Mrs. Bert Davis dispensed her charming hospitality on Friday to the ladies of her card club, at her home, 717 Madison street. "500" was the game played at three tables, and at the close a dainty repast was served. The decorations in the rooms were green, shamrocks being used in evidence, appropriate for the season. The St. Patrick idea was carried out in the green baskets for the girls, shamrocks on the napkins and the tea served. The latter part of the afternoon was passed in music and a social time. The members of the club include Mesdames A. Bowers, Whinnery, Moore, Baltimore, Knox, Bodine, Ellsworth, Inman, Inman, Bert Davis, Misses Emma and Clara Buchner, Corman Knox and Ruth Bodine. The hostess re-entertained on this occasion Mesdames Grayham (Mexico) Lyon, Walton, Boardman, and Alexander. Miss Hazel Boardman assisted the hostess in serving.

A very pretty affair of the week was the card party given by the members of the Elks' ladies "500" club on Wednesday, for their husbands, in the parlors in the Elks' temple. "500" was the game played at ten tables. The decorations in the rooms were in green and white, shamrocks being used also, suggestive of this season of the year. Mrs. M. Sanders was awarded the lady's prize of the evening, a dainty luncheon was served, the St. Patrick idea being carried out in the menu also.

A large crowd of the Rebekahs of local lodge went to Corvallis on Monday, in the auto truck, to attend the reception given by the Corvallis Rebekahs, in honor of the state assembly president. Mrs. Kate Lando, of Marshfield. Those making the trip were Mesdames Doris Bowers, Ella Merrill, Lynch, A. C. Van Nuys, A. L. Geddes, Elsie Brooks, School, J. W. Swank, Misses Benah Hickey, Florence Eastburn, Nancy Ralston, Gertrude Swank, Pansy Stewart, Minnie Merrill, Velma Lawrence, Messrs. A. C. Van Nuys, W. Francis, and Porten.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Monson entertained at cards on Tuesday at their home 226 West Sixth street. "500" was the game played, during the evening and the guests made up seven tables. Mrs. O. D. Austin won the lady's prize and Mr. E. M. Pugh was awarded the gentleman's prize. At a late hour the hostess, assisted by Mrs. E. C. Brandberry, served a dainty repast.

The ladies of the Needlecraft club were pleasantly entertained on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Ralph McKeechie, at her home 317 East Fourth street. The ladies sewed for a few hours, followed by a social time, after which choice refreshments were served. Mrs. Roy French was elected a new member of the club.

Miss Elizabeth Irvine was hostess for the Modern Travelers this afternoon. The roll call was responded to with "Verses on Spring" and Mrs. J. K. Weatherford read a paper on "Woman's Part in a Better and More Beautiful City." Mrs. C. V. Litter gave a talk on "Birds and Bird Life in Oregon," after which refreshments were served.

Mrs. W. F. Jones of East Fifth street entertained the members of the Kensington club on Thursday. The rooms were prettily decorated with daffodils. The ladies brought their sewing and passed a few pleasant hours together, followed by music and choice refreshments. The hostess complimented on this occasion: Mesdames E. B. Small, Leroy Parker, Clyde Williamson, and Nokes.

Misses Grace Ebertine and Edna Laubner were hostesses for the D. P. M. girls of the Methodist church on Tuesday, in the church parlors. After a business session, the young ladies passed a few pleasant hours together in sewing, followed by refreshments. Mrs. Milt McGuire of McMinnville and Mrs. R. A. McCully of Hood River were honored guests.

Mrs. Gatewood entertained the members of the Tell-Kare club on Thursday at her home on the Santiam Road. Needlework was the diversion of the afternoon followed by refreshments, served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Wade. Nine members were present and the complimented guests were Mesdames Hart, Wade Peters and Wheeler.

The ladies of the Wednesday Book club and their husbands were entertained at a "covered dish supper" this week, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilkins on Calapooia street. The latter part of the evening was devoted to playing cards. The complimented guests were: Mr. and Mrs. B. Essex, Mr. and Mrs. McDowell and Miss Weatherford.

Miss Gladys Chandler was hostess at an informal dinner party on Tuesday, at her home on Calapooia street. Covers were laid for Misses Nelson McDonald, Gladys Chandler, Robert Stewart, and Seth French. The latter part of the evening was passed in music and games.

Mrs. Charles H. Stewart entertained for the members of the Tuesday club this week. The afternoon was pleasantly passed in sewing and a social hour, followed by refreshments.

On Tuesday evening the Historical Society of Albany met in the library. The program was very interesting. Mrs. F. M. French having read a paper on the "Early Settlement of Oakville." Mrs. John McChesney read one on "Early History of the Methodist Church," and Judge Stewart on "Some of the early inhabitants of Linn County."

The D. A. R. met with Mrs. J. T. Wentworth on Monday, at her home on Ellsworth street. A short business session was held, which was followed by a social hour and choice refreshments.

Miss Inez Cross of Portland, a member of the Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority, was the guest of Miss Hutchinson at Tremont Hall on Tuesday. Miss Cross is to make her home in Salt Lake.

The Retail Merchants gave a banquet on Tuesday at the Hotel St. Francis. Several speeches were made and reports of the different committees given.

The Rural Ladies club met with Mrs. Ella McFarland on Thursday. Sewing was the pastime of the afternoon, brought to a close by serving a dainty collation. Those present were: Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Ashton and daughter, Mrs. Virgil Looney and daughter, Barber, Shirley, Conn and McFarland.

