GREAT GRIFFITH PLAY AT GLOBE THEATRE TODAY

"Avenging Conscience" Said
By Griffith Better Than
"Birth of a Nation."

"Avenging Conscience," the "supreme achievement" in six reels of D. W. Griffith, who also produced "The Birth of a Nation" begins a two day showing at the Globe theatre today, and it is promised that it will create a greater sensation than any other picture that hitherto has been shown in this city.

Blanche Sweet, Henry B. Walthall and all the stars of "The Birth of a Nation" are featured in "Avenging Conscience."

Critics all over the country have raved over "Avenging Conscience." Psychologists have found in it much of interest, for it is a picturization of conscience.

"Avenging Conscience," perhaps the most costly feature photoplay ever shown here, delights with its flashes of exquisite beauty, the very essence of spiritual charm. A moment later it moves to pity, wonder and horror.

The photography is remarkably clear as are all Griffith's greater productions, and there is not a dull moment in the play.

"Avenging Conscience" comes direct to this city from its successful week's run at the Heilig theatre, Portland, where it played to capacity, on two different days hundreds of people being turned away.

In photography, in beauty, in unique conceptions, in dramatic power "Avenging Conscience" marks an entirely new era in motion picturedom.

Mr. Griffith, the producer, is universally acclaimed as the leading motion picture producer of the world, and Griffith himself declares that "Avenging Conscience" is not only his supreme achievement, but is two years ahead of its time.

As had, but policies are reported some times that show great carelessness, or something else.

COLLEGES TAKING UP PREPAREDNESS

General Wood Principal Speaker at Wesleyan Banquet.

YALE'S LIGHT ARTILLERY.

Influential Alumni Strongly Favor
Military Training at Wesleyan For All Students as a Requirement For Graduation—Propose Signal Corps
Under Command of Regular Officers.

General Leonard Wood was the principal speaker at the annual banquet of the New York alumni of Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn., held in New York on Friday evening, Jan. 14, under the auspices of the Wesleyan University club of New York, at which were gathered over 500 alumni and friends of the university. The subject of General Wood's address was "The Colleges in Relation to Military Training." The questions which he discussed were the principal topic for all the other speakers. President William Arnold Shanklin of Wesleyan and Hon. Arthur L. Andrews, corporation counsel of Albany and member of the Wesleyan class of 1875, also spoke.

The idea of discussing the matter of preparedness at this occasion was developed by a number of influential alumni who are strongly in favor of military training at Wesleyan for all students as a requirement for graduation. A joint committee of the trustees and faculty now has the matter under consideration. Colonel John Gribbel of Philadelphia, aid on the military staff of Governor Brumbaugh of Pennsylvania, and a Wesleyan trustee, is chairman of the committee. Former Public Service Commissioner John E. Enstis, member of the Lafayette Post, No. 140, G. A. R., Wesleyan trustee and member of the Wesleyan class of 1874, is another member of the committee. Hon. Stephen H. Olin of New York city, formerly colonel and chief of staff of the First brigade, New York national guard, Wesleyan trustee and member of the Wesleyan class of 1865, although not a member of the committee, is keeping in close touch with its deliberations.

Already Started at Yale.

The movement for military training in colleges has already started at nearby Yale, where a light artillery corps is being organized. Some alumni favor the proposal to equip a signal corps at Wesleyan, under the command of regular army signal officers, who will be detached and assigned for that particular service. The student body at Wesleyan now numbers over 500, which is about the right size for the maintenance of a signal corps in all its different branches. The physical and electrical laboratories at Wesleyan can, with comparatively little alteration, be extended to meet even the exacting requirements of the regular army signal service. Already two wireless stations have been erected and now are in operation at Wesleyan.

An army officer of high rank who has recently visited Middletown for the purpose of examining the topography of the city and surrounding territory and the Wesleyan equipment reports that both are more than adequate to warrant the undertaking of the signal corps experiment. He further states that the athletic field and the Fayer weather gymnasium, both immediately adjoining the campus, are well adapted for practice in the fundamentals of signal drill with flags and the semaphore system, together with drill in laying and erecting field telephones and telegraphs, while the many commanding hills scattered about Middletown in every direction and on both sides of the Connecticut river are equally well adapted for the erection of wireless stations, heliographs and lamps of various kinds for working by night. It is believed that the co-operation of the American Telephone and Telegraph company and associated companies can be secured to install all the necessary apparatus at Wesleyan and on the surrounding hills within a radius of twenty-five miles of Middletown, the erection to be supervised by regular army signal officers. One enthusiastic alumnus has offered to provide an automobile with a field wireless equipment.

Aviation Squad Suggested.

Intimations have been received that the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company occasionally will put a special train at the disposal of the Wesleyan signal corps, completely equipped for the transportation of signal apparatus, thus giving ample opportunity for the study and practice of signal transportation problems and the execution of rapid maneuvers.

