WOOD EVENING.

ACCIDENT.—Yesterday afternoon J. Wilson, residing near Lebanon, was moving a barrel out of Benton county, where he was working to do, when he met with an accident, one that may cause a leg. On ascending the hill by a path, across the Willamette, he was walking beside the engine, when by a team, when the axle of a wheel broke off, caused by jarring by the roughness of the road, the heavy wheel fell striking Mr Wilson on the left leg, just below the knee in a terrible manner, so the bones protruded in different places and could be picked out with the fingers. Mr Wilson was sent for and attended by a physician, and his limb is so badly crushed, though amputation will be necessary, it is believed that it will be saved though if possible.

L. V. Arrington, ex-county treasurer of Douglas county, has been held under $10,000 bonds for robbing the county of $22,991.16.

Yesterday afternoon at Lebanon Frank Duncan was held under $200 bonds for the grand jury under the charge of assault with intent to kill.

Mr. A. I. Davis brought twenty-seven boxes of strawberries from his Santiam gardens today and left them with C. E. Brownell. A luxurious August sight.

H. F. Fisher, of the Corvallis mills, finished hauling 7000 bushels of wheat that he recently purchased from Adam Wilhelm, of Monroe, 53 cents was the price paid therefor.—Corvallis News.

An attachment has been placed on the office of the Oregon Herald, the three-weeks-old organ of the populists at Oregon City, by the employees of the office, who claim not to have been paid their wages, and the sheriff now holds the keys.

Mr. Le May is buying 5000 tons of hay in Washington to ship to England, paying $12 for it. It will cost $10 a ton to get it to England. The price anticipated is $50 a ton, in which event Mr. Le May will clear over $100,000 by the transaction.

The lecture of Prof. Hawley, announced to be given at the Y. M. C. A. Hall tonight, has been cancelled for different reasons. It is to be hoped Albany people have the pleasure of hearing it in the future.

Mr. Smeltzer was arrested for burning a barn in Marion county, and was held under $500 bonds to await the action of the grand jury. He had a friend dig up $750 hid in a tin can in the ground, and put up his bail and will go east with the balance, and says will return in time for the trial.

General Holmes of Southern Oregon made a bank of a coal oil can, depositing $8,100 in it. Two boys at Roseburg, 14 and 17 years of age, were accused of robbing the bank, and were arrested for the offense. $7000 of the money has been recovered. The story was not believed at first, but present developments confirm it.

A coyote was today received by express from Portland by Leo Gearhard. It was sent to him by a friend. Leo has a bear, coyote, two setter dogs, two bull dogs, and now wants a dwarf, snake, monkey and hand organ, when he will start on the road with the great aggregation.—Corvallis News.

Jack Dempsey, the "Nonpareil," is at St. Joseph's hospital in St. Paul, where he has been since last Monday. He is suffering from severe mental strain. Physicians at the hospital think that brooding over his past defeats has caused his mind to become temporarily unbalanced. Dempsey has also been drinking considerable of late, which no doubt is the main cause.

The Dallas real estate scheme has proven disastrous to all connected with it. A man from Roseburg, Or., tells the Goldendale Sentinel that $25,000 has been sunk in the scheme by residents of his town. He knows farmers who have sold their farms and invested their money, hoping thus to provide a sure income for their declining years. They have been obliged, in their poverty, to go into truck raising in competition with the omnipresent Chinaman.

Senator Hill, of New York, named for his only appointee Colonel John A. McEwen, of New York, who is to be principal legislative clerk in place of G. W. Johnson, of Minnesota. H. H. Gilfrey, of Oregon, has not been displaced in the senate, as erroneously stated. He is one of the seven designated to remain. It is scarcely to be expected that Charles Newell will remain. Gilfrey has served during the republican ascendancy in the senate with satisfaction, and though he looks like Senator Hill, that gentleman is not small enough to be affected by the fact.

The Astorian, of Astoria, has suspended publication. Its expense account was too big for its patronage, and it was not able to meet the bond times. A new type setting machine and a big mortgage were too much for it. The paper was forty years old, the daily thirteen or fourteen years of age. It was always a good paper. Mr. Parker sunk a small fortune in trying to keep it going until a railroad should boom matters. The suspension of the Astorian is a misfortune to that city, and the business men should have stood by it and kept it up.

