church parlors on Wednesday. The study of "The Child of the Mist" was taken up, followed by a discussion and social hour. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. C. H. Stewart, Miss Patterson and Miss Laura McBride.

Mrs. Ben Taylor was hostess for the ladies of the Missionary Society of the Grace Presbyterian church on Friday. An hour was passed in study and in the late afternoon dainty refreshments were served.

A few young people of Albany College went across the river last night, built a bon fire, around which they made merry and roasted marshmallows.

Mrs. John Bryant of East Fifth street entertained the members of the Nuth club on Friday. It is a new club and six members were present at the first meeting. The rooms were decorated with baskets of pussy-willows. After the initiation, the young ladies passed a few hours in sewing and music, followed by choice refreshments. Those present were: Messdames Charles Essex, Lloyd Marquam, Rollin Hackleman, Carl Canfield, Frank Eyroods, and the hostess.

Mr. Francis Howard gave a stag party to several of his friends last night. The first part of the evening was passed in music, followed by a dainty repast, after which the young men attended the moving picture show. Mr. Frank Wills and Mr. Charles Essex were stag-masters. Those present were Messrs. Lee Hulbert, Clarence Wills, Ernest McKinney, Robert Boetticher, Merrill Ohlring, David Wieder, and Fred Aldrich.

A very pretty affair of the week was the Elks' dance, given last night for the Elks and their families. The hall was attractively decorated for the occasion with yellow chrysanthemums and the lodge colors, purple and white. Hendershott's orchestra (Eugene) played and the grand march was led by Mr. Parker and his daughter, Miss Almina Parker.

The Missionary Society of the First Presbyterian church met with Mrs. John Shaw on Wednesday. Miss Flora Mason gave a book review on "The Lure of America" and Mrs. Walton Worrell read an interesting paper on "The Why and How of Foreign Missions." After a short discussion and social hour, a dainty collation was served.

FOUR INTERMEDIATE TEAMS PLAY AT ALBANY Y. M. C. A.

The intermediate basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. has started operations, and four of the six teams in the league clashed last night for the opening games of the series. The team captained by John Hollingsworth won from Marion Boetticher's five by a score of 12 to 8, while Raymond Nebergall's quintette beat the team led by Roy Eastburn to the tune of 26 to 12.

Physical director McDonald says that the games last night were the best that have been put on at the Albany Y. M. C. A. this winter.
