

PRINTING, Editors and Proprietors
at the Post Office at Albany as second class mail matter.

OFFICIAL PAPER.

AUGUST 1, 1893

GOOD EVENING.

HOME AND ABROAD

Bank at Astoria and the bank suspended yesterday.

Gold was received in Portland San Francisco yesterday.

Yaquna, attempted to commit suicide by taking arsenic.

Reform school buildings will be erected this year. No funds available.

Downing, a former resident of Astoria, was recently shot in eastern Oregon while stealing.

Comment is being made about the girls being seen in a Chinese dress in Celestial apartment.

Kenton has perfected a gold saving machine that promises to be a valuable one. He will give it a test at the Bay.

Power has rented the store in the block vacated by the L E Blain Co., which is being fitted up in a new manner.

Sunday Ray Gee and Alex Carver hunting in the mountains near Astoria when the former was accidentally shot by the latter, the rifle ball making a bad wound. It was thought Gee was dead.

Speaking to one of the speakers at the last evening San Francisco has a new banking system. Their resources are estimated to the enormous sum of $320,000.

There has been only one failure in the county since the election.

Teachers for the ensuing year were elected by the school board of Astoria. L N Liggett will have charge of the school as principal, Miss Maggie will teach the intermediate and Miss Effa Crooks the primary.

Ochoco Review.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Clerk Jones, of Toledo, was in Astoria today.

Lilly Robertson and Miss Mary of Tacoma, arrived in Astoria on a visit with relatives.

Strand was in the city today on his way to Prineville to Oakland, where he is engaged as principal of the schools.

Clerk Payne, and father M J R Wyatt and L C Marshall will be on the Metoles, returning from the McKenzie route and the north of Lane county.

Those who went to Yaquina today were Prichard and family, Mrs Grant and daughter, W C Tweedale and Mrs Wm Fortmiller and children.

Jones and Lottie Knox, Mr J B of Harrisburg, returned home from Astoria, and reports only about a third of the number of people of last year at the time.

Y to Rob.—A Salem man was in Astoria Saturday and watched the run on banks. One man drew his deposit of $800 and put it in his pocket.

He got back through the crowd he that someone had robbed him of the amount of it. A woman put the money she drew in a small reticule. When she got out of the jam she carried nothing but a handle of the bag; as someone had a body away with a sharp instrument.

crowd was full of pickpockets and thieves, watching their opportunities to get a profit out of the excited condition of depositors who were drawing out their funds.

If you are particular about what you buy, you can suit you in groceries.

He keeps a clean stock. If you are going to the mountains call on him and get the best secured, as well as first class treatment. His prices will suit the times. Stop eating, but eat what will build you prosperous as well as quiet times.

NEVER BOTHER

Get very much about business during the hot months if you wish to keep cool. Just you get into the habit of asking is hot enough for him, when you can get very plainly that he is practically dead; but, instead, advise him to call on our Brothers and get the best baked goods to be secured, as well as warm groceries generally.

A MAN

WHEN HE IS HOT.

Just you do what you will surely retain his friendship.

WATSON is a necessity nowadays. I want one call on Will & Stark, whose is large and varied, and prices the most reasonable. They can give you a suit in this line as well as in jewelry.

THE VERDICT is unanimous that Will & Stark carry the best line of silver ware in the valley. They have the variety and quality combination that counts in buying silver. An inspection always carries conviction.

the place, with two acres of land, fruit, for rent. Call on Prof W W Davis, at end of Fourth street.

man towels to every customer at V. V. & King's.

eaches $1.00 a box at Parker Bros.

THE MERCHANTS' EXCURSION

Albany Gives the San Franciscans a Live Reception.

