparently with him; but it is hardly probable that the wily secretary of the treasury will admit that.

Representative Bynum's resolution, which has been adopted by the house, calling on the civil service commission to furnish a list of all the men reinstated in the classified service of the government, under rule 10, since March 4, 1889, together with the date of their dismissal or resignation from this service, the states they were from and the states charged with their appointment, the date of their reinstatement, and the departments in which they were reinstated. Rule 10, referred to in this resolution was gotten up by republicans ostensibly to allow the reinstatement within one year of their dismissal or resignation of ex soldiers, but if the information called for by the resolution be truthfully given it will be seen that it has been terribly stretched, both as to time and persons. It would be much better to absolutely suspend the civil service law so far as it relates to appointments and removals, for the first year of every administration, as proposed by Representative DeArmond's bill, now in the hands of a house committee than to evade it as has been done under this administration; besides, it would be much more manly and honorable.

The favorable report to the house on the bill repealing all federal election laws contains some very strong language, but, as the report truthfully says, "these laws are a continued menace to the peace and well-fare of the country," and nothing said against them can be too strong. The house will pass this bill, not with any expectation that it can get through the senate at this session, but to emphasize the position of the democratic party against these laws.

Things are now going with a rush at the headquarters of the inaugural committee, and so great has been the demand for hotel accommodations that good quarters are getting scarce.

A BIG STAGE.

"All the world's a stage And all the men and women merely players; They have their exits and their entrances." One of their principal entrances leads into Parker Bros grocery and bakery. The finest groceries and the freshest produce are kept, and their baked goods are beyond comparison, consisting of a big variety of breads and cakes, plain and fancy, skillfully and well made. An important thing to consider.

Mrs. Mary E. O'Fallon

of Piqua, O., says the Physicians are Astonished, and look at her like one

Raised from the Dead Long and Terrible Illness from Blood Poisoning

Completely Cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Mrs. Mary E. O'Fallon, a very intelligent lady of Piqua, Ohio, was poisoned while assisting physicians at an autopsy 5 years ago, and soon terrible ulcers broke out on her head, arms, tongue and throat. Her hair all came out. She weighed but 78 lbs., and saw no prospect of help. At last she began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla and at once improved; could soon get out of bed and walk. She says: "I became perfectly cured by and am now a well woman. I weigh 128 lbs., eat well and do the work for a large family. My case seems a wonderful recovery and physicians look at me in astonishment, as almost like one raised from the dead."

HOOD'S PILLS should be in every family medicine chest. Once used, always preferred.

The Forum 1893

The Forum.

"THE FORUM is the finest Statesman what the Northwest has ever produced, and more incomparably the best thoughtful periodical we have ever had."

THE FORUM contains articles about what men are now doing in the world. The problems and the tasks of your own life and thought, and of our own country, and of our own time; the education of your children; the latest results of research in your own special study; the great movements—are these not the most interesting subjects? The secret of THE FORUM's hold on its readers is that its writers make it helpful to all who think. Its readers form the dominant part of every profession, craft, and class—those who are succeeding because they have a correct measure of the intellectual forces and of the larger activities of American life, the best-informed, and the most ambitious. Its writers are the leaders of thought and of action everywhere and in all kinds of important work. Ask the best informed man in your community what he thinks of THE FORUM, or send to us for the written opinions of some of the leading men in your State, and in all other States.
