KANGAROO BAND HAS AM UNIQUE RECORD

Captures Two Expositions and Filled Over Thirty Engagements Since Then.

Securing engagements at California's two big expositions in competition with some of the greatest visiting and American bands, and satisfying exacting audiences is the record of the Australian Boys' Band now touring this country. At the Jewel City on Golden Gate harbor, the young musicians made their first appearance on American soil early in March. Since then they have filled over thirty engagements concluding with an eighteen program contract at the Panama-Pacific exposition. Every concert has added to the laurels of the young players. Many who attended the performances doubting that classical number could be skillfully rendered by the youths remained to praise, and left with the resolution to come again. The first appearance at San Diego was received with a storm of enthusiastic approval, and at the end of the ninth day when the eighteenth performance was made, the crowd which assembled to hear the final numbers was larger than during the earlier dates of the season. The local press came out with the most flattering references to the wonderful renditions, the "San Diego Union" heading its criticism "Boy Musicians prove worthy successors to Creator's organization." The same paper reviewing one of the performances made the following reference: "The performance of the Australian Boys' Band now playing at the exposition is of great interest to musicians generally as well as a source of great pleasure to those whose knowledge of music finds its root in the love of melody for melody's sake. As a musical organization the band compares more favorably with the large military bands of American cities and in the matters of precision, attack, rhythm and dynamics has little to fear from critics." This splendid attraction appears at the Globe Theatre on Wednesday evening, Aug. 11, under the auspices of the Albany Chautauqua association.

BELGIUM AT THE FAIR ATTRACTS SILENT ATTENTION

San Francisco, August 6, 1915.—The tragedy of Belgium is written deep at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. Laughing crowds, thrilled by the splendor of the big fair and its wonders, suddenly become silent before what is veritably Belgium's shrine among the exhibits of nations of the world.

The appearance of the maimed and torn nation, which holds the sympathy of an entire world, is not expected. And when it is encountered under the sheltering folds of the French tricolor men and women stop short. Two rooms in the palatial French building are set aside for Belgium. France has done more than any other nation in her efforts to pay her respects to this country through her exhibits and not the least of the pains taken by the Republic is the attention given Belgium. To the right of the broad, carpeted stairs leading to the main floor of the French building is the Belgium exhibit. Above the door is merely the inscription "Belgium." But beyond is the work of a nation rearing its head above its ruins, and proclaiming to the world that Belgium still lives.

The Belgium exhibit is not large. There is a big model of the city of Antwerp, now held by the Germans. There are a few paintings, bronzes, and exhibits of work from miscellaneous industries.

Men and women stand in silence before busts of King Albert, and Queen Elizabeth, mounted upon pedestals near the center of the room. At the front of these pedestals cut flowers and wreaths are piled high, filling the room with their pungent odor. About the walls of the second room appear such names as Ostend, Bruges, Namur, and other cities, well-known to Americans through war dispatches.

Apparently nothing was overlooked by France in preparing her exhibit for the big fair. There are rare rugs and tapestries from the time of Napoleon. Maps of Balzac, General Lafayette, and others famous in French history, as well as costly exhibits from the modistes and shops of Paris, the nation's best in art and in every industry.

Not Forgotten—

Shall could acquaintance be forgot" has been answered in the negative according to the following from the Jefferson Review: "The Review received this week from the confectionery store of Jennie Rudolph, of San Jose, some fine samples of her stock, made by herself. The Review man has enjoyed eating candy with Mrs. Rudolph (Jennie Alexander) in her kid days in Albany, and sure appreciates the remembrance." But just why Jennie sent the Review man a box of her own make of candy and not the Democrat man is beyond our comprehension.

Harrisburg Hops Damaged—

Local hop growers are making a vigorous effort to save the late hop crop which is being damaged to a considerable extent by lice. Some of them have expended large sums for spray materials and gone over their yards several times. In spite of all the care that has been taken there is sure to be a material loss. The cool weather, it is said, together with foggy mornings in the bottom lands is responsible for the rapid increase in the lice family.—Bulletin.

Will Play Jefferson—

A good ball game is billed for next Sunday on the Jefferson grounds between the Albany and Jefferson teams, beginning at 2:30 p. m. This will probably be the last good game of the season on our home ground.—Review.

On Way to San Francisco—

Dr. Mary M. Marshall and daughter, Miss Evelyn, of this city, today sailed on the Great Northern for San Francisco, where Dr. Marshall next week will attend the conference of osteopaths. Being post-graduate work, and she expects to be at her office again on the 15th. During the week Dr. Marshall attended the national convention at Portland, having charge of the clinics.

Next City Election—

The city election the coming Fall will be of special interest, as the terms of all the officials and three of the councilmen will expire. The councilmen whose terms will expire are F. H. Pfeiffer in the first ward, Chas. Carter in the second and W. H. McElmurry in the third ward. For a number of years there has been no politics in the city election, which is proper, and hence proper in the management of the offices themselves.

Not a Grouch—
The Eugene Register gives the name of Chester Crouch, who is to go into the service in the navy, as Charles A. Grouch. Chester is no grouch, but a genial young man who may be depended upon for faithful service for his country. He will have the best wishes of many Albany friends in his new life.

To the Business Men of Albany

When a run-down salesman calls on you, do you buy his goods? Aren't you afraid of his line because he looks as if no one ever gave him an order? Same thing is true of a seedy town. To be prosperous we must look prosperous and show local pride.

Clean streets, nice stores and well-painted buildings pay because they bring business. Paint-hungry buildings are least excusable, for paint made of and pure linseed oil pays its way by protecting buildings against rot and decay. Let us estimate on your painting job. We have all good painting requisites. Call us up today.