The following members of the Chamber of Commerce of San Francisco arrived in Albany at 5 o'clock last evening by a special O. P. train in charge of Receiver Hadley and Superintendent Mulcahy: E E Whalley, R W Mastick, John Featherstone, H Wendt, Jas L Elsasur, A Stetson, A Corrigan, J Wilner, L N Tryon, Webster Jones, H M Hineman, L Hirsch, J Waterman, J P Blunt, J Eignbaum, A Walter, H Coon, E O Bletten, A Sachs, Nelson C Hawks, H Fishback, also E D Crawford, representing the San Francisco Call, and W C Quimby and W H Murray, of the San Francisco Journal of Commerce, together with about fifty others. They were driven about the city, and shown our Woolen mill, flour mills, big bridge, and other places of interest, when they were left at the St Charles Hotel, where the Mechanics' band furnished good music, and at 8 o'clock several live balcony speeches were made to the large audience of citizens gathered in the street.

Hon J K Weatherford acted as master of ceremonies and did the introducing in a happy manner. Mr J B Featherstone, President of the Chamber of Commerce, a young man of tact and push, spoke in glowing terms of the treatment received and of our beautiful valley, as well as of the business relations desired. J B Stetson, introduced as a merchant prince, expressed his astonishment at the wonders of this valley, so far above his expectations, and then talked business. Mr Quimby, of the Journal of Commerce, spoke for San Francisco's mid-winter fair, announcing that even Governor Penney would permit Oregon's exhibit to go to it without his veto of the bill. Receiver E W Hadley, of the O. P., said the San Francisco men had been brought here for business. In reference to the O. P. he said he could say with certainty that it would not be many months before dirt would be thrown on the Eastern extension. That was the great object now. The delay has already been too long. The present management proposed to extend the road. His remarks were loudly cheered. W A Carrigan spoke of the common interests of Oregon and California. In speaking of what he had seen of Oregon he remarked that California would have to rustle to furnish a valley anywhere near as pretty as the Willamette. He congratulated us on having the Oregon Pacific under its life receiver. Mr Hadley, Judge W S McFadden, of Corvallis, spoke eloquently of Oregon, among his references calling Albany the Kansas City of the state, but claimed for Corvallis all the honor of having polished up J K Weatherford to lead such an expedition.

At 9 o'clock about one hundred people sat down to a sumptuous repast at the St Charles, consisting of the following menu: Soup—oyster, consommé; salad—lobster; entre—chicken, a la creole; cold dishes—turkey boned, duck, ham, tongue; desert—ice cream, vanilla; wines—Clarets, St Julien, Chateau La Rose, Zinfandel, Champagne, Pommery Sec; tea, coffee.

The hotel rooms and adjoining court were tastefully decorated for the occasion. Music was furnished during the repast by the band.

Hon J K Weatherford as toast master delivered the welcome, speaking of the few-ling feeling between the two states, rich in gold and nerve and everything producing power; of how we must develop together, and spoke of the great necessity of cheap transportation for their further advancement.

J B Stetson answered the toast of California, the land of gold, speaking of the grand reception, given the chamber of commerce, our hospitality, and eulogized the new blood in the Oregon Pacific.

J M Featherstone responded to the toast of the merchants of San Francisco, referring to the wonderful dwindling of trade with Oregon, due to the transcontinental roads; spoke of the wonderful revelation of this valley, and promised to divide profits with our merchants.

Oregon, queen of the Pacific, was C E Wolverson's toast. Several live hits brought the house down. It was thoroughly Oregonian. The length of our years was illustrated by our 13 months rain, and 8 to 10 of sunshine.

Mr Quimby, of the Journal of Commerce, handled the subject of transportation in a manner to show a life study of it, giving figures and facts of importance, referring under the present system of the necessity of branch houses in Portland. When the door is once open it will be kept open. He reported 21 feet at Yaquina Bay at mean tide, and remarked that 9 feet be added and Newport would be a second San Francisco. That city is ready to assist in making it such a harbor. In ten years he predicted that all the engines, electric lights and machinery of the valley will be run by the falls of the Willamette.

E W Hadley spoke sharply on the Oregon Pacific, referring to it as the line of least resistance. The system of the road was to place rates on the cost of transportation and not on all a thing will bear. The interesting information in connection with the ability to give low rates was given that Albany was 164 miles nearer San Francisco by the O. P. than by any other route, and even Portland was 45 miles nearer. In reference to the future of the Oregon Pacific he showed how 65 miles would take it so as to command the trade of Eastern Oregon, and remarked that they were not only going to try, but were going to build it.

