WEATHERFORD'S CHANCES.

If Mark Weatherford, of Albany, candidate for congress, gets the full democratic vote, which he will and the prohibition vote which is promised him, and the republican voters who are weary with the fossilized stand-pat ideas of Mr. Hawley, he is sure of election.

It is Mr. Weatherford's plan to campaign the outlying sections of this congressional district very thoroughly, to get acquainted with the people and their desires.

Mr. Weatherford is an excellent speaker and possesses personality which leaves a favorable impression wherever he goes. Being just in the morning of the prime of his life with a desire to benefit people rather than to advance his personal interests, The Tribune predicts that Mr. Hawley will have all he can do to maintain the prestige which he has been able to hold among the people heretofore. When a public official, specially a congressman, gets into a rut, the time for his retirement has arrived. Mr. Hawley has reached the rut stage and it is but just to the people that he gives way to younger and more active blood. Mr. Weatherford supplies every thing desirable in a congressman.—Tribune.

A WORLD TEACHER.

Senator Ollie James said: "Four years ago they sneeringly called Woodrow Wilson the school-teacher. Today he is the world teacher. His subject is the protection of American life and American rights under international law. And without orphaning a single American child, without widow a single American mother, without firing a single gun, he wrung from the most militant spirit that ever brooded over a battlefield an acknowledgment of American rights and an agreement to American demands."

BEWARE GOVERNMENT JOB!

In the July Woman's Home Companion a successful business man warns young men against taking government positions, saying: "There are some young men so constituted that they would rather have the certainty of comfortable mediocrity than the chance of a great success. To such young men a clerkship at Washington presents certain attractions. But I feel in duty bound to say to them that some of the most pitiful letters that have ever come to my desk have been from Washington clerks who have begun to grow gray around the temples. 'How can I make the break and get out into business?' they ask. And there is no answer."

Tip Too Much for Geo.

Just because we phones Geo. Connor to have a lot of extra grub ready for his picnic, he went and changed the date to Thursday, so we couldn't be there. Geo. is some "connubiator," but he didn't come out any ahead, 'cause Sam Pease was there.—Review.

Didn't Advertise.

The wife of an Idaho hardware dealer answered the door bell and found a peddler on her front porch. He was selling the greatest potato parer ever invented and he gave a demonstration that convinced her at once and she handed over the two bits. When her husband came home she showed him her bargain and told him what she had paid for it. Imagine her consternation when he said: "I have a gross of those down at the store and I sell them for 10 cents each—when I find a purchaser." The woman always has the fast word and hers was to the point: "The nfor goodness sake why don't you let people know what you have for sale?"—Canby Herald.
