family, who is loved by all who knew her. She heads her class in high school, leads in everything she is connected with. In riding to and from her classes she is attracted by the glamor of the brass buttons of the street car conductor, and finally is induced by the handsome young fellow to elope with him. Under the impression that she is married she is lured from her home. Then comes her denouncement when her conductor tires of her and casts her off. She is refused admittance to her home, and is spurned by her former friends when a young minister rescues her and tries to take her back. Suicide follows and then comes the great scene in the play in which the minister, in his sermon, denounces the organizations as the murderers of the girl, and brings them to realize the awful truth of their gossip and slander. Few people set through the play dry eyed. Three other good acts are one the bill.

The Hub shows the final episode of the "Under the Crescent" series. Tonight's closing reels are called "The Crown of Death," and takes Princess Hassan, Miss Ola Humphrey, through the last of the adventures of an American girl as the wife of an Oriental prince. All five episodes have been interesting throughout and picture the habits and customs of the Oriental harem. On this bill are also "The Blood of His Brother," a powerful dramatic feature, and a comedy, "When Cupid Crossed the Bar," with Jack Dillon and Billie Rhodes.

To the Business Men of Albany

Business fights shy of dead towns. A sure sign of a dead one is the lack of local pride. People who live in a live, prosperous town show it. Their stores are attractive, their streets clean, their homes are well painted.

Nothing shows a lack of pride, a lack of prosperity, like paint-hungry buildings. Let's paint up. As the most durable and economical paint, we recommend and pure linseed oil, mixed right on the job, to suit the job. Have your painter tint it any color you wish.

We carry all other paint necessities also. Consult us on that job of painting you have in mind. Today's the day.
