"THE SCARLET SIN" A GREAT MASTERPIECE, TOMORROW

The adherents of all creeds and the ministers who expound them will think hard when "The Scarlet Sin" is flashed on the screens of the Hub Theatre tomorrow night. The reason? Because Hobart Bosworth has embodied in the photoplay a spiritual story told in a red-blooded way, a story which tells of a minister's struggle against adversity, ignorance, brutality and the infidelity of his wife—all at the same time.

While trying to convert a crowd of jeering, ignorant miners a sudden treachery insults the minister and pours a gall into the wound by shouting that the minister's wife is a wanton.

Does the minister meekly bow his head when the insult is flung at him? He does not. He belongs to the church militant, and, finding that he can neither convince nor convert his villifier by any other means, swings on the brute who is leering at him and knocks him cold with a well-directed blow on the jaw.

It didn't matter afterward that the minister found that his wife really was unfaithful to him. That one swing on the jaw converted a whole camp of miners. Thereafter they respected him and listened, first with interest and later with devotion, to the words of truth he flung at them in words of one syllable.

Moreover, when the rude miners learned that the minister had given up a fashionable parish in New York to come to their shantytown, every mother's son of them rallied to his support, and even the bully whom the minister had smashed became his staunchest friend. "The Scarlet Sin" was produced by Otis Turner and Hobart Bosworth jointly and is truly a Universal masterpiece. It will be seen at the Hub, with Mr. Bosworth and Jane Novak playing the principal roles.

BIG MINSTRELS COMING TO OPERA HOUSE SATURDAY

You can fool all the people some of the time, and some of the people all the time, but you can't fool all the people all the time. Many theatrical managers have tried to do this, to their sorrow. The public is a loyal fellow, but once you try to fool him, and he catches you, he never forgives or forgets.

No amusement organization in the country has a more loyal following than Richards & Pringle's Famous Georgia Minstrels. Probably this is because they have always kept faith with and never tried to fool their patrons. Each year they bring a show absolutely dependable, as to cleanliness and quality. Each year, too, they give more than they promise.

You cannot find today a minstrel organization in existence that started at the same time as "The Georgian," as this company is often styled. Why is this?

The question is easily answered: HONESTY, that's all. This sterling band of entertainers will appear at the Opera House on Saturday, Aug. 14.

City News

The Bells Rang—

For the first time in 25 years, all the children of Dr. and Mrs. J. R. N. Bell were at Corvallis Sunday. Those present were Lee C. Bell, county clerk of Baker county; Mrs. Jennette Shedd, of Pullman, Wash.; Mrs. Ora Hedengren, of Corvallis; Mrs. Myrtle Richardson, of Independence; Miss Essie Bell, of Portland, and Lloyd C. Bell, of Corvallis.

Says Business Is Good—

A. L. Wilbur, who travels for a Portland farm machinery house left this morning for Portland. He says business has been good in his line this year, and predicts a good winter for local merchants. Crops have been good all over the state and there will be plenty of money in circulation this fall.

Off for Lake and Fair—

Frank G. Will left this morning with Bert and Tom Stevens in his new Buick, for Medford and Crater Lake. After seeing the sights in those parts Mr. Will will proceed to San Francisco to see the fair and the Messrs. Stevens will return to Albany in the car.

More to Crater Lake—

C. W. Boettcher, and family, and G. T. Hockensmith, and family, left this morning in their autos for an outing at Crater Lake. Five such parties left today for that wonderful park, and more will go from Albany in the near future.

Eugene Movie Coming—

Next week at the Globe Theatre will appear a local talent moving picture production staged by prominent society people of Eugene. The leading parts are taken by Elmer Paine, cashier of the Merchants National Bank, Dean Hayes, a prominent clothing merchant, Mayor Bell, and other prominent men and women. Two mermaids take part and dive off a high ladder during the exciting action of the picture. The camera work is done by a professional producer formerly with the Nestor company of the Universal Film Co., and is said to be good. Another big production coming to the Globe next week is Lillian Russell in her famous play, "Wildfire." The week following comes Weaver and Fields in "Old Dutch," both high-class productions.

Will Visit the Fair—

Hon Samuel M. Garland, and family, have reserved passage on the Great Northern steamer and will sail for San Francisco next Saturday to visit the exposition.

Chicago Woman Here—

Mrs. Minnie Volse, of Chicago, left on the morning electric for Portland after visiting relatives, the Weasart family, at this city.

Salem Mayor Here—

Mayor H. C. White, of Salem spent the night in the city.

Will Return to Seattle—

Edward Lee, who has been visiting at the home of his parent, Dr. and Mrs. W. H. Lee, will return to Seattle tomorrow.

Saving for Counties—

The Oregon Voter of Portland recently gave a list of the counties of the state, with the amounts saved the counties during the past year in the running of county offices, and also the excesses. In Linn county the percentage was 30. The highest was 73 per cent, in Yamhill county. Benton county was 17, Lane 22, Marion 39. Among those that increased their expenses in the offices was Coos, with 210 per cent to its record. Wasco is next with 205.

Returned from Tillamook—

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Goettling returned last evening from Tillamook Bay, where they spent a couple of weeks. They found it a delightful place, with plenty of fish and seabreezes all the time. One of the most interesting sections of the Northwest is along the coast in Tillamook county.

In Our Forests—

F. J. Brandage, superintendent of the forestry service for this district, will leave in the morning on a trip over his district. He will go to Cascade, and from thence across over the new trail established last year, to Quartzville, and from there into Detroit. So far there have been no fires of any extent, four or five starts, covering less than a quarter of an acre in each case. People more than ever are respecting the request to be careful.

FOR SALE—All my horses, cattle, hogs, household goods, etc., at public sale Saturday, Aug. 14, at my place, 2 miles south of Albany on Tangent road. John R. Houseweart. a10-13

EXHIBIT SHOWS THE OILING OF AUTOS

It is not often that it falls to the lot of the average motorist to see the internal workings of his car while in actual operation. Therefore every motorist that possibly can should visit the exhibit being held by the Standard Oil company next door to the St. Francis, where they will find a stripped chassis of a White truck and a Ford car with portions of the housing of the motor, transmission and rear axle cut away, so that the internal workings of the motor, transmission and rear axle may be seen as it actually travelling on the road.

This is an educational feature in every respect and is intended to show the automobile owner how to take care of, manipulate and lubricate his car correctly. There is an engineer in attendance who will explain not only the workings of your car and also answer any questions relating to the same. He states that wherever this exhibit has been, it has been received with the greatest of enthusiasm by the automobile public in general and shows graphically why his company recommends fluid greases that will splash and give perfect lubrication. Therefore do not fail to visit the exhibit and get posted on the care and lubrication of your particular car. The exhibit opens today and will continue until Aug. 14, inclusive.

Judge Hewitt left this noon for Salem on a business trip.
