A dispatch from Pittsburg, Pennsylvania forecasts the coming of better times in the following way:

The Sligo Iron Mills, on the south side, will resume operations, double turn, on Tuesday. Eight hundred men will be employed.

Oliver & Roberts's wire and rod mill will start up on Wednesday, running double turn, for the first time since the summer shut-down.

The Tenth Street mill of the Oliver Iron and Steel Company will resume on Tuesday, double turn.

The mills of Dilworth, Porter & Co., and A. M. Byers & Co., which have been in partial operation, will also resume in full on Tuesday. A conservative estimate of the number of men that will be employed in these mills places the number at 3,000.

Carrie Furnace No. 2, at Keating Station, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railway, which has been idle almost a year, will be put in blast next week, giving employment to 200 workmen.

PARROT TALK ON THE INCOME TAX.

What is all this chatter we hear about the monarchical nature of an income tax? Does a tax which is levied in Switzerland and nearly every other republic become monarchical because it is levied in Great Britain?

The tariff is a favorite tax in almost every country ruled by king or queen. Is it therefore monarchical?

Monarchies tax tobacco and spirits. Must our internal-revenue system be abolished as monarchical?

There is not a monarchy under the sun but taxes real estate. Real estate taxes must also be monarchical.

And how about school taxes, road taxes, poll taxes and dog taxes? There are similar taxes in monarchies.

In fact what tax is there that has not been, is not or may not be levied under a monarchical form of government?

Shall the free and enlightened people of this great and glorious Republic be oppressed by such monarchical burdens? Never! Down with all taxes! They are monarchical!

This monarchical rubbish is monumental nonsense. There is no argument in the ceaseless repetition of an empty form of words. It is wearisome and should be stopped.

When sensible people are discussing a serious question the parrots' cages should be covered.

The Oregonian is remarkably hot under the collar, because, (as its editor claims to believe) the state board did the tax payers of Portland injustice in not reducing the assessment made in that county. The Democrat would like to see fair dealing in taxation. It is a cardinal tenet of democratic faith that taxation should be equal, and Portland should be treated fairly. The presumption is that the state board did right in the matter. But the Oregonian is stepped from complaining. Some years ago when Linn county was assessing mortgages at par, Multnomah was assessing them at 50 cents on the dollar. The Oregonian raised no protest against this injustice to the people of Linn county, but tacitly endorsed it, it even went so far as to say (so we are informed) that Linn county was the father of the mortgage tax law and that we ought to bear that burden as a punishment for passing such a law. But we do not believe that Multnomah is treated unfairly in their assessments this year. It is true that some property is assessed higher than it could now be sold for, but this is as true of Linn and other counties. It was manifest injustice on the part of the board to raise the value of town lots in Linn county 10 per cent. The trouble in Multnomah county was, that prior to the passage of the present assessment law that taxpayers of that county escaped much of their taxes by means of large deductions for indebtedness. Now they can not escape. The Oregonian was always in the lead waging heroic warfare against the law allowing deductions for indebtedness and the mortgage tax law. It secured the repeal of each. It now sees the result. Let it stop its incendiary threats and advise people to be law abiding citizens.

And now a convention of wool growers is to meet in Salem shortly to make formal protest against the passage of the Wilson tariff bill. They invite those who favor protection to hops, prunes, lumber and coal to meet with them. How cunning. The purpose is to appeal to all who are in the protection combine to unite against the Wilson bill. Well, when these selfish representatives of protected interests get together what proportion of the citizens of Oregon will they represent? Not one in thirty will they, when they meet together discuss the interests and rights of consumers? Not at all. Both will be wholly ignored. The rights of the great masses are never considered in assemblies of those who meet to promote the cause of protection. A man who will be so stupid as to say or believe that the interests of consumers are promoted by protection should be sent to an asylum for the insane. Selfishness is the whole foundation of the scheme of protection. Could the masses be heard at Washington as the classes are, there would be very little delay in passing the Wilson bill.

The Forum

"The Greatest of all our Periodicals." The foremost men of the world write the literature of contemporaneous activity for THE FORUM.

Every great subject is taken up by The Forum when it naturally comes into public attention and is treated by the best authorities, without regard to parties or creeds. It will keep any thoughtful reader informed on the tasks and problems of the time, as no other periodical does.

To many thoughtful people, the price of The Forum has hitherto been prohibitory; indeed all the great Reviews have been too high in price for the masses of intelligent readers. But now the number of readers of thoughtful literature—men and women who wish really to know what is going on in the world outside the narrow limits of particular sects and parties—is great enough in the United States to warrant so revolutionary a reduction in price. The Forum discusses important subjects, but it is not dull. The literature of contemporaneous activity is, in fact, the most interesting of all literature. American citizenship implies that a man shall know the opinions of the foremost men and the latest great achievements in every direction of activity.

SIZE AND QUALITY UNCHANGED.

The Forum is now as cheap as the magazines of mere entertainment. THE CHEAPEST, THE LARGEST, THE BEST, OF THE GREAT REVIEWS.
