Dance Last Night—
A dance was held at No. 10 Grange hall, 2 miles southeast of the city, last night. A large number of Albany people attended keeping the jitterney men up all night. Some of the drivers slept in their cabs. The dance lasted until an early hour this morning.

All In—None Out—
The reporters had a poor day of it for personals this morning. All trains into the city were full, while the number of outgoing passengers could be counted on the fingers. Everybody wanted to see the circus and postponed all unnecessary travel until later.

Not to Be Swindled—
The Democrat reporter sidled up to a young gentleman from the country as he alighted from the 8:55 Oregon Electric this morning and asked him his name. The said young gentleman, who carried an infant in his arms, gave the reporter a scrutinizing "once over" and replied: "Go on young feller, you can't get nuthin outa me. I know your game." Remembering that this was circus day and the day of the bunco man, the reporter gave up in despair.

Will Address Growers—
Charles L. McNary, supreme judge, has written from Salem accepting the invitation of the Linn and Benton Growers' Association to address their meeting next Friday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Judge McNary is interested in the fruit industry, and has a large farm near McNary station, 8 miles west of Salem.—Statesman.

Small Boys' Day—
The small boy was in his element today. The circus belonged mostly to him. It did not matter if he did not have the price of admission, there was plenty of work for him to do to earn his way in. This morning a large squad of youngsters was on hand, carrying stakes, tugging at one by one, to earn that ticket. And the Sells-Floto people were most liberal with their passes.

W. M. Parker is Junior Beadle—
W. M. Parker, of this city, has been elected grand junior beadle of the Foresters of America, of the grand lodge, which convened in Portland this week. Bert Crawford, of this city, represented the Albany lodge at the session as delegate.

Fords Can Swim—
Another great virtue is claimed for the Ford. Frank Smith, of Corvallis, who recently went to San Francisco in his Ford, writes back that it swam some of the streams with ease.

To Give Concert at Scio—
Chas. South, violinist, and Mrs. Annette Stoddard, pianist, will give a concert in Scio on June 7. The people of that vicinity may depend upon a first class musical offering, by two among the best musicians in Oregon.

Young Store Memorial Tonight—
The meeting of the Linn County Historical Society tonight in a memorial to the Young Store, prominent in the business of Albany for 43 years, should have a good attendance. The subject will be covered in papers by Judge Hewitt, Mrs. Viola P. Franklin and C. H. Stewart. Time 8 o'clock, at the library auditorium.

Was Lebanon Home Restaurant—
The Democrat recently copied an item from the Lebanon Express-Advertiser telling of the sale of the Home Restaurant at that city to an Albany woman. Some here got it mixed with the Albany Home Restaurant, which was a mistake. The Home Restaurant here will continue under its present popular management.

Woodworking Genius—
A young man named McGhee, residing across the river, is a genius with his little knife. Among pieces of wood work he has just made a pair of pliers, which he presented Stret Superintendent Wood. They are made of pine from one piece, and work firmly and perfectly.

Native of Albany Here—
Don Humphrey, of the Roseburg Review, has been in the city today while on his way home from Newport, where he had been to attend the grand lodge of Odd Fellows. Mr. Humphrey has been linotypist on the Review for nine years. He is a son of G. W. Humphrey, of the Jefferson Review and has the distinction of having been born in Albany. Before going to Roseburg Mr. Humphrey was with his father on the Review for several years, starting in as his satanic majesty.

Merry-Go-Round Too—
The Sells-Floto circus seems to have everything with them. A merry-go-round was set up on First street east of Barrett Bros., and did a good business all day. The owner of the portable swing is said to be worth over $300,000, which he made in the amusement business.

Oregon Made Autos—
Frank M. Crillis, representing the Beaver State Automobile Co., of Gresham, was in the city yesterday selling stock in his concern. The company has made a few automobiles and expects to put out a "six" next year that will equal any in the country.

Hoover to Hoover—
W. A. Hoover, of Hoover and Detroit, has been in the city today, being down here on a business trip.

GOOD ROADS DAY PROVES A SUCCESS

Good Roads Day was a success yesterday. County Judge McKnight is well pleased with the results that were accomplished. All over the county squads of men worked, and in some cases a holiday was made of it and the ladies of the district served lunch to the workers at noon. However, in several cases the gravel pits were under water and little was done in those places. Later on separate districts will observe a good roads day of their own, and finish where the others left off. Next fall there will be another county good roads day, when it is expected to accomplish even more on account of having more material and better facilities. Over 100 loads of gravel were hauled from the rock crusher here yesterday.

ODD FELLOWS AND REBEKAHS ELECT THEIR NEW OFFICERS

Lodge in Session at Newport Complete Business; Roseburg Gets Convention.

Odd Fellows and Rebekahs began to return from Newport yesterday. Last night a special train left Newport at 6 o'clock and arrived here with a load at 11 o'clock, and another train load arrived today noon. Many remained over to enjoy a few days at the beach.

At the session yesterday the Grand lodge voted to hold the next meeting in Roseburg in 1916. The following officers of the Grand lodge were elected yesterday:

Grand master, John F. Hall, Marshfield; deputy grand master, Henry S. Westbrook, Portland; grand warden, Trefren, Ashland; grand secretary, E. E. Sharon, Portland, grand treasurer, O. D. Doan, The Dalles. Judge William Galloway, of Salem, was elected grand rep. Trustee of the Odd Fellows' home, Robert Andrews, of Portland.

The officers of the grand encampment elected Wednesday were Geo. W. Wright, grand representative; W. W. Francis, re-elected grand treasurer. Both are from Albany; Robert Andrews, of Portland, was elected grand patriarch to succeed G. W. Wright; E. A. Williams, Milton, grand high priest; Sol. S. Walker, Oregon City, grand senior warden; E. E. Sharon, Portland, re-elected grand scribe; A. H. Knight, grand junior warden; J. V. Swan, Portland, grand marshal; R. F. Kirkpatrick, Pendleton, grand sentinel; C. A. Sehlbride, Marshfield, grand outside sentinel. The grand encampment was visited by George E. Kellough, grand master of the state of Washington.

The officers elected by the Rebekahs were:

Mrs. Rose Palmer, of Baker, president; Mrs. Nellie Wattenburg, Klamath Falls, vice president; Mary A. Lancaster, Astoria, warden; Mrs. Ora Cosper, Dallas, elected secretary for the 19th time. Miss Edna Jacobs, Corvallis, treasurer. The new trustee of the Orphans' Home board is Mrs. Emma Galloway, McMinnville, and the trustees of the assembly are Mrs. Jessie Peter, Eugene; Mrs. Emily Pogue, Ontario; and Miss Clara E. Mienson, Warrenton.

There were between 1240 and 1250 Odd Fellows and Rebekahs in attendance, besides many people who accompanied delegates to Newport for the pleasure of the trip. Over 1500 in all went over as a result of the conventions.

Pheasant Invitations Out—
Clarence W. Tebault, Jr., secretary of the Albany Pheasants, today sent out nearly 200 invitations for the Pheasant dance. More will be issued later. The Portland Rosarians, Salem Cherrians and Eugene Radiators have been invited to attend and wear their uniforms. The affair will present a sight on the night of the 28th, with members of the Pheasants and their visiting guests in full regalia, the citizens in full evening dress and the ladies in their usual pretty party gowns.
