Wong Tun and Hung Chung had a fight at Salem Last night. It sounds familiar: Wong Tun claims that Hung Chung hit him over the head with an iron bar and that he, in order to defend himself, went after his assailant with a butcher knife causing the injury mentioned.

The Causing the injury mentioned.

The Canyon City News tells of a Fourth of July celebration in that town along in the '60's, when John C Luce arose to read the Declaration of Independence, and read in a rich, dark brown voice nearly half of the constitution of the United Sacras before Hon W Lair Hill pulled the tail of John's coat and found the right page for him.

None of the Salem banks are cashing city warrants. Warrants are not at a discount, but the banks are not making loans or taking up paper of any kind that they can avoid. They are pursuing this policy to keep their supply of coin as large as possible. Where warrants are presented by merchants with good accourts, they are received as deposits,—Salem Journal.

Washburn's Chieus. — Washburn's monster show will visit this city and exhibit on July 21st afternoon and evening. The Worcester, Mass, Gazette says: The company attracted attention to the show's notable number of horses and performers, by a procession through a number of streets, any created a favorable impression, which resulted in a generous patronage of their evening exhibition at Agricultural Park. More than 3000 people attended the show during the evening, and barring the lack of pleasant weather, a verdict of satisfaction was gained. The aerobatic corps of the company, including the Vernon Brothers of mid-air celebrity, a slack wire performer of great expertness, and Lowelli, a wonderful contortionist, won special plaudits, notably merrited. MISSITS

Advertising done in earnest, Done with wisdom, heart and soul, With determination sternest, Always wins the wished-for goal.

A rather peculiar story comes from Newberg. Last Saturday an attempt to commit rarse upon the daughter of Mr Hobson was made by a man named Wilson. A warrant was swon out and be was arrested. As the constable having him in charge wanted his dinner be turned the man over to Maris for safe keeping. It seems that Wilson owed Maris a bill and taking a bill of sale of enough of Wilson's property to cover the amount Maris allowed him to escape. — Mc-Minuville T. R.
