COMMUNITY COOPERATION.

A writer who seems to know what he is talking about says:

If you have children to educate, if you are interested in local conditions or religious affairs, if you own, or expect to own a home, or other property in your community, a few minutes' thought will convince you that it is decidedly to your best interest to patronize your local stores at all times, provided investigation proves that you can do so to as good advantage as elsewhere.

Villages, towns and communities develop in accordance with the amount and quality of effort put forth by their citizenship, and progressive, right-living people who have long since learned that it is neither profitable nor pleasant to live in non-progressive communities. In nearly every locality are fathers and mothers whose sons and daughters have been forced to leave home in order to secure profitable employment that should have been afforded locally.

If you live on a farm you want good roads, schools, churches, telephone service, mail delivery and a convenient market in which to dispose of your products and from which to supply your wants.

If you live in town you want, in addition to the above, good streets and sidewalks, wholesome amusements—those things that go to make a community worth living in.

These advantages are the natural outcome of, and are limited to the growth and condition of your locality, which is in turn dependent upon the extent of local trade activities.

Did you ever see a really good town that did not have good stores? The two go hand in hand.

Bear in mind that home trading is a most vital element in community welfare and progress. Consider carefully the fact that a portion of every dollar spent in local stores finds its way to some essential function for the support and development of the neighborhood, the general prosperity of which you must necessarily share in.

Increased local business means the possibility for securing additional modern public conveniences and luxuries, additional trading, educational, religious and social advantages, consequently, increased individual wealth and opportunity.

Your local merchants are entitled to your patronage, provided they offer you the right kind of merchandise at the right price, and you owe it to yourself and your community to extend it to them.

MISFITS

A man back east named Cannon recently disappeared, and, immediately a newspaper remarked that he had probably gone off. This was not Joe Cannon, who disappeared from politics a few years ago, but did not go off.

Nothing like being invited to feed you pay for yourself.

If there's observed tomorrow a seismic disturbance, it's simply the U. O. O. A. C. football game.

People who growl at the upkeep of an auto should stop and consider the upkeep of the European juggernaut.

Misfits doesn't mind jokes about other people; but when it comes to his own name, that's some difference. Here is the outburst of an eastern funny man:

Yes, W. N. Nutt has been re-elected president of the National Nut Growers' association. Added to this, the Mt. Pleasant (La.) Free Press says that Miss Hazel Nutt has accepted a position at the Iowa State Hospital. Then, Miss Hazel Nutting is a student at Northwestern University, Chicago, and Mrs. Thomas James Nutty, of Mammoth, N. Y., has petitioned the state courts to change his name to Nutley. Bring on the crackers!

About time to go to the plumber and have your stomach tin lined ready for t. d.

To them that hath shall be added. Another $1,000,000 gift has been made to Yale, already running over with money. That would put Albany college on the P. C. map.

Crushed: Belgium, Poland, Serbia! What country next?

Yesterday we endeavored to say that the Allies will eat their Thanksgiving dinner this year without Turkey; but it read with Turkey. Some difference. The Dardanelles campaign has failed and Turkey is safe for while at least.