Judge Flinn spoke on the Oregon Pacific and its possibilities for good, showing how it had raised the price of wheat and advanced our interests generally, and spoke of how we wished to see it married to an Eastern road.

The Ladies, by J R Wyatt was the most eloquent effort of the evening and captured the audience. It was a bright tribute to our mothers, wives, sisters and daughters.

"Our Undeveloped Country of Eastern Oregon," was handled by Judge Strahan. In showing our relationship to California, the speaker spoke of how the Willamette Coast R R was named by a San Francisco man. His comments on this valley were glowing, as well as his remarks on the possibilities of our neighboring country across the Cascades.

D P Mason spoke on the commerce of this valley, with which he had been familiar for over twenty-five years. He pronounced our great needs to be more people, smaller farms and more diversified interests.

Our Common Country, was patriotically polished down by Judge McFadden of Corvallis, Washington, Jefferson, Jackson, Lincoln, Garfield and Cleveland were referred to in the welding together of the 117 years of our existence, the best beloved of all nations.

The Benefits of Mutual Interstate Commerce was dissected by Mr Carrigan in a bright manner. He proposed to hold Mr Hadley to his promise to make the rate fit the crime. A toast was given to Mr Hadley. What is the matter with Hadley?

WHAT I SAW AT HONOLULU

(Continued from yesterday.)

A very complete system of street railroads renders travel through the principal thoroughfares of Honolulu and suburbs cheap and expeditious, but most visitors prefer to view the city leisurely and enjoy the wealth of foliage and bloom on every side as they stroll along the streets, protected from the sun by the overhanging branches. There are several well conducted hotels in Honolulu, and those who wish to enjoy the perfection of sea bathing can be accommodated at Waikiki, where there is also a first-class seaside hotel. Until the overthrow of the late Queen the government had in its employ what was known as the Royal Hawaiian Band. It was established by J O Dominis, the late Prince Consort, twenty years ago, and consists of forty pieces. This band, composed wholly of Hawaiians, has been brought to the highest degree of musical skill by Mr H Berger, who was sent out specially for this duty by the Prussian Government in 1872, at the request of the late King Kalakaua. And we say that we have listened to many bands and are decidedly of the opinion that the Royal Hawaiian Band stands among the best.

The chief places of interest in the city of Honolulu are the Palace and Government buildings. Formerly the Palace was occupied by the Queen, but since the Provisional Government has been established the building is occupied by the President and his cabinet. This building is a handsome, modern residence, standing in extensive pleasure grounds. The Government buildings are opposite the Royal Palace, fronting on Palace Square and King Street. This is a concrete structure, also the Palace, of considerable architectural merit, and contains several department offices and the Supreme Court and Judicial Chambers. Formerly the Legislature of the Kingdom met in the main hall of the building, but now occupied by soldiers of the Provisional Government. In the well kept grounds of the government buildings stands a bronze statue of Kamehameha, the Great, in feather helmet and robes of state. The likeness to the founder of the Hawaiian monarchy is said to be perfect. Kawaiahoa church, one of the oldest landmarks of Honolulu, is in this vicinity. It is built of coral, the material and labor being furnished by the natives soon after their chiefs had renounced idolatry, and is an enduring evidence of the influence of the early Christian missionaries. In the Kawaiahoa churchyard stands the monument of King Lunalilo, the last of the Kamehamehas, although he did not assume that name. The Hawaiian opera house, a commodious building capable of seating several hundred people, fronts on Palace Square, close to the government buildings. A short walk from the Palace brings the visitor to the Queen's hospital, built in 1860, in honor of Queen Emma, by her Royal consort, the Fourth Kamehameha. The grounds surrounding the Queen's hospital are planted with palms, flowering shrubs and shade trees. The Avenue of Palms, leading up to the main entrance, will well repay a visit.

