PRESIDENT RIGHT.

President Wilson did right in waiting as long as possible before invading Mexico. The occasion has never arisen for this country to attack Mexico until the present time. It has occurred now. Our country did right in following after Villa after he had crossed our border and killed innocent citizens, and it did right in keeping the soldiers in Mexico until the object had been accomplished.

Carranza has shown himself to be unreliable, not to be trusted, and must be dealt with accordingly. The careful, level-headed course taken by the president commends itself to people generally, regardless of politics.

ALBANY MADE Eatables.

When trading think of the things that are made in Albany. If Albany made things deserve a good trade elsewhere, they deserve the home trade also.

A PAPER'S THREAT.

News—Over at North Bend the daily paper issued there is face to face with the question again of whether to continue publication, or quit while the quitting is good, and before the surplus is all exhausted.

IMPROVING A CITY.

The following from the Scio News ought to set people there to thinking. South Main street from the bridge is being put on grade by the wide-awake property owners on that side, and paving is talked of strongly.

MISFITS

Here's to Lieutenant Adair, of Carrizal fame, one of the bravest men who ever lived.

And here's another to Trooper Harris, whose flight from Carrizal, a writer says, equals "The Arab's Farewell to His Horse."

The U. S. has been mighty patient with Mexico, as a big country should be with a small one, almost helpless, hardly competent to run its own business.

A former U. of O. football star was rejected for service in the Mexican war because he couldn't pass the physical examination!

The rep. papers are not soaking T. R. quite as fiercely as they were a few months ago.

Just the Man We Have.

Medford Sun:—What the American people want is strong and aggressive leadership. They want a man in the white house who, knows what he thinks and isn't afraid to say it.

We hear people wonder if we are ever going to have summer this year.

Several days ago after the dust had been flying a few days, it was declared the farmers were praying for rain, or the crops would be ruined.

How difficult it is to please everybody.

Now read the following, handed the Democrat by an Albany man. It is as interesting as a novel:

It was just one hundred years ago this coming summer, in 1816, to be exact, that Vermont had no summer. Ten inches of snow fell in June of that year and people were frozen to death. Overcoats and mittens were worn all through the summer months, and there were even a number of suicides due to the fear that the sun was cooling off, or that judgment day was approaching.

An account of that remarkable season was printed some years ago in the Concord (N. H.) Monitor as being the narrative of the "nonagenarian James Winchester of Vermont," who says: "I remember the year that was winter from one end of it until the other, and when the weather was so severe in June that a terrible snowstorm prevailed on the 17th of that month, and people were frozen to death in the month of roses. I was 14 years old then and lived in Vermont, where the memorable season was at its very worst.

The wind during June, July and August, 1816, was continuously from the north, and it blew fiercely and cold. Farmers wore heavy overcoats and mittens while about their work every day during these months. Ice half an inch thick formed in July, but in August it froze on inch and more. There was a heavy snowstorm on August 30. There was not a green thing to be seen anywhere. It may truly be said that in Vermont, at least, the year 1816 had neither spring, summer nor autumn. There wasn't grain enough grown that year to seed the next year."

MANY IN ALBANY TRY SIMPLE MIXTURE

Many Albany people are surprised at the QUICK action of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ika. This simple remedy acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, removing such surprising foul matter that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. A few doses often relieve or prevent appendicitis. A short treatment helps chronic stomach trouble. The INSTANT, easy action of Adler-ika is astonishing. The Woodworth Drug Co.
