ITS COMING FAST

The Oregonian continues to give facts to show that business is getting back to normal conditions, giving figures that speak, making it a matter above sentiment or newspaper boosting for good influences.

The signs of returning confidence in the business world are multiplying at such a rate that, in the belief of financial men, it will be many days before commercial and industrial activity will be on a normal basis.

The signs of returning confidence in the business world are multiplying at such a rate that, in the belief of financial men, it will be many days before commercial and industrial activity will be on a normal basis.

An indication of the activity in the New York Stock Exchange is noted in the past two days' trading. On Friday transactions aggregated nearly 1,300,000 shares, making it the most noteworthy of any day since July 30 of last year.

Due to several favorable factors the securities market is getting stronger and general public interest seems to be expanding.

WARNING FROM EUROPE.

The United States ought to be learning some lessons from the great war in Europe, and undoubtedly is. Certainly as never before in the history of the world is the old world speaking to the new world, and this great republic should sit down and think and learn a lesson for all time.

"Beware of guns. Banish the implements of hate from before your eyes. Take your mind off the machinery of slaughter. Cease to delight in the engines of destruction. Trust in reason. Have faith in brotherhood. Believe in love. Build your civilization on the principle of good will.

KNOCKERS AND BOOSTERS.

Writers have vied with each other in saying the meanest thing they can about knockers, and the best things they can about boosters, and this is a good idea.

When the Creator had made all the good things, there was still some dirty work to do, so he made the beasts and reptiles and poisonous insects, and when he had finished he has some scraps that were too bad to put into the rattlesnake, the hyena, the scorpion and the skunk, so he put all these together, covered them with suspicion, wrapped in with jealousy, marked it with a yellow streak, and called it a "Knocker."

The proudest was so fearful to contemplate that he had to make something to counteract it, so he took a sunbeam and put in the heart of a child, the brain of a man, wrapped this in civic pride, covered it with brotherly love, gave it a mask of velvet, a grip of steel, made it a lover of fields and flowers and many sports, a believer in equality and justice, and called it a "Booster." And ever since these two were, mortal man has had the privilege of choosing his associates.

MISFITS

Nothing is more pleasing in every day life than an exhibition of real self denial. It stands out like a mountain peak.

Some of the greatest people of the world are never heard from outside their own city. There are different kinds of greatness. There is one.

What do life's blessings amount to if received alone?

Here is a good one, given us by a reader. The ingrate can only be great in littleness.

And here is another: A thankful friend can have a good time even in hard times.

So many men are declaring that times are improving that we have about concluded the fact is surely true. Drummers are pretty well posted on about things, being in a position to speak authoritatively, particularly those who have been covering a field for a long time and have their regular trade.

Russia keeps bringing new soldiers forward for the sacrifice, like Germany and the others. Where do they come from?

In big type a paper says KEEP WELL. A great many people would give a fortune to know how.

WAR "DON'TS" FOR BRITISH YOUTHS

Earl Tells Boys What to Do and What to Avoid.

WHY ANTWERP WAS TAKEN.

Germany intends to have it Always Unless Allies Prevent, Says Curzon. Advises Against Dividing Up Germany "Before You Have Got Hold of It."

London—Earl Curzon of Kedleston delivered a rousing speech to an audience which included the masters and boys of Harrow school.

He said he knew of the anticipation of European statesmen of the highest rank who had prophesied for years that it would be in 1914 that Germany would strike the blow at Europe. Some people, he remarked, were of the opinion that it would be over by Christmas. He went on, speaking with great gravity: "In my judgment more than one Christmas will pass before the soldiers return home."

Lord Curzon concluded with the following "don'ts": "Don't think the war does not affect you individually. It touches every man.

women and child in this country. "Don't be overjoyed at a victory. Don't be downhearted at a defeat. "Don't be unmoved by personal or family bereavements. "Don't be frightened at casualty lists, so long and sometimes so distressing. "Don't think that you know how to wage the campaign and that the war office does not. "Don't write to the newspapers telling generals and admirals what they ought to do, but if you have an opinion that you could do it much better tell it to as few people as possible. "Don't get nervous because the progress of the war is slow. It can only be slow in these stages. "Don't underestimate the enemy. "Don't waste breath in attempting to ascertain what is to happen to the German emperor in this world or the next. "Don't begin to divide up the German empire before you have got hold of it. "Don't listen to any one who cries "Halt!" before we have carried out the full purpose for which we are fighting. "And when the war is over don't throw away the lessons of the war."

Earl Curzon also said: "Germany has taken Antwerp to fortify it, to keep it, to make a great naval port of it, to use it as a great jumping off place for her future attempts upon this country. It is no temporary occupation, unless we make it so."
