City News

The Pipers—

George U. Piper and Fred Piper, the former a prominent newspaper man and active politician, and both residents of Seattle and natives of Marion county, and brothers of E. B. Piper (Ted), editor of the Oregonian, were in Salem for a brief visit yesterday on their way home from San Francisco. Both George and E. B. Piper gained their initial newspaper knowledge and experience on a Salem newspaper.—Salem Journal.

A Fight for Mayor—

For some time Johnson Porter was the only candidate for mayor of Corvallis, and it looked like a walk-away, but, now there's something doing. Frank Groves, the man who five times put Benton county on the map, says a big advertisement in the G. T., has flung his hat into the ring. As the man who won the grand prize for the best display of forage crops at the P. E., he is making a hot fight for the office.

Wilma at Stayton—

Mrs. Carrie Beauchamp returned home from Albany yesterday, where she has been visiting for some time with her son, Dr. F. E. Beauchamp of that city. She was accompanied by her granddaughter Wilma, who will spend a few weeks here.—Mail.

Dugger at the Bat—

John Kelly and Forest Woodmansee were playing catch in the street Saturday afternoon when T. L. Dugger was fired with a sudden ambition to fatten his batting average, using his cane as a bat. Kelly, who has muscles like a pile driver, let loose one which Forest failed to stop and Mr. Dugger made a pass at it with the result that the bones of the left forearm were fractured and he now carries that member in splints.—Scio News.
