City News

On Mary's Peak—

Arthur Lamb and Ralph Planalp, of this city, returned last evening from a trip to the top of Mary's Peak. They were accompanied by Stewart Lamb, of the O. A. C. They found very little snow, saw plenty of deer tracks, and had a good time, an enjoyable experience.

What Lyle Bigbee Did—

In a game at Portland between Eugene and Rupert's Monarchs of Portland, Lyle Bigbee pitched a remarkable game. Not a clean hit was made off him and he struck out twelve men.

Attended Library Convention—

The librarians of Oregon met yesterday at Salem, attended by about 75. Among them was Mrs. Viola P. Franklin, of this city. Many valuable and helpful papers were read.

Was from Indiana—

Mrs. Del Weills has returned from Portland, where she went to see her aunt, who had been visiting here for several weeks, off for her home at Terre Haute, Ind. While at a prominent hotel in Portland the ladies were surprised to receive a bouquet. Afterwards they learned it was given them by a lady boarding at the hotel, an inmate of it for three or four years, who always sends a bouquet to women registering from Indiana, her former state. One of Mrs. Weills' pleasant experiences was a visit to Mrs. Emma Sox Newton, at her boat house home down by the Oaks.

Left on Trip to Minn.—

Chas. Bruce, son and daughter left this afternoon on a trip to their former home at Luverne, Minn., where they will spend a month or two with Mrs. Bruce's folks, and many friends there.

The Weather—

Fair tonight and Wednesday. Yesterday's temperature ranged between 69 and 49 degrees. The river dropped to 5.1 feet. There was .08 inches of rainfall.

Returned from Iowa—

J. W. Ellison and uncle, Isaac Elder, have returned from their trip to Iowa, coming back by way of the San Francisco fair. Among others they visited Mr. Ellison's mother, now very old. Miss Laura McBride, instead of being with them, visited in Washington while they were gone.

Will Make Albany Home—

R. L. Mord has arrived from Baker, and will work for the C. & E. in the yards of this city. He has been interested in mining around Baker, but will now resume his old work of railroading. Mrs. Mord will join him in a few days.

Mrs. Rowell Here—

Mrs. W. W. Rowell, of Portland, has been in the city today visiting with her many friends of this city. Mrs. Rowell, formerly of the Russ House, for many years, is now running the Rowell apartments, at 392½ Belmont street.

Was Popular in Salem—

The following from the Salem Statesman is a tribute to the late Jesse Russell, brother of R. M. Russell, county clerk of Linn county: "Charles K. Spaulding and U. G. Holt and several others associated with the Spaulding Logging company will go to Shelburne to attend the funeral of Jesse Russell, who was killed by a logging train near Black Rock a few days ago. They will go on a special train, which will pass through this city carrying practically all the citizens of Black Rock, besides many from Falls City, to the funeral. Mr. Russell was very popular with all who knew him and many elaborate floral offerings have been made as a tribute to his memory."

Left for East—

Hon. H. E. Canfield left this morning for his home in Luverne, Minn., after visiting his daughter in this city. Motored from Brownsville—

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Whealdon, Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Stannard and Miss Minnie B. Stannard, prominent Brownsville people, motored to Albany yesterday.

Went to Walla Walla—

Cady Stearns, Mrs. Sophie Helfrich, Albert Rogers and J. H. Starns went to Walla Walla yesterday.

Left for St. Paul—

Art Grover left yesterday for St. Paul, Minn., where he will visit for home time.

Missionary Meeting—

Mrs. M. A. Kees, at the Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon, at 2:30, will speak at the meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the church. She was in China several years, her husband having charge of a Y. M. C. A. there. All are invited.

Will Give Recital—

On Tuesday evening of next week, June 8, Mrs. Flo will give a recital at the Presbyterian church, with Miss Hammel as accompanist. This will be Mrs. Flo's first personal recital.

In California—

J. O. Lee has been in California several days looking after some mining interests in the famous Death Valley. He will also attend the fair before returning.

Married—

Miss Myrtle Hastings and Mr. Geo. Anderson were united in marriage at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Finnerty on Saturday evening, in the presence of the bride's sister and Meriel Warner. Rev. Fagan officiated. The young couple left Sunday morning for their future home at Newport, where they will run the Candy Kitchen. The bride has been an operator in the Bell telephone office the past four years.

Advance on Przemyśl Halted.

(By United Press Association)
Petrograd, June 1.—General Von Mackenzien's advance upon Przemyśl was halted and the offensive completely checked, and the Austro-German forces were thrown upon the defensive, the war office announcement declared. It is declared the military circles have exhausted the forces of the enemy, being rolled back over the territory which sacrificed thousands to capture.

OREGONIAN CRITIC THINKS

"OMAR" A GREAT PLAY

Production at Theatre Wednesday Said to Be One of the Best Here This Year.

That Albany is due for the best show of the season Wednesday is seen from the following by the dramatic critic of the Oregonian in reference to "Omar, the Tentmaker," in which Guy Bates Post is starring on his present tour. If Albany people do not take to this splendid production based upon the well known verses and life of Omar Khayyam, and produced in all its Oriental splendor, Manager Schultz might as well give up the idea and keep the Albany Opera house locked as far as first class attractions are concerned, next year. Here is what Miss Baer says after seeing the return engagement last Friday in Portland:

"Omar, the Tentmaker" has not yet folded his tent, and he will not steal away from the Heilig until after tomorrow night's performance. When seen here a year ago this attraction achieved one of the biggest dramatic successes of the season and the present return engagement, which opened last Friday night, has been a success.

"Guy Bates Post brings to his portrayal of the lovable Omar the ripest and most engaging attainments of his conspicuous career. At a time when the English-speaking stage is lamentably lacking in actors of sufficient intelligence, robustness of experience and loftiness of vision to attempt the enactment of heroic figures, Mr. Post has won the universal applause both of expert critics and casual playgoers by his marvelous characterization of the merry Persian.

The character of Omar is a most complex one, and without slighting the humanity of the man, his fondness for laughter and wine, his ready wit, his caustic tongue, his scornful pen, Mr. Post also emphasizes with engaging truthfulness the deeper and more philosophical phases of the man's nature. The numerous company in support of Mr. Post unite their splendid talents to produce a most remarkable and praiseworthy ensemble."

Arabs and Girl Babies.

It is a sad day in an Arab home when a girl is born. The musicians who have come to the house with their drums, their shepherd's pipes and all their strange musical instruments burst into wild wailing if the door is seen to open slowly and a head shake silently and sadly and then withdraw behind the closed door. All the rare food which has been prepared in the hopes that the new arrival is a boy is put away and the wailing guests turned from the house. For why, they say, should one feast and have music when another superfluous woman has been brought into the world? Though human nature is what it is, the little girl is not wholly unloved. She is given some pretty name, such as, translated, would be "star," or "dawn," or "pretty," or "pleasant." When a boy is born the rejoicing, on the contrary, is hilarious in the extreme. Welcomes are shouted by stringed instruments, the praises of the family are sung, and a forecast of the great deeds to be done by the son are recited.—Exchange
