Marvelous Aeroscope at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco, Raises Amazed Visitors 264 Feet

FOR the seeker of amusement there is opportunity a-plenty in the great mechanical achievement, the aeroscope, on the Zone, Panama-Pacific International Exposition, San Francisco. The aeroscope is built on the order of a giant crane of a novel and intricate design, with a seating capacity of 100 and standing room for twenty more. The car is perfectly balanced, and perfect safety and a jarless ride of ten minutes are assured to passengers who enjoy this trip of 264 feet into the clouds. This is four feet higher than the Ferris wheel. Two motors control the ascent and descent in conjunction with the counterbalance of this huge car, and when it reaches its extreme height it begins to swing slowly around on the series of wheels at its base, giving the passenger a view of the surrounding country from every point.

OREGON BUILDING VISITED BY ABOUT 5,000 DAILY

Albany Chair Declared to Be Most Comfortable, Logan Berry Juice Popular.

San Francisco, July 13.—The fifth of July crowd in the Oregon building was a record breaker. A total of almost two hundred thousand were on the grounds and a conservative estimate places the number passing through the Oregon building at 30,000.

Thenormal attendance at the Oregon building ranges around 5,000 to 6,000 a day, or about the same as the average daily attendance at the San Diego exposition. Monday usually shows the smallest crowd and Thursday and Friday the best, though Saturday and Sunday are invariably good days.

The Willamette valley representatives here are now engaged in another form of advertising that really promises great results. On two days of the week visitors are given a taste of Willamette valley prunes and on two days samples of loganberry juice are tasted by all willing to run the risk of a new drink. The public is taking to both like a duck takes to water.

From the way the tasters enthuse over the loganberry juice the representatives at all the booths in the building are agreed that there is every possibility of this drink becoming even more popular than the grape juice made famous by William Jennings Bryan. There are many demands for cases of this and it is sincerely believed that this little sampling is going to accomplish greatly in widening the market for both the prune and the loganberry juice. This will help the entire valley.

Another thing that is making a hit here is the Albany "Pioneer" chair—these "split-bottom" ones made of hide. They are the most comfortable chair in the building and many are seen writing down the address of the maker, R. Veal & Son. This concern donated two score of them to the Oregon building and is likely to reap an excellent return.

Apples on display eleven weeks is the record Director Ravlin at the Palace of Horticulture, boasts of. He is frequently asked to cast the fruit and has not yet found an unsound apple. This amazing to the casual visitor and equally so to California exhibitors. The latter change their apple displays practically every week and never permit them up longer than three weeks. Thus the staying quality of Oregon fruit is emphasized and visitors given a demonstration they are calculated to remember.

Special affairs at the Oregon building during the next few weeks will be concerned with the coming of the Coos Bay Moosers with their big band about July 17, for a ten day stay, and the stay of Mr. Benson, distinguished Oregonian, for whom the exposition will set aside August 17, Friday night, July 9, Poet Edwin Markham, who was Oregon born, was a guest of honor at a special occasion at the building and read some of his poems. Members of the International Press Congress were present among them at least five Oregon editors: Bruce Dennis, of LaGrande, Thomas Carroll of Portland, Arthur Ruhl of Medford, E. E. Brodie of Oregon City and E. B. Piper of Portland.

At the present time Commissioner John F. Logan, who is all energy, action and organization, is in charge here. Mrs. Logan and family are with him at the building. Edgar B. Piper, of the Oregonian, and family, and Mrs. Abigail Duniway are guests at the building. Friday morning Mr. Piper read a paper before the International Press Congress in which he demanded freedom from governmental interference in the conduct of newspapers.

Prof. Wm. Proctor, of Pacific University, Forest Grove, will come at once to represent Washington county. A Benton county man is expected to arrive on the scene shortly. There are now four Willamette county men, three Eastern Oregon representatives and one Southern Oregon man, together with a Coos Bay representative.