East of the city, close to the foothills, and not very far from each other, are Lunalilo home and Oahu college. The former is surrounded by extensive grounds. It was founded by King Lunalilo as a home for destitute and aged Hawaiians. Oahu college is well endowed, with lands, and has earned a wide reputation as an educational institution. It is of missionary foundation.

On the west side, a considerable distance from the city, are located the Kamehameha schools, founded under the will of Mrs Benicia Panahi Bishop, heiress of the late Princess Ruth, sister of Kamehameha the Fifth. They are richly endowed, and consist of preparatory and finishing schools. Practical instruction in useful trades is given to Hawaiian boys and girls, in addition to the regular school course. And here it may be said that the public schools of Honolulu are numerous, well equipped for educational work, and are in charge of a most efficient and zealous body of trained teachers. Most all the teachers have been trained in the colleges of the United States.

In the city proper are the Public Library and Reading Room, the Young Men's Christian Association building, containing lecture hall, class rooms and library; also I O O F halls, K P Hall, Masonic Temple, General Post office, Custom House, Police buildings and court, Seaman's Home, fire stations, telephone offices, etc.

The churches are numerous and well sustained. The Central Union, a fine stone, cost over $125,000.

Honolulu is lighted by electricity. It has an efficient water service and fire department. No city in the world is so well or so cheaply supplied with telephone systems, as Honolulu, and no other community makes such general use of the telephone.

The population is composed of native Hawaiians, Americans and other persons of European descent, Portuguese chiefly from the Atlantic islands, Chinese and Japanese. This mixed community is orderly and industrious as a rule and serious crimes are almost unknown. The law is strictly enforced. Honolulu has no municipal government, the police and fire departments

OREGON STATE WEATHER SERVICE

Summary. Station, Albany, Or. Month's June, 1893.

Elevation above sea level, 217.7 feet. Mean temperature, 64.5.

Departure from normal, — 1.5. Maximum temperature, 96; date, 31. Minimum temperature, 44; date, 28. Mean of maximum temperature, 80.3. Mean of minimum temperature, 48.74. No. times maximum temperature 96° or above, 3.

No. times minimum temperature 32° or below, 0.

No. times minimum temperature 40° or below, 0.

Total precipitation, 0.27 inches. Departure from normal, — 0.25 inches. Greatest precipitation in 24 consecutive hours, 0.27; date, .

Total depth of unmelted snowfall, 0 inches.

Prevailing direction of the wind, N. No. of clear days, 20.

No. of partly cloudy days, 5. No. of cloudy days, 6.

No. of days on which .01 or more of precipitation fell, 1.

No. of days on which .04 or more of precipitation fell, 1.

Dates on which hail fell, 00.

Dates on which snow fell, 0.

Dates of thunder storms, 0.

Dates of light frost, 00.

Dates of killing or injurious frost, 0.

Dates of solar halos, 2.

Dates of lunar halos, 0.

JOHN BRIGGS, Volunteer Observer.

What Do You Take.

Medicine for? Because you are sick and want to get well, or because you wish to prevent illness. Then remember that Hood's Sarsaparilla cures all diseases caused by impure blood.

Purely vegetable—Hood's Pill—25c.

Proof of Merit

The proof of the merits of a plaster is the cures it effects, and the voluntary testimonials of those who have used Alcock's Porous Plasters during the past thirty years is unimpeachable evidence of their superiority and should convince the most skeptical. Self-praise is no recommendation, but certificates from those who have used them are.

Beware of imitations and do not be deceived by misrepresentation. Ask for Alcock's, and let no solicitation or explanation induce you to accept a substitute.

Go to R M Robertson's for cheap bran and shorts.

TO FARMERS.—The undersigned have leased the warehouse of David Smith at Tallman and are now prepared to store grain, and all farmers are requested to call and see them before making arrangements for storage elsewhere.

FROST & SANDERS.

MONEY TO LOAN AT 6 PER CENT ON CITY PROPERTY. M SENDERS

FOR SALE—A good horse. Inquire of L Viereck.

