cific Coast, Irvin bought his first automobile of DeVaux in 1908.

This factory, of which Mr. DeVaux tells, cost around one million dollars. We expect to be getting delivery of cars from this factory by the middle of August.

San Francisco, April 17.—Mr. J. L. Irvin, Albany, Ore.—Dear Mr. Irvin:—We must take time to inform you of the progress in erecting our new factory at Oakland. At the same time I most earnestly invite you to come down and see for yourself what we are doing in the interests of the present and future buyers for Chevrolet cars on the Pacific coast.

We have gone to a large expense in building the most modern, complete up to date automobile factory anywhere.

We are daily in receipt of congratulations and felicitations of good wishes by those who have witnessed the work we are doing in the erection of such a manufacturing industry.

We know you will be glad to receive a few figures relative to the factory and also a photograph of the same, which we take pleasure in mailing you under separate cover.

The building is of a U shape being sixty feet wide, with a frontage of three hundred and six feet on the Foothill Blvd. The wings are three hundred and twenty-one feet long. In the court of this U shaped building are two tracks of the Southern Pacific Ry. one an incoming for the receiving of material and the other an outgoing, which will take away the finished product, "The Chevrolet Car."

It is impossible for us to advise you the stimulus it has given Chevrolet sales. Everyone is very enthusiastic and this enthusiasm is catching so we know should you find your way clear to make us a visit you would go away with the same feeling that we pos-

TO VOTE ON LIQUOR ISSUE.

Three Hundred Illinois Towns to Settle Question at the Polls in April.

Some 200 cities and towns of Illinois will vote on the wet and dry question next April as the result of petitions filed both by the saloon and anti-saloon forces. In about one-third of the localities the wet faction is seeking to regain control of the districts, while in the remainder the dries are trying to drive out the saloons.

In the district surrounding Chicago most of the petitions were filed by the wets in an effort to recover ground lost in the last test, which, coming soon after women were given the ballot, resulted disastrously for the saloon forces. Among the cities are Elgin, Sterling, De Kalb, Rochelle, Batavia, Plainfield, Geneva, Plano, Yorkville, Hinckley and Sycamore.

Apparently the wets have given up hope of regaining Rockford, the largest dry city in the state. No petition was filed there, despite the fact that the city for years has been one of the principal battlegrounds of the wet and dry forces. The wets also ignored a large number of smaller towns which were voted dry at the last election.

In addition to these larger cities, the anti-saloon forces filed petitions in nearly 200 towns in the western and central parts of the state.

The dries are counting to a great extent upon the increasing number of women who are going to the polls at every election.

Marshall Field Was Right

Marshall Field founded his success as a retail dealer on twelve truths. One he called "The obligation of duty."

This store agrees with Field. We realize our obligation to the man who trusts to our judgment for the value he can't see.

It is that deeper value which we offer you in Clothcraft Clothes for men and young men—that long-wearing fabric and thorough-going workmanship, built in piece by piece and step by step.

The makers of Clothcraft also believe in the obligation of duty. For seventy years they have labored to improve medium-priced clothes by putting ingito added value the savings due to better methods of manufacture.

Clothcraft sales justify our conviction that the dealer's success goes hand in hand with the buyer's satisfaction.
