

HIGH SCHOOL HONORS AWARDED

Carrie Senders, Phyllis Goins and Mae Ballack Received the Three Prizes.

COMMENCEMENT PROGRAM ONE FULL OF SNAP

Class Was Large and Talented One That Will Be Heard From in Our Colleges.

Graduating with a standing of 93.7 per cent, Carrie Senders, daughter of M. Senders, carried off the honors of the large class of forty-five of the Albany high school, that completed their work of four years, last evening at the M. E. Church. The church was packed, with many standing.

The exercises were of a snappy character, with some good features. The orchestra played, Rev. Leech offered the invocation, the chorus sang Carrie B. Adams "In Oregon," and Haendel's Song of the Sea, and Mary Jones was heard in the Joy of the Morning, a pretty number; when the address of the occasion was given by Dr. Rebec, of the U. O. His subject was Education and the Higher Life Values. He declared that the centuries change not with the calendar, but with alterations, and that this is the beginning of the twentieth century, with the rule of the middle classes. He places much value on things beautiful, goodness, happiness and truth. This, he said is going to be a very human age, with science and art and moral striving in the ascendency. The girls of the senior class sang Welcome Sweet Springtime acceptably. Mary Parker and Mary Jones sang Flying Clouds sweetly and Dorel Rexford was heard in Because, showing a splendid voice and cultivation, full of promise.

Hon. J. K. Weatherford, representing the board with a good talk, presented the diplomas.

Then all was expectancy as Superintendent Boetticher took the floor to announce the winners of the different prizes. Carrie B. Senders carried off the honors in securing the highest standing, 93.7, with Freda M. Koch a close second, followed by Cora Uhrhammer and Dan Ashton, all above 90. The D. A. R. Medal for the best revolutionary essay went to May Ballack, and the Schmitt prize of $25 to Phyllis Goins. This was for the most answers to the list of 75 questions prepared by Superintendent Boetticher, County Supt. Jackson and Chas. H. Stewart, given in the Democrat recently. Twenty-six tried for it, Kenneth Stevens was second.

Mrs. A. C. Schmitt and her sister, Mrs. W. A. Barrett, have arranged for a prize of $15 in cash, to be awarded to the young lady of the senior class in the high school who gives evidence of the greatest proficiency in the domestic science department. The prize shall be known as the Lawrence Flynn prize, and is given in memory of their father, the late Judge L. Flynn, who was a staunch supporter of our system of public education, and was a member of the school board at the time of his death. The prize will be awarded for the first time at the Annual Commencement Exercises of the high school graduating class in 1916.

The senior class was heard in the class song, composed by Mrs. Carrie B. Adams, a fine thing that captured the crowd.

The program closed with benediction by Dr. Geselbracht. The closing year has been a very successful one, characterized by efficient work and constant progress. The Albany high school is in very capable hands, a credit to the Hub City.

1916 OVERLAND ARRIVES IN ALBANY YESTERDAY

First Car of Advanced Season Shows Many Improvements and Big Price Reduction.

The first car for 1916 to make its appearance here is the Overland, which J. L. Irvin drove up from Portland yesterday morning. Mr. Irvin has taken the agency for this popular make and will handle it in connection with the Buick. The Buick people are not making a four cylinder car for 1916, but will specialize on the six cylinder, which will sell at about the same price as the four sold for this year. To fill the demand of those who prefer a four Mr. Irvin has added the Overland to his line. He will also sell the sixes and other models of the Overland.

The new car is a beauty, being similar to the 1915 Overland, but containing some new features and refinements. A larger engine than was in the last year four is one of the new features, and this car will develop 35 horse power. The electric lighting and ignition system are complete, a reliable self-starter, modern conveniences located on the front dash, and other features that make the car most desirable.

The body is finished in the same dark green of the previous season, with some little change in the shape in one or two places. The one man top, and the folding windshield are attractive features. The car is advertised to sell at about $200 less than the same model sold for last year.

Thieves broke into the Hub City Garage, owned by Earl McIntosh, at Second and Calapooia streets, last night and made off with the entire front wheel from an auto belonging to A. I. Sailor, and a five gallon can of gasoline. It was evidently the intention of the thieves to simply take the tire, which was practically new, but when the casing would not come off easily they took the entire wheel. The parties doing the work either came up to the garage in an auto, or came up back of it in the Calapooia river in a launch. No trace of the goods, or any clue to the robbers has been found.

AN INDUSTRY PROMISING MUCH

Two Acres Leased on Calapooia Street For Evaporator and Cold Storage.

C. M. MILLER AT HEAD OF IMPORTANT PROJECT

Expects to Make Specialty of Logan Berry Products With Big Prospects.

As an outgrowth of the organization of the Growers' Union at this city there is being established here an institution that promises to become an important factor industrially. C. M. Miller, an expert, has leased the rectangular property on Calapooia street between First and Second, known as the old Crawford place, covering in all nearly two acres of land, which he expects to make a center for farming interests.

At present he will use the Crawford house for a laboratory and office, and will test Loganberries, prunes, etc. An evaporator will be added for taking care of berries and fruits. Eventually it is the purpose to build a large cold storage plant for the preservation of all kinds of fruits and other products.

Mr. Miller has been making a special study of Loganberries particularly, and believes there is a great future for the berry, one of the most prolific in the world. Because of the tendency of the times towards the prohibition of the liquor traffic there is growing a demand for palatable and healthful drinks. It is declared that nothing has been found that is more popular than the juice of the Loganberry. New processes are being secured for the berry along other lines. Mr. Miller has been consulting with Prof. Brown, of the O. A. C., looking to the proper organization of the laboratory.
