CITY NEWS

Striking Picture—

In the show window at Dawson's is a striking picture. It is that of a wild cat just entering its cave with a bird in its mouth. The picture was taken in Wyoming by a brother of Dr. Gipe, and sent him. He has had it enlarged.

Of Cascadia—

G. M. Giesendorfer, mayor of Cascadia, has been in the city today looking after county seat business.

Weather Report—

Yesterday's temperature ranged between 61 and 36 degrees. The river fell to 6.2 feet.

Went to Iowa—

Mr. and Mrs. John Bahren left yesterday for Waverly, Iowa.

Left for Montana—

J. B. Lewis went to Eureka, Montana, yesterday where he will locate.

A Trip to Iowa—

P. Bertier left yesterday for Oskaloosa, Iowa, where he will visit for awhile.

Chautauqua Board Meets—

The Chautauqua board of directors were billed for a meeting today.

Went to Corvallis—

Miss Marion Anderson, Madame Foy, Mrs. Anna Hunt and Mrs. H. A. Nelson drove to Corvallis in the Anderson car this morning.

Went West—

F. M. French left today for the tunnel on the C. & E., where the slide recently occurred, to do some watch inspecting.

Here from Pendleton—

Peter Paulus is down from Pendleton, looking after his Albany property and on a visit with his family. A new front is being put in the McAlpin store. Mr. Paulus expects to return to Pendleton tomorrow.

Bringing Up Father—

The next attraction at the Albany Opera House will be "Bringing Up Father," Saturday evening, April 15. It is a play full of fun, a continued run of laughs. Jiggs is the father. He gets some money, and has to spend it, and his wife helps him. Their butler is some fellow, one of the don't dare to touch me style of servants, who furnishes a great deal of amusement. The play is modeled after Geo. McManus' pictures on bringing up father, and it is said that Johnny Jess, who takes the part, looks very much like McManus' cartoons.

Left for the East—

Dr. R. C. Hunt, dentist, left today for Michigan, where his mother is lying seriously ill. He has closed his office in this city, and expects to remain in the east, but where, he has not yet decided. He came to Albany seven years ago.

Dr. Bilyeu to Build—

N. E. Hoover was yesterday awarded the contract for building a bungalow for Dr. W. R. Bilyeu on his property on Montgomery street between Fifth and Sixth. The contract price is $3000, but it is understood that the cost will run over this figure before the house is completed. The plans were drawn by H. Babbs, and include every modern convenience that could be desired.

Another Dodge Sold—

E. C. Titus, of Stayton, was in the city today and purchased a Dodge car from the Ralston Motor Car Co.

Made a Killing—

Halmar Johnson, of Cascadia, today drew a warrant for $12 as bounty on 6 wild cat skins.

Final Account Filed—

The final account of the estate of Elizabeth Gillam was filed today.

Looking After Pavement—

W. W. Ashby, of the Warren Construction Co., has been in the city several days looking after the paving of several streets having the Warren pavement. The company is keeping up the pavement in good shape.

THRILLING SCENES SHOWN IN "THE GRIP OF JEALOUSY"

The ingenious picture concoctor has gone to the fends of the South, in time before the war, to base the plot of "The Grip of Jealousy," a Bluebird Photoplay which will be the attraction at the Globe theatre tonight and Thursday, with Louise playing the leading role. Because of a long-standing grudge, family against family, one of the most entertaining photo-dramas of the ante-bellum period has been developed, largely on fact, with some

DINNER DANCE TO BE GIVEN IN LOCAL HOTEL

At the request of a number of society folks of this city Manager Bert Westbrook, of the Albany Hotel, has decided to give a supper dance in the beautiful dining room of his hostelry Saturday evening at 7.00 o'clock. This custom of dining and dancing has been the craze in the larger cities of the country for over a year and this year the smaller cities of the coast have taken it up.

The music will be furnished by the Rolfe Peerless Orchestra and can be counted upon to be the best. Mr. Westbrook announces the price to be a dollar a plate for the dinner and dance. The carpet will be removed from half of the floor and the hardwood floor waxed to a fine finish for the dancing space. A number of out-of-town guests are expected for the occasion.

At Astoria—

John A. Shaw, of Albany, is visiting in Astoria with his son, Robert S. Shaw, manager of the Hammond Lumber company. Mrs. Shaw, who has been here for several days, has returned to Albany—Astorian.

embellishment of fiction.

Ida May Park provided the scenario of "The Grip of Jealousy" and her husband, Joseph De Grasse, has made a wonderful production. Boy boy and girl of the vengeful families secretly wed; how the birth of a daughter changed the whole trend of affairs in one particular countryside, and what developed as a result of a suspicion of murder directed at an innocent man has been worked out from a complicated beginning to an entertaining and lucid five-part photoplay that will provide disclosures well worth the attention of the most inveterate "picture fan."

Incident to settling the feud there are many sensational results.
