SALOON DOOMED.

Even the Oregonian pronounces the doom of the saloon.An organization calling itself the Ohio Temperance Union and announcing itself as against prohibition, wrote a letter to Lyman Abbott, editor of The Outlook, asking for a statement of his views on proposed liquor legislation, to be used in the Ohio campaign. It was known that Dr. Abbott was not a prohibitionist—it may be remembered that Colonel Roosevelt once proudly compared his own abstemious habits to Dr. Abbott's, though admitting he was not a total abstainer—and it was assumed that he would not aid the prohibitionists.Dr. Abbott took the unexpected course of replying through The Outlook. "I am not in favor," he said,
"of state-wide prohibition, except where a public sentiment for prohibition already exists." It must be admitted that the good doctor's definition of his attitude is a truly delicate one, for his pronouncement is tantamount to saying that he is, for a prohibi-tionist will prohibit, and for none other.But Editor Abbott leaves no doubt as to where he stands toward the saloon. "In common with most Americans," he says, "I believe in the regulation, not the prohibition, of the liquor traffic. But the action of the liquor dealers has made regulation impossible." Then follows a severe arraignment of saloonmen as breakers of the law, or as partners and associates of the law-breaking classes."If," he says, "we cannot reform the saloonmen, we shall abolish them. If we can find no other way to abolish them, we shall abolish the distillery, the brewery, the winery and the importation of liquor from abroad."Dr. Abbot has correctly sensed the feeling and purpose of the American people. The saloon as an institution is doomed. The states which have adopted prohibition will never again have the saloon as it has existed; and states which have suffered it to live will sooner or later put it out of business, and try something else."

IT'S YOU.

If you want to live in the kind of a townLike the kind of a town you like.
You needn't ship your clothes in a grip And start on a long-long hike.
You'll only find what you left behind.
For there's nothing that's really new.It's a knock at yourself when you knock your town.

It isn't the town—it's you.

Real towns are not made by men afraid

Lest somebody else gets ahead.

When everybody wants and nobody thinksAnd if while you make your personal stake

Your neighbor can make one, too.

Your town will be what you want to see.

It isn't your town—it's you.

MISFITS

Misfits has seen considerable spoon-ing lately in public places, sometimes in movie shows, and recently a couple of cases at the depot. Nothing is more disgusting. People who have so little sense as to make love in public ought to be put in a nursery or sent to an institution for the feeble minded.Even in private love ought to be along reasonable lines. One doesn't have to be a fool because no one is looking.Some people get love and passion all mixed up.There will be less divorces as there is more practical sense in what is called love matters.If there is any place in the European war worse than hell it is Serbia these days.One fine thing about movies has been discovered. You can leave any time you wish without knocking to pieces the rest of the audience by the noise you make.The Germans don't allow the use of English in Sumatra, and now over there cricket is pronounced Driestahenschelspiel.With skirts nine inches short and winter coming on the price of rubber will probably rise.Some one can't lick the Turks too soon to suit 99 per cent of the residents of this country. They ought to be more than licked, annihilated.In making a correction yesterday two of the Democrat's Misfits got mixed up so that they looked like Col.
Chaos himself, completely spoiling the sense.Here's the end of today's Misfits, with an old-time puzzle, the address of a letter:WOOD
