SATURDAY NIGHT THOUGHTS.

The European war this week has been of interest because of the Russian drive. At one time Verdun was the whole tragic show. Now on the east there is being pulled off some fire works that must make the Verdunists take notice. This is strategy and may have a decided effect on the west side campaign. It is to be regretted that in it all there cannot be seen anything but tigers and lions, nothing that has any resemblance to a dove.

We are getting tired mentioning the Mexican trouble among the big things of the world's events. It is just a bushwhacking affair, with a bad smell to it. The government is entitled to credit for handling it in a manner that is creditable, though hardly satisfactory as to the result. What is to come is merely speculation. One cannot tell what will be done down in the cactus sandhill country the next morning, after the greasers have had time to hatch something.

Another national convention has been held this week, one whose result was merely a formality. It resulted in the nomination of Woodrow Wilson for president and Thos. Marshall for Vice-President. It was cut and dried and has been for several years. It was the demand of the people, because of the fact that Mr. Wilson has made good. This is a fact, not politics. No president ever kept his promises better, nor filled them in an abler and cleaner manner. His piloting has been marvelously clean-headed and efficient. He is more than a politician, a statesman without a superior, a big man.

Here in Albany we have had a commencement season, that of an institution the people of Albany love, with all its troubles and difficulties. Albany College is one of the big landmarks in Albany, something that must be looked upon only as a fixture here, not to be given up under any circumstances, and any effort to do so will be resented. It has always played its part well, though always struggling, and it always will do so. Standing for character as well as efficiency, sadly lacking equipment, it fills a place in the educational program that entitles it to consideration and respect.

Flag day was observed appropriately and well here, one deserving perpetuation. The masses are patriotic to the core, though silent in their demonstration. There is no division along this line as a whole, but there is an element that gets a little slinky and needs bracing up. Patriotism is above politics. It is national and deeper than noise.

MISFITS

One pioneer picnic without a drop of rain.

Have you noticed that the country is going on just about the same since Brandeis became a supreme judge?

Will there be some more agony over Hughes' successor?

The Democratic convention is called a cur and cried affair. Well it had to be.

$1 a pound for meat in Berlin won't affect the Oregon market any, as the English refuse to permit the shipment of meat past their place.

Roosevelt is reported to have a pain in his side. The Col. has given a great many people pains in the side.

An Oregon City councilman has had to pay $1000 for alienating the affections of the wife of a fellow citizen. A big price for the affections of a woman so easily influenced.

The loss of the affections of a jelly fish wife or husband cannot be very serious.

Out of respect for summer vacation season gasoline has started downward. The following from the S. F. Bulletin testifies to the fact: Budgets may budge and conventions convenish, Teddy may ride on the substitute's bench, Fight may be fit in the field and the trench, Russians may rush into glory, Bourbons may yell for the "Red, White and Blue," Villa may run till his legs slant askew, Demons and Progs may say "Kid, I'm for you," Like the lovers that clinch in a story—

What do we care for the battle front news? What do we care for political views? Something's eclipsing the whiskers of Hughes; The Mills of the Gods it is cloggin'— A little announcement has filled us with joy; It is classed with the nurse who declares "It's a boy!" Or the man on a spar when he hears "Wreck, ahoy!"— It is: "Gasoline's on the toboggan!"

At this election there will be elected one director to serve for a term of five years or until his successor is duly elected and qualified.
