

J. F. FORD, Evangelist,

BILL GROWING BRIGHTER.

The week closed last night with a better condition of affairs all around than for several weeks past.

Business is also looking up. The reports from the men on the road are as a rule much more favorable than had been expected.

The iron trade is not responding with any great strength as yet to the upward influence, but some mills that were closed have reopened tentatively.

Taken altogether the new business week will open tomorrow under more favorable circumstances than did any of its predecessors for two or three months.

A contemporary regards it as a striking symptom of materialism of the day that whenever a man kills himself there is a great surprise at his action.

The words of Agur, the son of Jakeh the oracle, are forgotten: "Give me neither poverty nor riches; feed me with the food that is needful for me."

Mr. Peffer the populist senator from Kansas has introduced a bill creating the department of education under the supervision of the secretary of education.

That confidence has been restored is evident from the reopening of a large number of banks and commercial houses that suspended operations last month.

Mr. Bland, of Missouri, the great free silver coinage advocate, says that notwithstanding the defeat of free coinage, he is still a democrat and will remain a steadfast adherent of the democratic party.

The Oregonian editor took snuff some days ago. But there is nothing remarkably strange in that, is there? Not at all.

A capital of $52,000,000 is invested in the nursery interest in 172,000 acres of land. In all horticultural pursuits the entire capital is estimated at over $1,000,000,000.

The wicked Hoke Smith still persists in his wickedness. Now he is cutting down the fees of the pension attorneys.

The Dalles Mountaineer speaking of the fact that a number of republicans assisted in repealing the Sherman law in the house says:

The attitude of the republican column was the only thing that saved the president and his secretary. There is no way of getting around that fact.

There is another fact which can not be ignored and we here and now call the attention of the Mountaineer to it. It is this: That the Sherman law which has been repealed was a republican measure in toto when it was passed.

Here is a question we have waited in vain for some of our republican friends to answer and we repeat it with the hope somebody will try to satisfy our curiosity.

Six states of the union are represented in the present congress entirely by native sons. They are Maine, Rhode Island, Delaware, Maryland, South Carolina and Louisiana.
