

Events in the History of Albany Friday

On Friday this week Albany will hold the monthly "Sales Day" and William Jennings Bryan will be in town, and will lecture at the Chautauqua auditorium at one o'clock. This is right in the midst of our

Semi-Annual Clearance Sale

Fifty-one years of continuous business in Albany has brought the people of this community to have confidence in us and when we announce our clearance sale or any other important event, we are sure to have a quick response. There will be thousands of people in town to attend the different events of the day, and we want to urge as many as possibly can to come in early to do their buying, then leave all packages here till you are ready to start home, and you will avoid the usual rush. Here are the prices of our 6 different lots:

$9.85 $11.85 $13.85 $16.85 $18.85 $21.85

Above are the prices that prevail in our suit department. It is impossible to tell the former prices of each of these lots because you will find perhaps a $25.00 suit in one of our cheapest lots, and yet find a $22.50 suit in a lot to sell at a higher price than the $25.00. This is regulated by the circumstances surrounding each suit. For instance if there is just one suit left of a certain pattern and a small size, it would perhaps sell at a ridiculous price, and the cost of the suit to us would not be taken into consideration. But we do guarantee positively that each and every suit is a real bargain, that each suit is marked at the lowest price we could make, and that it would pay any person in Linn or Benton county to purchase a suit now, and we stand back of every article sold until you are satisfied.

JANE COWL IN "THE GARDEN OF LIES" TONIGHT

Great interest attaches to "The Garden of Lies," featuring Jane Cowl, which opens at the Hub theatre tonight. The five reel feature was dramatized by Louis Reeves Harrison from the novel by Justus Miles Forman, who went down with the Lusitania when that ship was torpedoed by a German submarine.

Miss Cowl, the star of the photoplay, created the role of Mary Turner in "Within the Law," and is considered the most beautiful woman on the American stage today. In addition she can act.

"The Garden of Lies" is classed by its producers as a sentimental melodrama, abounding in swift action and in highly climatic moments. Eleanor, an American girl, marries Prince Karl, heir apparent to a mythical principality. She starts on her honeymoon in an automobile. The auto is wrecked in a vivid scene, and Eleanor loses all memory of her husband's name and position.

During her consequent mental illness she calls piteously for her husband, though it is apparent that she does not recall his personality. On the advice of physicians, Steven Mallory, a soldier of fortune, is called on to appear at her bedside as her husband. They fall in love, Eleanor supposing Mallory to be her husband, and from then on the action waxes fast and furious.

Oregon a Lumber State

Oregon is the fourth lumber producing state in the U. S., having advanced from twenty-third in a few years. In speaking of this the Eugene Register boasts of the fact that Lane county continues to make its bridges of wood, helping the industry. Linn county continues to make the bed of the bridges of wood. It is up to date with steel wherever possible.

Landed in Oregon Apples

In a late escapade Buster Brown advertises the Oregon apple in a neat way. After running into numerous things in an electric chair he ends up in a big pile of fine looking Oregon apples, indicating that our apples have a rep back East.

MINISTREL SHOW IN TENT OLD FASHIONED NOISE MAKER

Out in a tent at Ninth and Baker streets, last night, the Virginia Minstrel Co. gave a show of the old fashioned hoe-down style, loud enough and full of unique features, with the customary jokes. Speaking of the times the funny man said the undertakers business was dead, that the tinner had gone up the spout and the barber was just scraping along. A balancing darkey had a stunt that was certainly an odd feature. A stove pipe hat, with a lighted cigar leaning against the top, was thrown up, the hat lighting on his head and the cigar in his mouth.

The show had the traditional circus stunts, peanuts, gum, toy balloons, after show and young men holding their girls on their seats. It was fast, furious and interesting.