The forest fires are now raging more furiously than ever known before in the Santiam country. One fire near Leedy's mill is making its way eastward and another north of Niagara is under good headway in the same direction, and three miles east of Idanha is another. The most furious one, and one that is spreading in all directions, is five miles up the Breitenbush. There is no possible chance of checking the fires until heavy rains set in. Millions of feet of fine timber will be destroyed in the mean time.—Journal.

J. A. Ramsdell, who with his family is camped near the gas works, on the river bank, was more or less injured by a kick from one of his playful horses, as he was leading them to water last evening. Mr. Ramsdell is a travelling missionary, who preaches that the time is now at hand when all the nations of the earth will be dashed to pieces as a potter's vessel. When asked by some ladies who came to his assistance, he replied, that he had a physician in the great healer of all ills. He is nursing a very sore side today.—Salem Journal.

The Corvallis News says: Word was received in this city yesterday announcing the death of R. N. Armstrong, which occurred at Seattle. Miss Morgan was a daughter of Congressman Morgan who was killed on the way to the Chicago convention last June as a delegate.—Salem Journal. Misses Morgan and Watson returned to Albany yesterday, where they are spending the summer with Mr. H. C. Watson.

MARRIED IN LINN COUNTY.—Yesterday Jas. L. Porter and Lulu Bell Cain were united in marriage at Harrisburg by Justice Frowell. The affidavit was sworn to by Fred Werner, and was to the effect that both were residents of Linn county. Inquiry has been made from Corvallis and it seems that they are residents of Monroe in Benton county. The bride is a daughter of Dr. Cain, and that there was some objection to the marriage, the couple running away to get married. Mr. Werner no doubt thought he was swearing to the truth. It is not known what the result will be.

POSITIVE RESULTS.—The element of faith which was at one time supposed to cut such an important figure in advertising has disappeared before the great mass of positive results which experience has brought to the business world. No man of sense any longer asks, does advertising pay? He might as well ask, "Does making money pay?" or "Does having all you want pay?" But the many questions with regard to the best method of advertising and the means to be employed to grasp and hold the attention of the public that arise before the practical advertiser, will readily convince him that the once-despised and neglected business has now become an art, and as such is deserving of the closest study.—Los Angeles Times.

THAT RECEIPT.—Yesterday, by order of the County Court, Treasurer Wallace gave up to Attorney General Chamberlain for the state of Oregon the much talked of receipt for the check for state taxes, not paid on account of the suspension of the Linn County National Bank, and the check was returned.

The people were kept under control in Seattle, and they were made to understand emphatically that the good of Seattle depended on their standing together, and they have done it. In connection with the successful fight to prevent runs on the bank a resident there says: "The women have caused more uneasiness than the men. They seem to get 'rattled,' and when a woman wants her money she wants it. There is no argument about Seattle that will keep a woman from taking all the money she has on deposit if she is scared."

The DEMOCRAT has been receiving some peculiar financial reports from Clap & Co. of New York City. As they sound very much as if written by a Boston girl we give a sample: Governmental responsibility for the many is only felt by the few. Partisanship emphasizes the power of executive place. Law crowns personality with discretion, and circumstances make it regal. Livelihood of many appears now in the hands of one. Losses of panic seem equal to robbery of protected industry. Power to end life only greater in degree than power to give means of living. Paralysis in finance appears now to be locking factory doors, stifling furnace fires, enfolding pick and shovel, and filling harvester and cotton gin with fear. Railway engines seem puffing with scorn at light burdens. Mortgages and tax warrants are beginning to take airs of landlord and owner. Pay envelopes begin to forget their mission. Roadside beds of many are curtailed only by the sky. Sorrow and sin commence to rejoice at defeat of their enemy, work. Disorder grimly reminds organization of its demands on order. The ghostly fingers of the rich man's folly panic drip with earnings of the prudent poor. Executive discretion appears to offer relief from industrial crisis likely to grow to permanent distress. Will it be exercised?
