GLYCERINE AND BARK PREVENT APPENDICITIS

The simple mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., known as Adler-i-ka, astonishes Albany people. Because Adler-i-ka acts on BOTH lower and upper bowel, ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. It removes such surprising foul matter that a few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. The INSTANT, easy action of Adler-i-ka is astonishing. Last Skate at Copenhagen—

Another big crowd skated at Copenhagen last night, it is to be hoped, the last skating of the season, as enjoyable as the sport is. Copenhagen has had an eventful career, not only furnishing the dirt for a great railroad, but the ice for some great skaters.

Dog Was Poisoned—

J. A. Humphreys, clerk at the post-office, reports the poisoning of his pet fox terrier dog by some unknown person this morning. Indications are that strychnine was used. Mr. Humphreys knows of no one who had anything against him or his dog and is at a loss to account for the motive of the deed.

BOARD MAKES REPORT ON RECENT C. & E. ACCIDENT

The board appointed to consider the cause for the recent accident on the Corvallis & Eastern, in which an extra passenger train collided with a tree lying across the track, this side of Mill City, upon careful investigation, today handed in their findings, declaring that the accident could have been prevented by proper care. The board consisted of the following: F. L. Burkhalter, superintendent; Geo. Wild, master mechanic; E. D. Cusick, banker, and W. A. Barrett, merchant and banker.

This board finds that a sound fir tree, growing forty feet from center of track, was blown down and fell diagonally across track, toward train, tree being twenty inches in diameter, where in contact with rails. That portion of tree across track had no limbs. A freight train passed this point about 6:35 p. m. Passenger extra 1346, consisting of locomotive and two cars, ran into the tree at 7 p. m. Accident occurred on tangent track about 450 feet beyond end of curve in direction of train. Weather cloudy, moonlight and strong wind blowing. Temperature below freezing and 4 or 5 inches of snow on ground and rail frosty, but clear of snow. Locomotive equipped with nitrogen electric headlight in good condition and brakes on locomotive and train in good order and operative. Engineer states sanders not working, account of opening of sander pipes being obstructed with ice. Engineer further states that he had not used sanders in making two stops between Albany and point of accident and that sanders were working leaving Albany. Crew had order, reading "run with care where slides or washout liable to occur, lose time if necessary to insure safety." Train probably making 18 miles per hour at time obstruction sighted and probably 10 miles per hour when struck obstruction. Engineer discovered obstruction, applied brakes in emergency and reversed engine. Fireman discovered obstruction at same time. Engine truck crowded back front drivers, left driving wheel mounted axle of engine truck. All drivers derailed, also leading pair of tank wheels. Tree carried ahead about 38 feet by locomotive. Section foreman had passed scene of accident about 4:30 p. m., track walker passed at 11:30 a. m. and no night patrolling of track was done. Two small trees had fallen on same foreman's section during the day and the wind was unusually strong.

During last night 18 hoboes slept in the city rooming house on Second street, leaving this morning, bound southward. During the night there were also about 25 men here on their way north. Both were bound in the direction the others came from looking for railroad work on account of the recent snow storm.

A Peculiar Legacy—

To wake up one morning and find that an eccentric uncle had willed him a seminary in Massachusetts, containing 200 bright, pretty, vivacious young ladies and that he was expected to accept this as a liberal and just legacy, was the experience of Jack Pennington, in "Langdon's Legacy," a splendid five reel feature at the Hub Theatre tonight. The part of Jack is taken by the romantic young actor, J. Warren Kerrigan, who carried out the provisions of the will and pursues the fight for a gold mine in Peru in a most enjoyable manner. This play was enjoyed last night and will be repeated at the Hub again tonight for the last time.
