FAIR OAK CIRCLE INSTALLS OFFICERS FOR COMING YEAR

Fair Oaks Circle No. 1 Ladies of the G. A. R. had a very pleasant and profitable meeting last Tuesday afternoon, the officers for 1916, some of whom were installed at this meeting, acquitting themselves in a most creditable manner. Mrs. Eva Carnegie, the new president, presided, with Mrs. Jennie Brown Carnegie, as secretary. Having acted as such for a full ten years, a model secretary for sure, catching every point in the work and the business transacted, even to the minutest details. These records will be a monument to her painstaking thoroughness when the hand that penned them is stilled in death.

The other officers of the circle are: Senior vice president, Jenny E. Curry; junior vice president, Melissa Perry; treasurer, Belle Westbrook; chaplain, Mary E. Linn; conductor, Ida Morris; assistant conductor, Isabelle Beeson; guard, Myrtle S. Keen; assistant guard, Dora School; patriotic instructor, Etta Olmstead; pianist, Cora N. Leonard.

The previous meeting of the Circle was held in conjunction with McPherson Post No. 5, G. A. R. at which time the officers of the post were installed by Past Commander Ed. Washburn, and those of the circle present by Mrs. Rebecca Small, as special deputy. The leading officers of the post are Com. E. F. Sox; senior vice commander, Thos. Glaze; junior vice commander, William Myers; chaplain, Comrade Carnegie.

Previous to the installation exercises a magnificent banquet was served at high noon by the ladies of the G. A. R. Visiting guests were: Grandfather E. C. McClain, an Indian War veteran of the Yakima war 1855-56, who was 90 years old at his birthday anniversary in November, last. He settled in Linn county over 60 years ago. Other visitors were Comrade Stewart and wife, Mrs. Anna Stewart, retiring president of Fair Oaks circle, their present home. Also Comrade Phillips and wife and three children; Comrade Maxwell was down from Shedd.

After installation a most enjoyable program was offered, consisting of songs, readings, recitations, etc., the leading spirit being Mrs. Jennie Carnegie and Mrs. Eva Carnegie. Pianist, Mrs. Leonard Little; Ruby Parker, in

THE LATE CAPT. WAKEFIELD.

Was an Old Sea Captain, But Gave Up Ocean Life for Life at Waldport.

Capt. Wm. R. Wakefield, well known in Albany, died recently at his home at Waldport, at the age of 68 years. He was born in England spent many years as a sailor, becoming a captain. In 1891 he gave up the ocean and came out to the coast, settling at Waldport, where he has since resided close to the ocean, which he loved. He was a member of the Masons, Elks, Odd Fellows and Artisans. Miss Trumppour, of Tangent, was a niece, and attended the funeral.

ENGLAND AND IMPORTATIONS

Claimed that Shipping Situation Must Be Relieved at Once. Will Prohibit Importations.

London, Jan. 27.—Runciman announced in the house of commons that the government had decided to prohibit the importation of many articles not absolutely necessary to the nation, relieving the shipping situation. The entire British mercantile marine was placed under control of the government.

Liner Beached.

(By United Press)

London, Jan. 26.—The Dominion liner Horsemann was beached without casualties among the crew, it is learned today. Liverpool advices reported her torpedoed and sunk.

Home from California—

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Ralston, who have been spending the winter in Los Angeles and parts of Southern California, returned to the city last evening. They report the winter season having been very delightful in the south, very little bad weather having been encountered.

Back from Missouri—

M. D. Good, well known traveling salesman and member of the Albany Pheasants, returned last night from St. Joe, Mo., where he has been the past few months making his headquarters while traveling in that section. He is glad to get back to the old grounds.
