COST OF LIVING. The fact that the food products units of Europe are engaged in war and that the nations there are securing as much food from America as they can pass through the various blockades, has given the producers of this country a splendid opportunity to reap a golden harvest. As a result, on some articles of food, there have been slight raises beyond the prices obtained after the democratic tariff went into effect. The republican press is now using this as a taunt that the democrats have failed to reduce the cost of living, and sapient editors point out that it proves that a protective tariff does not make high prices and that the tariff is built an infinitesimal factor in retail prices. Unconscious humor is a never missing element in a high tariff debater. According to this logic a high tariff that is levied in order that a manufacturer may get more for his products than if there were no tariff does not increase prices and has very little effect on them. Who is supposed to possess the most perfect faith, the manufacturer or the consumer?—Commoner.

THE UNPARDONABLE. To live in a town. To make a living off of it. To educate your children in it. To get everything you possibly can out of it and put absolutely nothing into it. Patronizing the merchant and manufacturer who help to make your home possible is a good way to earn forgiveness.—Chamber of Commerce News, Portland.

FREEDOM. By Edwin Markham, an Oregon poet, read at the Panama Pacific Exposition: Here in the forest now. As on that old July When first our conscript fathers took the vow, The bluebird, stained with earth and sky, Shouts from a blowing bough In glee aerial freedom, wild and high. And now, as then, the bobolink, Out on the uncertain brink, Of the swaying alder, swings, Loosing his song out, link by golden link; While over the wood his proclamation rings, A daring boast that would unkingdom kings! Even so the wild birds sang or bough and wall That day the Bell of Independence Hall Thundered around the world the Word of Man, That day when Liberty began The mighty hopes were blown on every sea. But Freedom calls her conscripts now as then— Calls for heroic men; It is an endless battle to be free. As the old dangers lessen from the skies, New dangers rise. Down the long centuries to be, Again, again, will rise Thermoplae— Again, again, a new Leonidas Will hold for God the imperilled Pass. As the long ages run New Lexington will rise on Lexington; And many a Warren fall Upon the endangered way. Yet the black smoke of battle, it will pass— Sometime, sometime—like vapor from glass. There will be rest for all the weary flags, And rest for bugles on the battle crags. Still there will be no rest for man's strong soul Before him shines an ever-flying goal. Still must he seek for freedom evermore; No halt for any soul on any shore. Man is the conscript of an endless quest. A long divine adventure without rest. Each hard-earned freedom withers to a bond; Freedom forever is beyond—beyond!

MISFITS In the Commoner in big type reaching across the page are these words: "All those who believe that ALL differences between nations should be settled by arbitration should write or wire the president."

A sample of modern journalism is Harry Thaw on the front page. Henry Ford has something new over-eating; but it is not new; it's very old, since the days when that old Roman ate a calf.

Misfits has been digging away at it for years, often declaring it a serious kind of temperance. There are other "over" things too—over-millions, for instance. Oregon's broom was a big one down at the ex., a celan sweeper. The Shriners were Logan-juiced all along the r. r. Bet it had an odd taste after the Seattle juice. Here is an acrostic cause of the war, given by a Washington city man:

Goodyear Fortified Tires Cost Users $5,000,000 Less

Our last price reduction—made February 1st—will save Goodyear users about five million dollars this year. And that was our third reduction in two years, totaling 45 per cent. Yet Note This Yet Goodyear Fortified Tires embody many extras. Five are costly features found in no other tire. The rest are found in few. If we omitted these extras, we could save on this year's probable output $1,635,000. We could add that to our profits, yet Goodyear tires would look as good as now. This year's improvements alone will cost us $500,000 this year. All to give you ex-
