o'clock "tea" was served in a "model Cawthorne Halls. After luncheon the laboratories were visited and at three Dining Room," by a few members of the cooking class, after which the guests returned home, having spent a day which was very interesting and instructive. The college teachers and students were very courteous and attentive to their friends, in showing them through the buildings, explaining the work of the departments and providing such an appetizing luncheon and the Albany girls appreciated it very much. Mesdames Boettcher, Lloyd Marquam and Miss Thordarson chaperoned the party.

Several friends of Mrs. Virgil Hackleman surprised her last night, the occasion being her birthday. The guests, in a crowd, arrived at the Hackleman home, dressed as children, carrying their dolls with them and sticks of candy. Games and music were very much enjoyed by the "little ones" and the refreshments served were in keeping with the occasion. Many pretty little frocks were worn and the evening passed all too quick. Those present were: Mesdames Hackleman, Baltimore, Tom Alexander, F. H. Waite, Bert Davis, J. H. Wood, W. Rombo, and Kroschell.

Mrs. Charles B. Essex was hostess for the members of the "Neous Numph" club on Friday. The rooms were prettily decorated with daffodils. The afternoon was pleasantly passed in sewing and music, solos being rendered by Mrs. Lloyd Marquam and Mrs. Essex, followed by dainty refreshments. The members are: Mesdames John Bryant, Frank Eyroff, Edward Vierck, Alvin Carnegie, Joe Warner, Lloyd Marquam, Earl Canfield, Rollin Hackleman, C. B. Essex. The honored guests were: Mesdames Laughhead (Montana), John Neely and Miss Ellen Petty (California).

On Tuesday, the Kewpie club girls enjoyed a "covered dish supper" at the home of Miss Blanche Earl, 104.

East Fourth street Place cards marked covers for Misses Anita Conn, Esther McChesney, Olive Millhollen, Euanche Reagan, Velma and Alice Launson, Beluah Richardson, Herry Van Tassel, Hildegard Spillman, and Blanche Earl. The latter part of the evening was passed at the Rolfe theater.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Grace Presbyterian church met on Wednesday with Mrs. Price on the Santiam Road. The rooms were decorated for the occasion in green vines, shamrocks and flowers. In keeping with the season of the year, Sewing and music were the diversions of the afternoon and refreshments served.

The Forget-me-not Mission Band of the Grace Presbyterian church met this afternoon with Miss Genevieve Taylor. The subject of the meeting was the "Immigrant Children." After a discussion and social hour, refreshments were served.

A large event of the week was the dinner presided over by Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Schmitt on Tuesday to the members of the Monday club and several additional guests. At six-thirty supper was served in cafeteria style. Dr. W. H. Lee read the paper of the evening, the subject being "Moral and Religious Influence in the Public Schools." It was a splendid paper and the discussion of it was led by Dr. Gaeblbracht and Professor O. V. White.

Mrs. J. S. Van Winkle entertained for the H. D. W. club members on Thursday. Sewing, interspersed with music was the diversion of the afternoon, followed by refreshments. The hostess complimented on this occasion, Mesdames Bert Moe (Portland), Jones and Moe.

Misses Velma Davis and Anna Abraham are passing the week-end in Portland.

Misses Inez Lemke and Mary Parker left yesterday afternoon for Eugene to pass the week end. They will be guests at the Delta Gamma house.

The members of the Monday Bridge club entertained this afternoon at the home of Mrs. P. R. Kelly on Lyon street.

Mrs. Z. Rudd was hostess for the members of the Twentieth Century club on Friday. The ladies brought their fancy work and passed a few pleasant hours together, in a social way, after which dainty refreshments were served.

The Christian church was the scene of a jolly sing party on Friday, when the Loyal Sons entertained several of their friends. These young men have started a campaign to get more boys to come out to Sunday school. An elaborate banquet was served at eight o'clock. Mr. Irving Hood was toastmaster of the occasion and several toasts were responded to by Rev. Mr. Fagan and three bible students of Eugene, and also by the different members of the class. Much credit is due to the committee in charge of the affair, Messrs. George Parker, Lyndon Myers, George Wilson, James Grigsby and Roy Eastburn, as it was a great success. After the banquet, a large box of food was sent to a family in need, in East Albany.

Mesdames H. C. Harkness, Lan and McKillop were hostesses for the ladies of the Home Missionary Society of the Methodist church on Wednesday, at the Harkness home. The subject of the afternoon was "The Ped Man and his White Neighbor." Several papers were read, which was followed by a social time and refreshments.

A rare treat is in store for Albany music lovers on April fifth, when the Woman's Musical club, under the direction of Dr. W. H. Lee, will be heard in a concert in the First Presbyterian church. Miss Bachelder of Portland will be the accompanist.

Mrs. W. G. Orlist, of Knox Butte, was a pleasant hostess to the members of the Birthday club at her home on Wednesday afternoon. A social afternoon was enjoyed after which a choice luncheon was served. Those present were Mesdames Jensen, Jamison, I. Landers, J. W. Pröbst, Broker, W. C. Jackson, Wm. Caldwell, C. Smith, J. Burkhardt, W. G. Orlist, Misses Margaret Giesendorfer, Agnes Dickson, Dora Dickson, Clara Cornelius, Ethel Landers, Jamison, and Anna Orlist.

Mrs. A. J. Caldwell of Knox Butte, was hostess to the Sunshine Circle at her home on Thursday afternoon. After the regular work of the circle new officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. O. B. Marshall; vice president, Mrs. A. W. Martin; Secretary, Mrs. L. G. Cox; assistant secretary, Mrs. J. Mills. Luncheon was served by the hostess. The members present were Mesdames O. B. Marshall, G.

"Today" a Fine Play.

"Today" was presented at the Albany Opera House last night before what may properly be termed "a small but very appreciative audience." The audience was so small, in fact that it is a wonder that the actors got their lines across the footlights at all. It is to be deplored that when such a splendid play presented by a company of the worth of last night's performers comes to this city that no more than a corporal's guard turns out to see it. Truly "Today" was all that the advance reports claimed it to be and more, and deserved a packed house. A prominent theatrical man made the remark the other day that the large part of the theater-going public in Albany lacks information as to what the really good plays are and who are worth while among the players, and fail to discern between the good things that come here and the cheap attractions. A week from next Friday "Peg o' My Heart" will be seen here, and before the middle of April we will have a corking good comedy in "Potash and Pearlmutter," and "A Modern Eve" a good musical comedy. It is hoped that these plays will be supported according to their merits, to the end that Albany may continue to be favored with first class attractions.

Last night's play deals with New York society life as it is during the present age, and shows what a woman's love for clothes and finery will lead to. The young husband, who comes from poor German parents, makes a success in business and in a few years becomes wealthy. He and his wife, together with his parents, live in elegant style and enjoy the best and most luxurious of comforts. But through extending his credit too far he gets in on deals deeper than he can care for and a financial stringency puts him out of business and reduces him to poverty. The main part of the story deals with his effort to win back his fortune, but his wife refuses to stay content with her lot. Through the influence of a supposed friend she gets involved with a fast set and sells herself to provide money for her extravagant tastes and amusements. The dramatic climax comes when the husband meets his wife in the apartments of one of her friends and suddenly learns the truth. A fine piece of emotional acting takes place at the end of which Frederick Wagner encounters his wife and facing her with her infidelities kills her with his bare hands.

The entire cast is splendid, every member handling their lines in a finished and pleasing manner.