To Farmers

I HAVE RENTED THE MAGNOLIA Mill warehouse and will have it in good order for receiving the present crop. The warehouse is first class and conveniently located. Contains two good cleaners. No delay in unloading. Sacks will be on hand for delivery in due time. Give me a call before making arrangements to store your crop.

G. F. SIMPSON.

Albany, Or., July 15th, 1893.

GOOD NEWS

For the millions of consumers of Tutt's Pills.

It gives Dr. Tutt pleasure to announce that he is now putting up a

TINY LIVER PILL

which is of exceedingly small size, yet retaining all the virtues of the larger ones. Guaranteed purely vegetable. Both sizes of these pills are still in use. The exact size of

TUTT'S TINY LIVER PILLS is shown in the border of this "ad."

T. C. MACKAY, M.D.

Physician and Surgeon. Office—Corner 2nd and Ellsworth St. over Watson Bros grocery store. Residence, corner 10th and Galapagos st.

LOST.—In Albany, or on this road leading east from that place, or about July 15th, a promissory note dated July 15th and signed by A H Marshall in favor of Adolph Eichman for $200. The finder will confer favor by leaving it at this office for Mr Eichman.

WHAT I SAW AT HONOLULU

(Continued from yesterday.)

A very complete system of street railroads renders travel through the principal thoroughfares of Honolulu and suburbs cheap and expeditious, but most visitors prefer to view the city leisurely and enjoy the wealth of foliage and bloom on every side as they stroll along the streets, protected from the sun by the overhanging branches. There are several well conducted hotels in Honolulu, and those who wish to enjoy the perfection of sea bathing can be accommodated at Waikiki, where there is also a first-class seaside hotel. Until the overthrow of the late Queen the government had in its employ what was known as the Royal Hawaiian Band. It was established by J O Dominis, the late Prince Consort, twenty years ago, and consists of forty pieces. This band, composed wholly of Hawaiians, has been brought to the highest degree of musical skill by Mr H Berger, who was sent out specially for this duty by the Prussian Government in 1872, at the request of the late King Kalakaua. And we say that we have listened to many bands and are decidedly of the opinion that the Royal Hawaiian Band stands among the best.

The chief places of interest in the city of Honolulu are the Palace and Government buildings. Formerly the Palace was occupied by the Queen, but since the Provisional Government has been established the building is occupied by the President and his cabinet. This building is a handsome, modern residence, standing in extensive pleasure grounds. The Government buildings are opposite the Royal Palace, fronting on Palace Square and King Street. This is a concrete structure, also the Palace, of considerable architectural merit, and contains several department offices and the Supreme Court and Judicial Chambers. Formerly the Legislature of the Kingdom met in the main hall of the building, but now occupied by soldiers of the Provisional Government. In the well kept grounds of the government buildings stands a bronze statue of Kamehameha, the Great, in feather helmet and robes of state. The likeness to the founder of the Hawaiian monarchy is said to be perfect. Kawaiahoa church, one of the oldest landmarks of Honolulu, is in this vicinity. It is built of coral, the material and labor being furnished by the natives soon after their chiefs had renounced idolatry, and is an enduring evidence of the influence of the early Christian missionaries. In the Kawaiahoa churchyard stands the monument of King Lunalilo, the last of the Kamehamehas, although he did not assume that name. The Hawaiian opera house, a commodious building capable of seating several hundred people, fronts on Palace Square, close to the government buildings. A short walk from the Palace brings the visitor to the Queen's hospital, built in 1860, in honor of Queen Emma, by her Royal consort, the Fourth Kamehameha. The grounds surrounding the Queen's hospital are planted with palms, flowering shrubs and shade trees. The Avenue of Palms, leading up to the main entrance, will well repay a visit.

East of the city, close to the foothills, and not very far from each other, are Lunalilo home and Oahu college. The former is surrounded by extensive grounds. It was founded by King Lunalilo as a home for destitute and aged Hawaiians. Oahu college is well endowed, with lands, and has earned a wide reputation as an educational institution. It is of missionary foundation.

