A GROWING PARTY.

President Wilson pointed out in his Indianapolis address that, while the Democratic party is a minority party, as the Republicans scornfully maintain, the G. O. P. is even more a minority party, and the independent voter holds the balance of power.

In other words, the Democratic vote was relatively larger than it was in the presidential year, in spite of the great Republican gains in the House due to the disintegration of the Progressive party and the return of Roosevelt voters to their allegiance.

In view of these facts the Republican National Committee, which has already elected its presidential candidate for 1916, on paper may find it expedient to revise its figures.

The Law Governing Saving Deposits in This Bank.

Any bank combining any of the business of a commercial bank, trust company and savings bank shall keep separate books or accounts for each department, and shall keep all moneys received as such deposits, and the funds and securities in which the same are invested, at all times segregated from and unmingled with the other moneys and funds of the bank, and all bonds, warrants, notes, mortgages, deeds and other securities of every nature of such savings department shall be marked, stamped or labeled "savings department," or some similar words. All funds, investments and other assets of the savings department shall be held solely for the repayment of the depositors in said department and shall not be liable for, pledged as security for, or used to pay any other obligation or liability of the bank until after the payment in full of all depositors of said savings department.

The savings deposits of any bank maintaining a savings department may be invested only in bonds, warrants and mortgages.

Business is slack in Tangent, farmers as a rule are staying quite close at home on account of the bad condition of the roads.

A very necessary change was made on rural route No. 2 from Tangent, which gives everyone on the route but one, their mail at their door in place of going from one-fourths to three-fourths of a mile for their mail.

GEOLOGIST DISCUSSES CAUSE OF ITALIAN QUAKE

Shaking Kingdom Has Not Seen Its Last Tremor by Any Means Says Warren D. Smith.

University of Oregon, Eugene, Jan. 19.—The earthquake that caused the deaths of more than 30,000 persons in Italy was perhaps due to a shifting or dropping of some rock fault, according to Dr. Warren D. Smith, professor of geology at the University of Oregon and member of the Seismographical Society of America.

Dr. Smith makes the reservation, however, that exact details are not yet at hand.

"Italian geologists have found throughout Italy weak spots in the earth's crust. A line drawn through these spots follows certain rock formations or structural lines, and the greatest disturbances have occurred at the intersections of some of these tectonic lines," says Dr. Smith.

"It has recently been demonstrated that there is a measurable rock tide caused by the same attractive forces that produce the ocean tides, and the reason this tide is not detected by the naked eye is that the crust of the earth is incomparably more rigid than the surface of the ocean, and the accumulation of stresses in the rocks finally results in a giving way at some points, the points naturally being the weak ones in the crust of the earth. They line along the borders of the ocean and usually in the portions of the earth geologically newest.

"Italy is situated in one of these newest portions of the earth, as are also California, the Philippines, the west coast of South America, and other countries.

"In development of the rock tide theory, the geologist Ferret says that at certain times when some of the heavenly bodies get into a straight line, the pull becomes so great on the weak spots of the earth's surface that movement results along the faults. This theory is now upheld by a great many geologists, and at Potsdam, Germany, geologists have actually measured the rock tide."

"That this is not the last earthquake Italy will have, by any means, is Dr. Smith's belief.

"The people in certain parts of Italy have been warned to move their cities. This was the case with Messina, where a few years ago an earthquake and subsequent tidal wave caused great loss of life and property. Scientists are now able to tell by seismograph records the location and intensity of earthquakes in distant parts of the world before the telegraph wires bring the news, and have also been able to predict where the next disturbance was most likely to occur. The next step will be to predict when the earthquakes will come and thus make possible a preparation to escape them," says Dr. Smith.

SAVES BLAZING CHURCH.

Pastor Crane Boas Bolt Hit Steeple and Rushes to Rescue.

Pittsfield, Mass.—The Rev. William Merriam Crane, pastor of the Congregational church here, said to be the wealthiest minister in Berkshire county, saved his church from burning when it was struck by lightning. A bolt landed on the steeple and played up and down the sides. It cut a six foot gash in the tower and in its course tore plaster and latting from the walls.

Mr. Crane, from Morningside, his country place, saw the bolt, hurried to the church in his automobile and climbed into the belfry. There he found a fire starting and quickly put it out, unaided.
