AT THE HUB TONIGHT

No exhibition of recent years has evoked the attention as that given to yesterday, complimenting Father the old convict ship "Success," the sole survivor of England's felon fleet of ocean transports. In all the world day it would be difficult to find a craft with a more interesting history than Margaret Kropp and Von Torrence; this old ship that carried convicts to Australia for over 50 years. As a relic of a bygone age, it is a vivid and striking object lesson in the progress in civilization. It shows what governlooked down the track and saw a ments did to the poor and the helpless, making them infinitely worse than they were at the first, even

THREE GREAT FOOTBALL GAMES THANKSGIVING DAY

U. O. and Multnomah, Washington and Colonado and Syracuse and Montana.

Portland, Nov. 20.-That the game here tomorrow between the University of Oregon and the Multnomah Amateur Athletic club will be a hard fought one goes without saying.

The clubites always have one of the most formidable organizations in the west, composed, as it is, of past masters at the art of football. Among its players are men who achieved renown on some of the most famous teams in the country.

Opposed to them will be probably the best team the University of Oregon has turned out in several seaions. Its defeat of the O. A. C. last Saturday by a score of 9 to 0, after that team had taken the measure of the Michigan Aggie stamps it as being not only one of the best in the west but of the entire country as Missoula, Mont. Nov. 24 -- No game in recent years has attracted as much omment and speculation as the one here tomorrow between Syracuse University and the University of Montana. Both are strong in their respective territories and the outcome will give the fans enough figures to mult over for the rest of the winter H Montana wins her team will have demonstrated that she is as good as any of the eastern elevens, while if Syracuse emerges victorious it will have shown that the far east excels in the gridiron sport. Interest was added to the game by the fact that Syracuse meets O. A. C. at Portland December 1.