The members of the Lafolet club met with Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Barker on Ellsworth street Monday evening. "500" was the game played at four tables, and at a late hour a dainty collation was served.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Christian church met in the church parlors on Wednesday, for an afternoon work.

Mrs. Norris E. Dowd of Sunrise entertained the ladies of the S. S. S. club this week. Sewing was the pastime of the afternoon, followed by a social hour and choice refreshments.

Mrs. L. L. Swan was hostess for the members of the Entre Nous club and several additional guests on Tuesday at the Hotel Albany. "Bridge" was the game played at eight tables and at the close of the afternoon, a dainty repast was served.

Mesdames Reed Walworth and M. P. Cady were hostesses to the ladies of the First Presbyterian church on Wednesday, at the Walworth home, 238 West Fifth street. Sewing, interspersed with music was the diversion of the afternoon, after which a dainty repast was served.

Mrs. C. H. Essex of West Fifth street entertained the ladies of the Baptist church at a "ten cent tea" on Thursday. Fancy-work, followed by a social hour was the pastime of the afternoon and refreshments were served.

The Holiday Dancing Club have issued invitations for the fourth dance in a series of five, to be given Saturday evening, March 20th, in Bussard's Hall.

On Wednesday, the installation of officers of the Y. W. C. A. of the Albany College took place in Fremont Hall. The honorary members were the guests of honor. After a short business session, and a short program, refreshments were served.

A dinner party was given Friday in Tremont hall in honor of Misses Nelson McDonald and Maude Rolfe, the occasion being their birthday. Covers were laid for the sixteen members in the hall and Misses Gladys Chambers, Gladys McKnight, Dona Cushman and Flora Mason.

The Shakespeare club met in its regular session on Thursday, at the home of Mrs. D. H. Bodine. Mrs. W. H. Holman read the synopsis of the play "Merry Wives of Windsor" and the reading of act one was led by Mrs. J. K. Weatherford, which was followed by a short discussion.

The music lovers of Albany filled the Baptist church Wednesday evening to hear the three young musicians from Salem who were presented by the teacher-training class of the Baptist Sunday school. Every number on the program was a gem and all the selections were presented in a manner that showed excellent training and exceptional ability. Miss Marguerite Flower, the little blind singer, possesses a rare lyric soprano voice that is little short of marvelous in one so young. Miss Mary Schultz displayed skill with the violin that bespeaks for her a brilliant future in her chosen line of endeavor. Miss Bertrice Sauter, at the piano, added her full quota to the success of the entertainment. Miss Sauter is a talented musician and does particularly clever work as a pianist. The young ladies made many friends in Albany who will be glad to see them again.

The Grace chapter of the Guild of the Grace Presbyterian church met Wednesday evening with Mrs. Roy Gentry, at her home on East Second street. The discussion of the "Redman and his White Neighbors" was taken up, after which the election of officers took place which resulted as follows: President, Miss Maud Bryant; vice president, Mrs. Edward Viereck; secretary, Miss Hall; treasurer, Miss Sandstrom; patronesses, Mesdames J. D. Bryant, D. W. Taylor and F. L. Frazer. Mrs. Ralph Knotts and Miss Henrich were elected delegates to the Willamette Presbytery meeting to be held in Eugene in April. This election was followed by a social time, after which dainty refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. B. Veal entertained the members of the "covered dish club" on Wednesday at an elaborate dinner, in celebration of their sixth wedding anniversary. The rooms were transformed into a Japanese garden with lanterns, trailing vines, palms and blooming hyacinths. One could easily have imagined herself in a home in the Orient, with such fragrance of the spring flowers as were in evidence in the Veal home. The dining table was artistically decorated with white, green, shamrocks, nut cups, and green shaded candles, in keeping with the St. Patrick season. Covers were laid for Messrs. and Mesdames A. Austin, Grant Pirtle, O. D. Austin, Walton Worrell, F. C. Pate, Riggs, F. M. French, D. Bussard, Glen Junkins, Veal and Mrs. Hand. The latter part of the evening was passed in playing cards.

On Thursday, fifty young ladies of the domestic science class of the Albany high school, went to Corvallis to visit the same department in the Oregon Agricultural College. Miss Moore, a teacher of domestic science, met the Albany visitors at the station and took them to the college, where she was joined by a few of the teachers and several students and at once they began to explain the work that was being done by the different departments, cooking, sewing and the laundry work, being of special interest. At noon the Albany friends were entertained at luncheon at Waldo and

DON'T BE TOO LATE!
Of Great Importance to Intending Piano Purchasers.

On Tuesday last we shipped from Corvallis a number of fine pianos that we had in our agent's store there. We are very proud of the instruments we are showing here, in fact a customer has a choice from many of the world's best pianos—a selection to choose from that would do credit to a city many times the size of Albany.

Many Are Buying. This is the greatest Sale of highest grade pianos Albany has ever known.

Mr. E. R. Van Dyke is forced through other interests to leave here. We could go on at these prices selling a great many pianos, but as we stated in our opening advertisement, the stock is limited and we positively will not ship duplicates at the prices marked plainly on each instrument.

If you have not the ready money we will wait on you.

Don't be disappointed—be one of the fortunate ones—see the $400.00 piano now offered for $196.00 on $6.00 per month payments. See the $750.00 Eilers Bungalow player-piano now for $485.00, with $25.00 worth of free music included. Remember Eilers Music House, the nation's largest piano dealers, are back of every piano in this sale.

You have their guarantee of one year's free trial. Store open evenings.
