FORD AND OLD MAIDS.

Dr. Loveland, of Portland, recently said that Ford was a "hysterical millionaire," and the young woman from Portland who sailed with his party "an old maid." A writer in the Journal has this to say about the matter:

One millionaire, even hysterically anxious for peace, is more human than a dozen hysterically anxious to make millions from the sale of killing machines and "munitions." Perhaps the reverend gentleman noted that steel stock jumped several points atter President Wilson delivered his address to congress, indorsing "prepara-edness." Which kind of hysteria does Mr. Loveland prefer—that of Ford or of the members of the steel trust who belong to the Army and Navy league, or something of that sort, working for war?

One expects "men about town" to sneer at "old maids," but that a man of intelligence at this late day should fling the epithet at any woman, especially a young and attractive one, like our peace envoy, is incredible. He must know that single women, more than ever before, are serving humanity in numberless ways. Not all of them are as well known as Frances E.
Willard and Susan B. Anthony were, or as Jane Addams is. Thousands of them—providing support for married weeks dependent upon them, mothering the children of over-prolific but incompetent relatives—never will be heard of. Nevertheless, their nobility, patience and unselfishness enrich the world. These are the women who suffer the taunt "old maid," though quite possibly they received more "offers" than many of their married sisters. Such women, however, don't carry the scalps of conquest at their belts.

The day will come when, more and more, women of brain and heart—women fit to be the mothers of a free race—will not accept motherhood.
The stronger the love of children in the breast of such women, the stronger her resolve to be true to the children and keep them out of a world that can brew such conditions as now exist in Europe; or conditions that all the year round in our own country keep the weary procession of the unemployed going from city to city; that fill our factories with little old men and women who should be beautiful joyous children; that force half our city population, because of high rents, into unlivable places to live; that, whenever our lords of finance choose to force a money famine keep thousands on the rack of mental torture because of "hard times." It is no world for children, not to say grownups. It must improve quickly, or children will not be permitted to come into it. All honor to the women who take the initiative in such a movement.

MISFITS

It is a great event in the life of a woman when she has all she wants to wear.

We can grow all we please about high taxes; but it has about reached that point where it is like Sisyphus over rolling the stone up the mountain.

The burden is a part of life, and we may as well face the music serenely and smile.

Most people live in glass houses.
You know the rest.

Nine times out of ten mud throwing is back acting.

If it hurts to give don't do it.

Half is in the spirit in which a thing is given.

Giving because someone will give to you is one of the most colossal fores of the age.

Mr. Smythe, of St. Louis, has spent 30 of his 45 years in hospitals, and has been operated on 131 times; but, nevertheless always cheerful and as smiles rather than growls.

The woman who buys and gives twenty-five or thirty presents and teaches Christmas eve without her nerves shattered is made of steel.

Very kind in Mr. Weather to be cool just before Xmas.

Albany may not be perfect; but not a single case of a woman wearing an ankle watch has been reported.

Individuality in Christmas Presents

Unusual things are the ones most appreciated. This is a specialty store, where high classed goods are moderately priced. Talk to us about the following:

Leather purses, card cases, playing card outfits, writing companions containing tourist tablets, are all neat and practical. Engraved visiting cards will be appreciated. Plates and 100 cards as low as $1.50.

Stationery, including tablets, box and pound papers, in the famous Whiting make. We do embossing on correspondence cards and stationery. One thousand and one uses are here making it possible for us to make single and combinations of two letters while you wait in gold at the low price of thirty-five cents per quire.

Loose Leaf Memorandum and price Books, with flexible, morocco leather backs and leather lined, will last a lifetime. A loose leaf book with name printed in gold on cover, makes a handsome gift.

The Sheaffer Self Filling Fountain Pen has no equal. It is perfect in material and workmanship, and is indefinitely guaranteed. Should it ever prove defective in any way no matter how long you have used it, we will make it good. Prices from $2.50 to $12.00.

Individually Engraved Christmas Cards. There is a touch of personality conveyed through their use that is keenly appreciated. We have them engraved with your name and appropriate verses, holly, candle and poinsettia designs. See samples. Prices including envelopes, 20 for $3.00, 25 for $3.50, 40 for $4.50, 50 for $5.00. Larger quantities at a much cheaper rate. Visiting cards may be engraved from these plates at any time.

Pictures on Sale. We are going to close out our picture department. All pictures are now reduced to one-half of the original price. They will make beautiful presents at bargain prices
