VALUE OF EFFICIENCY.

A Portland paper gives a good sketch of the life of Thomas Roberts a prominent merchant of the city, who has always sought character as well as money. He was recently asked this question:

"What is the first essential to business success?"

His answer was on his lips instantly—"Efficiency." Then he went on to explain for what efficiency stands. In the first place it meant that one must understand his business in every detail to direct it aright. Secondly he must be on the job almost constantly until he has drilled assistants to stand between him and many of the details. "But the first essential," he went on, "is efficiency in the right. It is not enough simply to be efficient, for a man might be an efficient horsethief. The true aim of every right-thinking man should be efficiency in the right.

"The next thing that goes toward success, permanent, enduring success according to my way of thinking, is to keep out of the rut. By that I mean you should have times to work and times to play. During your hours of business, forget the play; during the hours of play or relaxation, forget your business. In other words, never take your business home and then carry it to bed with you."

WHY NOT MARRY?

Several young men were asked by the Woman's Home Companion why they avoided matrimony, and one of them answered:

"I want just a common, garden variety of wife, like my father married. There can't be two business careers under one roof. I'm willing to work like two, if she'll drop hers. And, let me tell you, when I'm the head of a big automobile concern, I'll issue a ukase—no girls employed in any branch of the plant. That's what I think of matrimony for the business girl. Business warps her view on the home, husband and babies. She thinks she wants all three of them, and she does; but her salary, her financial independence, the habit of earning have a stronger hold on her. My stars, what a bunch of tight-wads and tyrants our male ancestors must have been!"

MISFITS

It is said Bruce Evans has dealt considerable of a blow to Mr. Cigarette, sometimes known as the coffin nail.

By the way, did you ever notice that when the movies want to picture a scene of degradation they have a cigarette in it.

A recent test showed eight beats to the minute increase from smoking a single cigarette.

The rain came, creating a demand for wet weather goods.

If water seeks its level, a good deal of rain is due, for the season has been dry so far.

A dollar saved is a dollar earned, and it is the same way with trouble.

If one can talk by wireless with Europe, why is it not possible to have a machine that will bring over the roar of the cannon and the swish of the shrapnel.

But it is bad enough to read about it.

It is about time football men learned to meet that old side line trick of hiding in the crowd, along the edge for a pass. We're ashamed of Albany for getting caught in it.

But the team is a good one, the best in the history of the school nevertheless.

There is agony down around Oakland, Or., the turkey center of the state. The ax brigade is about to start for Turkey.

The Review says Roseburg is better supplied with money than most towns around. Ten to nine Albany banks have the most.