On the west side, a considerable distance from the city, are located the Kamehameha schools, founded under the will of Mrs Benicia Panahi Bishop, heiress of the late Princess Ruth, sister of Kamehameha the Fifth. They are richly endowed, and consist of preparatory and finishing schools. Practical instruction in useful trades is given to Hawaiian boys and girls, in addition to the regular school course. And here it may be said that the public schools of Honolulu are numerous, well equipped for educational work, and are in charge of a most efficient and zealous body of trained teachers. Most all the teachers have been trained in the colleges of the United States.

In the city proper are the Public Library and Reading Room, the Young Men's Christian Association building, containing lecture hall, class rooms and library; also I O O F halls, K P Hall, Masonic Temple, General Post office, Custom House, Police buildings and court, Seaman's Home, fire stations, telephone offices, etc.

The churches are numerous and well sustained. The Central Union, a fine stone, cost over $125,000.

Honolulu is lighted by electricity. It has an efficient water service and fire department. No city in the world is so well or so cheaply supplied with telephone systems, as Honolulu, and no other community makes such general use of the telephone.

The population is composed of native Hawaiians, Americans and other persons of European descent, Portuguese chiefly from the Atlantic islands, Chinese and Japanese. This mixed community is orderly and industrious as a rule and serious crimes are almost unknown. The law is strictly enforced. Honolulu has no municipal government, the police and fire departments

WHAT I SAW AT HONOLULU

(Continued from yesterday.)

A very complete system of street railroads renders travel through the principal thoroughfares of Honolulu and suburbs cheap and expeditious, but most visitors prefer to view the city leisurely and enjoy the wealth of foliage and bloom on every side as they stroll along the streets, protected from the sun by the overhanging branches. There are several well conducted hotels in Honolulu, and those who wish to enjoy the perfection of sea bathing can be accommodated at Waikiki, where there is also a first-class seaside hotel. Until the overthrow of the late Queen the government had in its employ what was known as the Royal Hawaiian Band. It was established by J O Dominis, the late Prince Consort, twenty years ago, and consists of forty pieces. This band, composed wholly of Hawaiians, has been brought to the highest degree of musical skill by Mr H Berger, who was sent out specially for this duty by the Prussian Government in 1872, at the request of the late King Kalakaua. And we say that we have listened to many bands and are decidedly of the opinion that the Royal Hawaiian Band stands among the best.

The chief places of interest in the city of Honolulu are the Palace and Government buildings. Formerly the Palace was occupied by the Queen, but since the Provisional Government has been established the building is occupied by the President and his cabinet. This building is a handsome, modern residence, standing in extensive pleasure grounds. The Government buildings are opposite the Royal Palace, fronting on Palace Square and King Street. This is a concrete structure, also the Palace, of considerable architectural merit, and contains several department offices and the Supreme Court and Judicial Chambers. Formerly the Legislature of the Kingdom met in the main hall of the building, but now occupied by soldiers of the Provisional Government. In the well kept grounds of the government buildings stands a bronze statue of Kamehameha, the Great, in feather helmet and robes of state. The likeness to the founder of the Hawaiian monarchy is said to be perfect. Kawaiahoa church, one of the oldest landmarks of Honolulu, is in this vicinity. It is built of coral, the material and labor being furnished by the natives soon after their chiefs had renounced idolatry, and is an enduring evidence of the influence of the early Christian missionaries. In the Kawaiahoa churchyard stands the monument of King Lunalilo, the last of the Kamehamehas, although he did not assume that name. The Hawaiian opera house, a commodious building capable of seating several hundred people, fronts on Palace Square, close to the government buildings. A short walk from the Palace brings the visitor to the Queen's hospital, built in 1860, in honor of Queen Emma, by her Royal consort, the Fourth Kamehameha. The grounds surrounding the Queen's hospital are planted with palms, flowering shrubs and shade trees. The Avenue of Palms, leading up to the main entrance, will well repay a visit.

East of the city, close to the foothills, and not very far from each other, are Lunalilo home and Oahu college. The former is surrounded by extensive grounds. It was founded by King Lunalilo as a home for destitute and aged Hawaiians. Oahu college is well endowed, with lands, and has earned a wide reputation as an educational institution. It is of missionary foundation.

