DOESN'T WANT WAR

Probably no man wants war less than President Wilson. His position in reference to armed merchantmen is undoubtedly a conscientious one, in the interest of the nation, and which he probably believes in the long run will operate for peace.

If the government decides, as it probably will, that it is not its business to warn our people from riding on armed merchantmen, this does not in any way work against the right of every individual to warn their friends against going upon the vessel of a belligerent that is armed, whatever the object, whether for defense or offense.

IMPORTANT OFFICES.

You may think the offices of county clerk, county sheriff, county recorder, county treasurer and county school superintendent the most important county offices we have in the county, but that is just where you are mistaken.

The offices of county judge and county commissioner are largely administrative rather than executive. These are the men who have their hands in our pockets. They tell us how much we must spend for the public welfare.—Scio Tribune.

MILK BEATS WHISKEY.

The following resolution was unanimously passed by the Oregon State Dairy Convention at its session in Corvallis, January 3 to 8.

Whereas, The passing of the saloon in the three northwestern states creates a great opportunity for the larger use of milk, by having it kept in the soft drink houses, therefore be it

Whatever course is taken should give us peace, if with honor.

This is no country for the man not loyal to Uncle Sam to the core, and there is no preemption on it because of special opinions. We differ as to methods.

A parrot once talked its head off. Some men come pretty close to it.

If at meetings and clubs the business would be attended to promptly and then quit, instead of having a long useless windstorm, there would be more candidates for membership.

A magazine writer recently said that nothing in the world tires one more than too much talk.

And yet sometimes there is nothing pleasanter, or more wholesome, or more entertaining, or more welcome. It just depends.

Mr. Roosevelt has already been nominated by some.

Some Bride.

The bride was gowned in white silk and the bridesmaid in white silk coats, 1 1/2 pints syrup, 1 1/2 ozs. of carnations and the bridesmaids white and pink carnations.—The Calgary (Canada) Herald.
