GOOD EVENING.

A Pioneer's Death.

Mr. John Scott, of Tangent, died yesterday at the home of his son at that place, at the age of 84 years, practically of old age.

He was a pioneer of 1853, coming to Oregon from Iowa in that year. His wife died about twenty years ago. He leaves two sons and two daughters, Hon. J. H. Scott being one of his sons. The deceased was a man highly respected and will be remembered for the good deeds he did.

DISPLAYED NERVE.—About 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, "Miss Kitty" residing at Frankie Duffy's took a team from the stables of Turner & Davis, for a ride, intending to stop for a young man at Duffy's, but she didn't stop. The team left the stables and immediately took it into their heads that they would like a spin. Probably a team never went through Second street as fast as that one. The intrepid driver instead of getting excited held the horses in the track, turning the corner at Main street and then at the Salem road, never stopping until they had run two or three miles in the country after being run down. Those who saw it expected to hear of a general smash up, but not a thing was broken.

BACK FROM OMAHA.—J. R. Douglas, the expert gardener and raiser of big vegetables, on the Santiam has returned home from a trip to Nebraska, Kansas and Iowa. He reports good crops in eastern Kansas and Nebraska and in Iowa, but poor in western Nebraska and Kansas. He was at the Omaha exposition, which he reports a great thing with a big attendance from all over the United States. The Oregon exhibit is excellent in canned goods, the best there in cereals and there is a good display of minerals, but it lacks just what it should have now, fresh fruit and vegetables. The man in charge implored him to see that something was sent at once, and this should be done if we would have a great advantage from the exhibit, the chance of a life time.

This is the dull season and the best time to have photos made. Call at Miss Long's gallery and see her samples.

Hamilton of Portland, to Miss Lucile Burkhart, of Covington, Tenn., on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Clara Strackman. The house was prettily decorated with Oregon grape, sweet peas and roses. The marriage ceremony was pronounced at 9 o'clock by Rev. W. O. Forbes, of the Albina Presbyterian church, in the presence of a small number of the friends and relatives of the contracting parties.

COMMITTED SUICIDE.

George Butler, an Old Saloon Keeper at Harrisburg, Ends His Life in the River.

A small boy at Harrisburg, yesterday afternoon, found the body of a man in the river, in about three feet of water, caught in a root. A while before, in the direction of the river, a couple of shots had been heard. Investigation revealed the fact that it was the body of George Butler, who had run a saloon at that place for about twenty years. The body was left undisturbed and the coroner, Mr. Norman, at this city, sent for. He went up on the noon train prepared to call a jury and examine into the case. A telephone message from Harrisburg gave the information that the circumstances all indicated suicide. Butler's license ran out last week, and the city council had decided not to renew it. He had become despondent, and had made remarks that leave little doubt in the matter. He had probably waded into the river and shot himself, thus making sure of death.

Several hours before the suicide he had told some friends that he was going to buy a suit of clothes and go to Portland, today.

Mr. Butler was 70 years of age and was well known through the county. A good many years ago he was a resident of Albany running a harness and saddlery shop here. He leaves a wife and one son.

ASHINGTON.—Yesterday's deaths at Santiago were eleven.

Del Lampman's Trouble.

From the Mercury: Dell Lampman, proprietor of the Cuba show at 65 Third street was arrested one day this week for obstructing the sidewalk by displaying an advertisement sign across the sidewalk. He put up $5 in cash bail which he forfeited in the police court. Mr. Lampman is conducting an electric panorama, a good show, which is attended by the best people in the city. Along side of Lampman's show is a fake Klondike on fitting store with a banner across the sidewalk. This latter house was not paid. Neither were several other houses with signs across the sidewalk on Third street.

Ike's Invention.

Isaac Fogel has invented an ingenious contrivance as a substitute for the electric fan, which, in order that the overheated humanity may have the benefit of it, he will not patent. The contrivance is so simple in construction that any boy can make one. Two thin boards are suspended from the ceiling, and to the foot of each is attached an oblong-shaped, cloth-covered frame, something like the sides of a transparency. The boards are connected by ropes, and by a gentle motion they can be kept moving and a good current of air obtained.—Oregonian. Isaac used to live in Albany and we suspect this is one of his jokes.

Dr. O. B. Reese, of Brownsville, has been getting some notoriety by advising the government how to name its war vessels. He wanted the Cristobal Colon named Honolulu, and some one else no doubt would like to have it named something else. Whereas the government has a law on the subject and follows it.

Farmers and others having fruit or vegetables for sending to the Omaha exhibition will do a service to the county by bringing them to Albany and leaving them at the office of Halbert & Finch who will see that they are shipped to the exposition properly. Upon complaint of Clemens & Bradley, cattle buyers, R. H. and W. J. Scodgrass were arrested at Harrisburg Saturday by Constable Strairer on the charge of obtaining money under false pretenses. Clemens & Bradley allege that they bought some cattle of the defendants paying for the same, and that the defendants had then refused to deliver them. The case will be tried before Justice Powell Wednesday at 1 p. m.

While working in a well yesterday Luke Hosslet, who resides about six miles west of Eugene, met with an accident of a very serious nature. A heavy stick fell from the top of the well and Hosslet at bottom, 25 feet below, hearing a noise looked up in time to catch its full force in his face. His nose was broken, the right cheek and lip cut besides having his whole face smashed as badly as if he had been in a finish fight.—Eugene Guard.

Hon. Binger Herman will be in Oregon in the near future, says an exchange. That will be entirely proper. He is entitled to come to his home state at least once a year, and should. It is declared though by some of the papers that he is here just to lay his ropes for the U. S. senatorship. One paper goes so far as to say that he is increasing salaries here with that in view, creating new offices and doing such things generally. The Democrat isn't posted on the subject.