A few alumni go so far as to urge the organization of an aviation squad as an integral part of the Wesleyan signal corps, with courses of instruction in aviation. For this plan at least two aeroplanes and a balloon will be needed for the purposes of observation and spotting artillery fire.

President Wilson, who was professor of history and jurisprudence at Wesleyan from 1888 to 1890, is interested in the plan for military training there, as related to his larger plan of national preparedness. President Wilson recently wrote: "My own thought turns back with the greatest pleasure to the memories of my two years at Wesleyan. I have always felt that they were among the happiest years of my life."

My Answer to the Dental Trust

TRUST PRICES CUT ONE-HALF

ETHICAL COMBINE EXPOSED

Painless Parker Dentistry 50 per cent Less Than Trust Dentistry

Open Day and Night

I am going to expose the extortion practiced on the people of Oregon by the Dental Trust. If this Trust can raise a slush fund of $6000 every month with which to carry on a campaign against Painless Parker, I am going to cut off its source of supply, which is in the pockets of the people, by cutting in half the price of dentistry, and thereby stop, if possible, the contributions to this slush fund.

I can do high-class, painless dentistry at half the prices and make money. As long as this Trust sells the public, it can afford to spend the money to fight Painless Parker.

I propose to protect myself by depriving the Trust of its sinews of war. At the same time I will give every man, woman and child in Oregon the opportunity to get my dentistry at 50 per cent less than they have been forced to pay heretofore for old style inferior Trust service.

Out of every dollar spent by the people of Oregon for Trust Dentistry, a certain proportion goes to keep up this Trust, so it can control the dental business in this state.

One way of controlling dentistry here has been to exterminate professionally any dentist who might give the Trust hard competition.

I know how to compete with this Ethical combine. That way is to give the public better dentistry at less money.

Hundreds of Oregon people who have bought my dentistry since I opened my Portland office a year ago know my dentistry is superior to any ever obtained of Trust dentists at twice my fees.

I can buy high grade material, except 22k gold, cheaper than Trust dentists, because I buy it in large quantities for all my offices, including my Portland office. I can give better service because of my painless methods.

Every one of my associated dentists in my Portland office is fully the equal of any Trust dentist in the state, because all of them have been licensed to practice here by the Trust's own hand picked board of dental examiners. If an examination before the Trust's board is what the Trust claims is to be, then every dentist associated with me in my Portland office is fully the equal in skill, training and education of any dentist belonging to the Dental Combine.

If I can do Painless Parker dentistry at half the prices charged by members of the Trust, and make money, then certainly it is nothing short of highway robbery of the public pocket-book for Trust dentists to charge 100 per cent more for Trust dentistry.

I came to Portland to give the people a square deal in dentistry. And I know how to do it. I intend to give this Trust a run of competition, so that when I get through it will not be able to raise $6,000 a month, or any sum, for a slush fund with which to fight Painless Parker. If fur rugs are selling at 13 cents a gross, the Trust will not be able to buy one hair.

According to a dispatch in a Portland paper Senator E. D. Cusick made the following statement:

"I have not forgotten my pledge to reduce commissions and consolidate offices of county recorder," he said. "I heartily approve the movement to abolish the office throughout the state and if the coming legislature doesn't pass the law, I promise to put an act through the senate abolishing the office in Linn county. I make this announcement now, so that prospective candidates may know what is going to happen."

RUTH ROLAND AT THE ROLF IN "COMRAD JOHN"

Pretty Ruth Roland, who won fame through her work in the well known "Who Pays?" series recently shown in this city, will be seen at the Rolf theatre tonight and Tuesday in the five act Pathe drama, "Comrad John" taken from the well known novel by Samuel Merwin and Henry Kitchell Webster. She is co-starred with William Elliott. Following is a synopsis of "Comrad John":

Herman Stein, leader of a new religious cult, "Beauty Through Toil," secures the services of John Chance, an architect, to build a model community for him. Before starting on the work Chance takes a trip to Paris, where, at a carnival, he rescues a beautiful American girl from the riotous masqueraders. Cynthia, aboard ship on her way home, meets Prophet Stein. He sees in her an ideal high priestess for his cult, her beauty appealing to him as a splendid advertising proposition, and wins her to his cult. When Chance returns from Europe he goes to Beecherroft to start his building and is surprised to find there the girl he saved in Paris. Here, in the course of the building construction, many thrilling episodes ensue, in which Stein, already married, attempts to make love to Cynthia and is frustrated by the watchful Chance. In the final scene with his followers clamoring for his life and the Beecherroft buildings burning, Stein attempts an escape with his people's funds. He is felled by a falling beam and buried in the smouldering ruins. Cynthia is saved by Chance and finds in him the unalloyed realization of her ideals.
