CITY NEWS

Longest Trout—

There seems to be a contest going on in the valley in landing long trout. A McKenzie man pulled out one 25 inches long. Corvallis beat this bad, but had to come to Linn county to do it, getting a 28 inch trout out of the Crabtree. Besides that he had three or four men along to keep up his courage while he was landing the brute. In the meantime, what are Albany nimrods doing for the rep. of the city.

Caught a Salmon—

Harry Powell, a Eugene man, yesterday caught a 27 1/2 pound salmon in the Willamette, with a trout spinner, taking 53 minutes to land the fish. It was 44 inches long. Just why Oregon City people allowed it to pass the falls has not been learned.

U. of O. Annual Fine—

The annual edition of the Oregon, the University of Oregon junior year book, has reached this city, and is a piece of work of which the students may well be proud. A glance through the pages is enough to make any old student homesick for the days at "Dear old Oregon" once again. There is an especially fine print in colors of the old mill race, the classic pleasure place of all University students. The departments are especially well edited, all being full and interestingly written. The book is properly dedicated to Wm. (Bill) Hayward, the
