GREED DOES IT.

Greedy is rampant all over the world. In Europe it is at the bottom of the worst war in history, with millions of lives and hundreds of millions worth of property as the toll. We point our fingers at Europe, but in this country we are continually displaying the same greed in one form or another. Chicago is faced with a case that is startling the entire country. The overturning of the Eastland was a matter of greed pure and simple. In order to have an immense crowd at the steamer women and children were herded into the boat like sheep at so much per head until the boat was completely overloaded, and the captain of it should have known the fact. It is impressing itself on the public because it is fresh; but it is only one of many instances in which the monster greed plays a part in breaking up things from nations down to personal friendships.

COMING OF BRYAN.

The coming to Albany of one of the most noted men of the times is a matter of wide interest. It is not a matter of politics at all. The Democrats should have no more to do with his engagement in this city than Republicans. It is a matter above politics. Mr. Bryan is worth hearing as a man and great citizen, as one of the world's greatest orators, and as a man whose integrity is unquestioned. He is specially interesting at this time, because of what he represents in the efforts of our country to remain at peace with the world, the position he has taken being a striking one in the annals of statesmanship.

A FREE SPEECH COUNTRY.

It is amusing to hear some poor sucker who couldn't buy a steerage ticket on a raft down the Willamette river howl about the rights of American citizens on the high seas.—Falls City News.

In this country, though, it is not a matter of wealth that gives a man the right to express his opinion on any subject, but citizenship. Every individual, no matter what his material condition, has a right to give an opinion on any subject of general public concern, whether big or small.

MISFITS

Gasoline is a good deal safer than booze on an auto trip.

Auto pilots should keep their heads clear.

It's just one thing after another, and another boat has been torpedoed.

These are rocky times, or perhaps rocking times.

The waves are rushing up against the ship of state.

Keep the peanuts out of politics.

Loading breeds evil.

The person at work hasn't time for deviltry.

Boys do well to think a long ways ahead into the days of manhood.

Considerable summer resort weather right at home.

The trouble with vacations at home, though, generally is that there is no rest for the weary, too much doing.

What the average person needs summers is rest and quiet, not nerve racking stunts.

Keep the golden rule going. It gets rusty mighty fast when left alone.