Oregonians are advised to bring heavy clothing or wraps when they come to the exposition. It is foggy and cold most of the time, with much wind.

AT THE THEATRES
 One of the works of Justice Miles Forman, the popular writer who lost his life on the Lusitania, will be seen at the Globe theatre today when his two act drama, "The Opal," will be shown. Another of this popular author's works begins in the August Cosmopolitan. Just now the works of the well known personages who lost their lives on the ill fated ship are of more than usual interest and this opportunity to see one of Forman's stories acted out will be grasped with eagerness. "Mr. Carson, of Arizona," is the title of another two act play that has the earmarks of being good. The Ford weekly will show some new photos of current interest and a comedy, "At the Mask Ball" closes a good show of pictures.

The last episode of "The Black Box" came to the Hub Theatre last night. This interesting story from the pen of E. Phillips Oppenheim has attracted a large following and has proven interesting from the first. With Herbert Rawlinson, Anna Little and Wm. Worthington in the cast the play has been ably presented and acted with scientific accuracy. Tonight and tomorrow the secret of the plot will be revealed and an end put to the baffling mystery of the black box. "Jane's Declaration of Independence," in two acts is one of the latest Universal releases and furnishes an interesting story. In it are featured Agnes Vernon and Hobart Henley. There is also a Sterling comedy, "Pokes and Jabs," that is brimming over with fun. The bill will be repeated tonight.

ADVISORY BOARD VISITS
 fathers," he said. "The increased travel on the country roads with heavy trucks cause faster wear, and we are constantly rebuilding the roads. Roads that were good macadam a few years ago are today worn out and have to be replaced. The cheapest in the long run is to put in the hard surface."

Favors Bond Issue.
 "The advisory board of the highway commission last November prepared a map for the improvement of about 1500 miles of trunk roads through the state at an estimated cost of $8,000,000 to $10,000,000. On an amortized bond issue this would cost the taxpayers of the state about seventy-five cents on each $1000 of taxable property, and in 20 years time the principle an interest would be paid, and the state still have a permanent highway."

"Building trunk lines are hard things to discuss, but they are absolutely necessary. Multnomah county pays 35 per cent of the taxes of the state, but we are willing to spend that sum of money on improving the rest of the state because if the state at large grows Portland will grow accordingly. Portland cannot prosper until the rest of the state does."

Mr. Albert covered the same ground in part in his talk and added that credit is the cornerstone of business. He does not favor bond issue unless he cannot get what is necessary without bonding. He does not believe in putting a debt on posterity, but believes in an amortized debt, so that when the time is up the debt will be paid. A 37-100 mill tax will build the proposed trunk system outlined by the commission, pay the principal and interest of the bonds and have a permanent highway. He made humorous allusion to the Indians in Oregon in the early days who got along beautifully without schools, roads, etc., and had no taxes—but they did not have clothes, or anything else, he added.

Mr. Butler said that the sentiment all over seems to be for good roads. Nothing will help the state so much. They will bring the biggest returns. "Everybody has a place as a booster," he said. When the war is over this country will enjoy the greatest prosperity the world has ever known, was his prediction.

Dr. Robnett explained the work of the Commercial Club last year in advocating the paving of 125 miles of trunk roads in Linn county. County Judge McKnight was called on and outlined the plans of the county court on the road matter. He declared in favor of good, hard surfaced roads, but said that this county is playing a waiting and watching game at present. "We are watching the experimental work of Marion, Multnomah, Jackson, Columbia and the other counties that are paving, and are trying to learn from their experiences," said the judge. "We are watching them and are trying to profit from any lesson they might learn. In the meantime we are not idle. We are grading our roads and crowning them with crushed rock, putting them in shape and making a solid base, so that when the time comes for Linn county to hard surface the work can be economically done and the work will be substantial."

The meeting adjourned about 5:00 o'clock and the party hurried on to Eugene where a similar meeting was held.
