CONTRACT HAS BEEN LET FOR O. A. C. FORESTRY BUILDING

Fred Erickson, Who Built the Albany P. O. Was Lowest
Bidder, $31,699.

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Feb. 17.—Salem firms will erect the new forestry building at the Oregon Agricultural College and install the heating and lighting systems. After a careful investigation by the building committee of the board of regents the firm of F. A. Erickson, Salem, was awarded the building contract for the sum of $31,699. Contracts for installing the heating and lighting systems were awarded Theodore M. Barr, also of Salem, for $4,424.

This building was recently authorized by the board of regents and its construction will be completed during the summer. The contract calls for completion by September 1, so that the equipment may be installed and the building made ready for use by the opening of the next college year.

The new building will be of brick and its style of architecture will conform to that of the Agricultural hall and the Home Economics buildings. It will be 80 feet by 140 feet with three full floors.

It is designed to accommodate the growing school of forestry. On the first floor will be located a large laboratory for logging engineering and smaller laboratories for wood manufacture, preservative treatment of structural timber, work shops, freight rooms and other utility sections. On the second and third floor will be offices, class rooms, drafting rooms, reading rooms and smaller laboratories. It will be well equipped with modern appliances to carry on instruction and training in modern forestry methods.

CHRISTIAN CHURCH BASKET BALL TEAM BEAT METHODISTS

The Christian church has some basketball team, and last night, at the Y. M. C. A. gym they made the boys of the Methodist church stand up and take notice. Score 21 to 13. King was the star player for the Christian church team, well backed by the rest of the team. The Methodists have a well balanced team and did good work. The line ups were:

Christian church—King and Bilyeu, forwards; Pete Miller, c; Eastburn and Henderson, guards.
Methodists—Boettcher, Nebergall and Jenkins, f; McChesney, c; Parker and Campbell, guards.
McDonald, referee.

CITY NEWS.

Corvallis and O. E.—
Councilman Williamson made the statement Monday night that Oregon Electric engineers have been inspecting the county bridge here with the view of determining the feasibility of remodeling it so that it could be used as a joint bridge for the county and railroad. And the people of Corvallis will hope that the idea is practicable and that the O. E. comes across into the city, where it belongs.—Courier

Raising Things—
The newspapers are also having their troubles. The price of paper is reported up and lino type metal has raised from 8 cents to 13½¢ a pound.

One on Oregon—
Corvallis recently sent back to Syracuse, N. Y., for some new ladders, the only place these special ladders could be secured. They came, and with them the statement that they were made of Oregon fir and ash, the best known woods for ladder making. Are we asleep?

Getting Tropical—
Corvallis is having a newspaper war. An editorial in the Gazette-Times laid out the business stagnation in Benton county to the Courier, whereupon the Courier intimates that the G. T. is a pimple, yellow dog, cur, contemptible coward and that he would spit in the face of his species. The Courier editor had been called a buzzard and it had been suggested that a Ku Klux gang was needed, with tar and feathers. Certainly this is some tropics.

Had Theatre Party—
About 40 people composed a theatre party at the Globe Theatre last night. The husbands of the ladies of the Tuesday Club entertained the club members at dinner and later took them to the show.

Inspected Local Office—
I. Waeging, superintendent of the northwest division of the Great Northern Express Co., and Route Agent C. E. Richards, of the same company, were in the city yesterday going over the books of local agent C. M. Sniffall. They reported finding business in good condition.