On the west side, a considerable distance from the city, are located the Kamehameha schools, founded under the will of Mrs Benicia Panahi Bishop, heiress of the late Princess Ruth, sister of Kamehameha the Fifth. They are richly endowed, and consist of preparatory and finishing schools. Practical instruction in useful trades is given to Hawaiian boys and girls, in addition to the regular school course. And here it may be said that the public schools of Honolulu are numerous, well equipped for educational work, and are in charge of a most efficient and zealous body of trained teachers. Most all the teachers have been trained in the colleges of the United States.

In the city proper are the Public Library and Reading Room, the Young Men's Christian Association building, containing lecture hall, class rooms and library; also I O O F halls, K P Hall, Masonic Temple, General Post office, Custom House, Police buildings and court, Seaman's Home, fire stations, telephone offices, etc.

The churches are numerous and well sustained. The Central Union, a fine stone, cost over $125,000.

Honolulu is lighted by electricity. It has an efficient water service and fire department. No city in the world is so well or so cheaply supplied with telephone systems, as Honolulu, and no other community makes such general use of the telephone.

The population is composed of native Hawaiians, Americans and other persons of European descent, Portuguese chiefly from the Atlantic islands, Chinese and Japanese. This mixed community is orderly and industrious as a rule and serious crimes are almost unknown. The law is strictly enforced. Honolulu has no municipal government, the police and fire departments being under control of the Minister of the Interior.

The conservation of public health is entrusted to a Board of Health, which has large powers, and enjoys public confidence. Ten per cent of the gross revenue of the country is appropriated, annually, for medical and sanitary purposes. The government maintains a large staff of qualified physicians throughout the islands, whose duty it is to give medical advice and attendance to the native Hawaiians free. Medicine is also supplied gratuitously. The various sugar plantations are required to provide adequate medical and surgical attendance for their laborers, irrespective of race.

There are many charming drives in and around Honolulu, but those to the beach at Waikiki (embracing Kapiolani Park) and to the famous Pali, or precipice over which the all-conquering Kamehameha hurled the vanquished hosts of Oahu, are never overlooked by tourists. Each one is perfect in its way. There is a well made road from the city to the Pali, six miles distant. It leads up Nuuanu valley by a gradual ascent to the great cleft in the mountain, ending in an abrupt precipice 1200 feet above sea level. For a considerable distance the road is lined with handsome villas, set in the most beautiful of tropical surroundings.

An excursion of nine miles by rail road to Pearl Harbor is one of the attractions of a visit to Honolulu. A new marine resort is springing up at Pearl Harbor since the railroad was built. The scenery is pleasing on this trip, and a glimpse of the rice fields, banana plantations and cane fields is obtained.

What surprised us the most is, they have no stated time for seeding and harvesting the crops. On the same plantation, may be seen fields of rice in all stages of development, from the freshly sown field to the field being harvested.

The Hawaiian Islands have been called the gems of the Pacific, and it is true, that those who have once visited them, bring away a memory as flattering as it is unfulfilling, of the most romantic island kingdom in the world, a solitary group in a serene sea, where the summer is perpetual.

G. F. RUSSELL.

Boys under 16 getting their hair cut at Viereck's will receive a free ticket to the ball grounds.

Strictly Cash.

F. L. Kenton has adopted a cash system and will hereafter sell groceries to CASH only.

L. A. Morris & Co.

Flour and Feed Store.

Have removed their store to the Straha store, formerly occupied by Deyoe & Robson, and have on hand a full stock of

CORVALLIS FLOUR, BRAN, SHORTS, CERM MEAL, GRAHAM, BUCK-WHEAT, RYE FLOUR, HAY, OATS, STRAW AND CHOPPED FEED:

Custom chopping done.

BUY : YOUR

Dry Goods,

Furnishing Goods,

Lace Curtains,

Shoes, Etc., of

READ, PEACOCK & CO.,

ALBANY - AND - LEBANON.

FORTMILLER & IRVING

Undertakers and Embalmers.