SATURDAY NIGHT THOUGHTS.

In the U. S. we are patiently waiting to see what Germany has to say to our last note. The air is full of guesses, most of which are of a very optimistic nature. The sentiment seems to be that Germany will answer in a very friendly manner, which is what the people of this country hope for.

In this country Mr. Bryan has been delivering some letters to the public in which he sets forth his ideas of the situation, which, by the way, are in accord in a great measure with the ideas of the people.

A prominent Minnesota paper, republican in politics, is so much pleased with the manner in which President Wilson has handled affairs that it has started a movement for a Wilson day, not for the purpose of exalting Wilson, but to do honor to what his splendid peace diplomacy is doing for the country.

Another commencement season was finished this week, one of much interest, as such seasons always are. There is a pep to things during the graduation era that gets down into the hearts of most people.

One of the hard problems is how much of the ills and misfortunes of life one shall stand before taking to oneself, the soliloquy of Hamlet, "to be or not to be." There can be only one answer, and that is, fight it out to the end, and this is what men generally do, except when driven by temporary dementia into putting a quietus to the things of life.

Fortified Tires Are Always Climbing Upward

104,000 Men

In the jungles and fields, in our factories, etc., 104,000 men are employed to meet the demand for Goodyear tires. No other tire commands anywhere near such favor. And this spring has shown, in sales to dealers, an increase of 52 per cent.

Extra Values The reason is, we fortify our tires. We give the best that others give, plus five exclusive features. In costly ways, employed by no one else, we combat:

GOOD YEAR Fortified Tires. Rim-Cuts Blowouts Loose Treads Insecurity Punctures Skidding. And we never skimp. Despite all price reductions, Goodyears are better than ever. Lately we have added:

MISFITS It is not an easy thing to put one's self into the place of others and decide the problems of their lives. Too often, though, we are only too ready to run the affairs of our neighbors for them.

The typewriter has become about as thrifty as the tongue. How different are human tongues. Some are anchored, tipped with judgment, others wiggle from the middle, with a perpetual motion action.

Albany's Chautauqua is the genuine article, not just a lecture and concert course. Ours is practically a summer school, not just an entertainment event.

A friend says there has never been a red headed lobo. It is a senseless war, and should be kept such as far as US is concerned. Bond Redemption Notice.
