UNIVERSALLY COMMENDED.

It means much when the utterances of the press all over the country are unanimous in reference to a matter. This is true of the last note of President Wilson. Regardless of politics the newspapers have come forward with the statement that he has stated the truth and stated it well. With splendid judgment and discernment of conditions he put the case of the United States on record in a manner that has not often been equalled in the presentation of a case. It was complete, with nothing left unsaid that should have been said, and convinces the receiver as plainly as the friends of the sender. Since its publication a spirit of optimism has been created that is widespread. If Germany comes to the issue with as fair a case there will be no question as to the result.

OUR WOODS.

The many uses to which wood is being put is attracting wide attention. The government has been experimenting in the interest of its forestry service for some time, and the result is striking.

News print paper has been made by the Forest Service laboratory from 24 different woods, and a number compare favorably with standard spruce pulp paper.

The Forest Service is cooperating with 54 railroads, mining companies, and cities in making tests of wooden ties, timbers, poles, piling, and paving blocks which have been given perspective treatments.

In 1895 there were 15 wood preserving plants operating in the United States; in 1914 the number had increased to 122, representing all types of plant.

The 1914 figures, based upon reports from 94 plants, show that the total number of cubic feet of material treated with preservatives was 156,582,639 cubic feet. This was an increase of 5,968,751 cubic feet over the total for 1913. Of this increase, 103,980 cubic feet was made up of piling, and 3,577,571 more cross ties were handled than during the previous year.

During 1914, nearly eighty million gallons of creosote were used by the preserving plants of the United States.

MISFITS

A man speaking at the farmers' barbecue at Corvallis said he felt as if he ought to do something religious, and he didn't know but he had better take up a collection.

There is a ring to whatever President Wilson says that never gets out of tune.

If you would grow and prosper watch how the dandelion does things.

Come on, Mr. Farmer, plenty of places to hitch.

Anyway Albany is the best trading town around.

Shake, William, guess we can get along.

Money talks, but not the money hat is lying idle in the banks.

Some one accuses the world of being crazy. The whole is equal to the sum of all the parts.

This matter down Mex. way has gotten so small comparatively that we hardly have time to notice it.

An exchange says it always looks out for the man who arrives as a coaster and a live wire, and secures ash in advance.

Fine crops, the farmers say, and hat with fine prices ought to mean a good deal.

The United States is certainly entitled to a great blessing if it emerges from the war era as the champion of peace, for doesn't the good Book say: "Blessed are the peacemakers."
