GIVEN OBJECT LESSONS.

Down in California they have been giving the school children a practical education by taking them to Sacramento to see a real legislature in action. This has been done in Oregon a few times. It is an up to date idea, a demonstrator, with an open vision of things. More and more it is being learned that theory is one thing and practice another. Sometimes they mix, but about as often they do not. A sight of a state legislature sometimes is a revelation, but really the workings of a legislature are under cover. The real legislature is out of sight. The accomplishments are often in the committee rooms where there is opportunity for deliberations and other things which spike names to them. It might be a good thing if school children could be shown some of the inside methods of politicians of a certain order, who work with double faces and peanuts in their pockets, as an example and warning for future use.

THE PRIZE FIGHT GAME.

The prize fighting is not a business to be commended, as conducted. It is a rough affair at the best. And yet, people universally take an interest in it, and when a big engagement is pulled off, all over the country people cannot help showing their interest. The recent fight between Johnson and Willard was such a contest. The life Johnson has been leading is not one that has met with appreciation. In fact it has been severely criticised. The fellow was about run out of the country. His defeat has therefore met with general favor. This makes Willard a favorite from a prize fighting standpoint. It offers a splendid opportunity to show the kind of stuff he is made of. If he keeps away from wine and other forms of dissipation he may continue to remain a prize fighting hero but if he succumbs to the usual prize fighting associations and goes the path so many take he will meet with the fate of most prize fighters.

MISFITS

Albany has some of the finest millinery stores in the state.

It takes running, but one has to keep up with the procession in matters of style.

A good-looking head gear makes the whole person attractive.

A tramp in a silk hat, though would be somewhat of a joke.

The best dresser is the one well balanced.

Paris continues to lead the world in fashion, but it is bayonets.

Cash counts continuously.

If the tipping business is the proper thing, the newspaper office ought to be the premier tippee.

Chairman Fisher keeps fishing after trash. It must go.

Little quarrels sound mighty disagreeable when other people are the star performers.

Catching sight of the faults of others is easier than catching cold in a draft.

If you really must be a critic look in a mirror.

Grange Meeting.

Western Star Grange No. 309 held the regular meeting Saturday, April 3rd. About forty were present. The ordinary business was transacted and a committee appointed to look into the feasibility of a more thorough organization of the grange for the purpose of buying and selling. Following are the names of the committee: J. L. Applegate, Archie Miller and William Laubner.

After dinner a class of four were initiated in the first and second degrees. Following initiation an excellent program was rendered including a debate by the young men, which was very interesting. These debates which have only recently been undertaken are creating a good deal of interest and the zest with which the young men enter into them is most commendable.

The Queen's Maids—

Miss Mary Warrington, queen of the May of Albany College, has appointed the following assistants: Misses Helen Hulbert, Gladys McKnight, Vesta Lamb and Nelson McDonald. Irvin Custer will be master of ceremonies.

DO NOT FORGET the big auction sale of jewelry every afternoon and evening at C. O. Anderson's jewelry store.

City News

Miss Batchelor Returned—

Miss Frances Batchelor, of Portland, who made good last night in the library benefit concert, returned to Portland this forenoon on the 10 o'clock electric. Miss Batchelor, besides being an accomplished pianist is a young lady of very pleasing personality, making many friends on her first Albany trip. Miss Batchelor brought her piano with her, a fine Mason & Hamlin grand.

Real Estate Deals—

Walker and Hofflich, Eugene real estate firm, report the transfer of 120 acres near Meadowview, Ore., belonging to the Valley Investment Co., for two modern residences in Corvallis and one in Albany belonging to A. W. Dockstader of Corvallis. The consideration was $12,000. Mr. Dockstader and family expect to take up their residence in Eugene in the near future.

The Gov. has a Roadster—

Gov. Withycombe was in the city this morning on his way back to Salem from a Corvallis visit, his folks residing there yet. He reports enjoying his new work, though he is kept busy at his office from ten to twelve hours a day looking after the interests of the state. As a means of recreation he has just bought a fine roadster, preferring a horse to an auto and will drive evenings around the country in the suburbs of the capital.

Funeral of Nellie Welch—

The funeral of Miss Nellie Welch, who died at St. Mary's hospital yesterday will be held tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock at Fortmiller Bros. chapel. The remains will be taken to Lebanon on the noon train and burial will be in the Lebanon cemetery in the afternoon.

A 10 1-2 Pound Boy—

There was born this morning at St. Mary's hospital, a ten and a half pound boy, to Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Falk, of this city. The grandfather, L. E. Falk, of Grey, arrived this morning to see his new grandchild. All doing well.

Potato Market Firm—

J. D. Ellis went to Portland and other places along the way on a potato trip. Mr. Ellis reports the market firm, with prices ranging from $1.10 per hundred to $1.25. Earlier in the season the price was down on account of large quantities of potatoes shipped in from Idaho and Montana, where the crop was large, while in the valley it was only about a half. He looks for a still firmer market before the new potatoes arrive.

Attending the Boehnke-Walker—

Miss Belle Thompson, of Mill City, formerly of this city, returned this morning to Portland to resume her studies in the Boehnke-Walker school, after being home on a few days' visit. She is one of about fifteen hundred students in the school. The Boehnke-Walker Business College is now said to be the leading one on the coast, a great success. Mr. Walker of the school is a former Albany college instructor, going from here to Portland, where he helped establish the college.

DOINGS OF THE WORLD.

Yesterday St. Johns voted by a majority of 302 to come into Portland. Portland in June will vote on ratification of this.

Fred Smith, celebrated in Y. M. C. A. work, is in the Northwest, at Portland yesterday.

An investigation at Chicago reveals the fact that Pullman porters receive $27.50 a month. On this wage many of them are said to get rich.

W. A. Bell was elected mayor of Eugene yesterday.

Abe Attell, a former world's light weight champion, was in Portland yesterday when the news of the war between Johnson and Willard was received.
