PRESIDENT WILSON.

The Democratic party goes before the American people with a candidate whose wisdom and ability in a period of unparalleled storm and stress entitle him to support in the name of a patriotism which dwarfs all narrow partisanship. His record of achievement has won the applause of his friends, the admiration of his political foes, and the gratitude of the nation at large.

He has given the country a currency system which on the eve of universal upheaval enabled finance and industry to stand unshaken. What the conditions would have been under Republican rule may easily be imagined by recalling the disaster of 1907. He has proved himself a better pilot in a storm than the Republicans in an era of profound tranquility.

Under his guidance a Democratic congress has written upon the statute books a tariff law which has brought prosperity to every class of the American people. The familiar shibboleths of the Old Guard, the prophecies of impending calamity have become the butt of mockery and derision in the light of cold facts. The noisy forecasts of evil are drowned in the song of the harvest and the hum of the loom.

He has passed unscathed through a crisis in international affairs that would have seared the soul and paralyzed the mind of a weaker character. Charged with the welfare of a hundred million people, whose destiny was exposed to all the cross-currents which blew from the earth's four corners, he has maintained peace while giving the world a new and inspiring vision of the moral grandeur of the nation, jealous of its honor, but devoted to the interests of mankind.

In the highest sense he is the embodiment of a splendid Americanism. The best traditions of the republic are wrought into the very fibre of his being. He loves peace well enough to fight for it, if need be. He has made it doubly clear to all the nations of the New and Old World that the United States covets nothing which is not legitimately its own. In trying ordeals he has shown that the American people ask nothing and concede nothing, except to work out their own destiny under the free institutions which are their peculiar heritage.

But with it all, the candidate of the Democratic party is no visionary, groping in cloudland. He is a-stir in a world of realities. He has taken measures which insure the safety of his country. If, out of this welter of war, this riot of mad passions, should come a menace to the liberty, peace and prosperity we enjoy, the forces he has marshalled with an unvanquishing but determined efficiency will be ready at hand, waiting only to be quickened into action by the word of command. Strong, alert, tried and approved by experience, he has won the confidence of the people, and this will be their verdict at the polls.

THE PARAMOUNT ISSUE.

The Republicans at Chicago endeavored to raise definite issues upon which the campaign might turn. They failed. Search and ponder the Republican platform and you will find either a single paramount issue or a group of issues representing divergence of political thought or principle which any but the most blindly partisan mind will accept as such.

The Democrats at St. Louis have raised definite issues and a paramount issue. The latter is simply this: Shall Woodrow Wilson, who has crystallized the progressive thought of the past ten years into legislative performance who has piloted this nation's foreign relations ably and successfully through the most tremendous crisis in the world's history be sustained in his great work.

MISFITS

Uncle Sam will have a hard old job making Mr. Greaser good. It is not a question of licking him, it is one of regulation.

Victor Murdock, whom the Progressives turned down as nominee for president at La Grande, and who is to speak at Chautauqua here, has figured out that the Pacific coast, and particularly Oregon, will be the line of attack after the present European war is over.

See, that's mean of Murdock to come out here and try to frighten us. As a matter of fact, when the present war is over the probability is that the world will have had enough war for a long time.

Anyway, selecting Oregon as the special line of attack beats a movie. Every straw vote yet has been for Wilson. One on a G. N. train the other day was 49 for Wilson and 39 for Hughes.

It means the masses are for Wilson, and the more the big yellow journals yell at him the more his majority will increase. People are no longer going to be frightened over bugaboos.

In one of the funny pages of a paper's a Mr. Suburb who has an awful time keeping hired girls. His attention is called to the Portland way. Monday at that city Eldon Esterbrook shot M. A. Powell because he was going to take his housekeeper away to marry her.

Worry, not work, shortens life. The fewer flies, the more health.

Albany's system of street cleaning is a healthy one.

Back it up with backyard cleanliness. Never allow decayed vegetables and old trash around.

Flies can't live without food. Did you know that the death rate by typhoid fever has been cut in two in fifteen years. Brains has done it.

It is being realized more and more that it is as much the business of physicians to prevent disease as it is to cure it.
