SATURDAY NIGHT THOUGHTS.

The war this week has probably been fiercer than before during the contest. At first we saw it more distinctly and it looked frightful; but we have gotten so used to it that even though bloody it does not impress us as it did at first. Here is Shakespeare changed around to fit the case: "War is a monster of such hideous mien as to be hated needs but to be seen, yet, seen too oft, familiar with its fact, we first endure, then pity, then embrace." The truth is a crucial contest is now on. The allies are fighting their best on the west in order to keep all the German strength there possible, while on the east the Russians are pushing forward with all the power they can command. The game is to make or break, if possible to end the awful affair, and there is a universal desire that something may happen to terminate the unholy contest.

While basking in fine weather in Oregon, along the Atlantic there has been a terrific storm doing much damage.

Dispatches indicate that "times" are steadily improving, and that confidence is on the increase, men more and more feeling that they can trust each other.

Down in Mexico one of the sides received a terrific blow. It was Villa who has received so much attention heretofore as a great winner. This whole Mexican affair is a foolish one, with absolutely nothing to call for it.

A live campaign is being made in Albany to promote the growers' union. This is probably the best thing ever started here of a general nature, covering a want that is absolute, certain and emphatic, without any ifs or ands. Jump into this furit wagon with you fifty dollar piece.

The fiftieth anniversary of the surrender of Gen. Lee to Gen. Grant was celebrated this week, recalling the marvelous changes of fifty years. The bitterness of fifty years ago has been superseded by a fellowship that is general and clean.

Whatever it is we want it pure. There is impurity all around us and in us; but, nevertheless, the thing that counts most is cleanliness, and this applies to everything from butter to human lives.

MISFITS

This growers' union is as big a thing as has been attempted here. It is full of biz, at every jump.

Give this section an absolute market for everything and things will hum like an automobile with a cut out going.

Business springing up in the springtime is a welcome sight. That's what the dispatches indicate, and that's what local conditions begin to show.

Bring your money out boys and set things going.

Mr. Frost is not wanted for a few days.

A town in Minn. with eleven voters had five saloons. The gov. said too much of a bad thing, and now the town has none.

A man 101 years old residing in Dakota was given a bath for the first time in 20 years, and died. An awful warning against bathing too often.

Hooray, the base ball season is starting. This is the day.

Why do peanuts always make one think of politics.

Money in dirt if you make it fly.

Already playing tennis down at Hack grove.

The Eugene Register man was recently discovered with $3 from the jingle in his pocket, nearly causing a riot in his quiet town.

No one ever caught Misfits that way.

Planting Time

The Albany Nurseries with offices at the First National Bank Building has just received a carload of choice nursery stock.

This is planting time and they are able to give you first-class trees or shrubs at a very reasonable figure.

They make a specialty of Roses and Walnuts, which is the ideal tree for curb planting, being a fast, thrifty, and sure grower. Everything bought of them is guaranteed in the full meaning of the word.
